ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ebbs and family, 2 Charleville avenue, wish to return thanks to the many kind friends who sympathised with them in their sad bereavement, and trust they will accept this acknowledgment, as it would be impossible to reply individually.

Mrs. White, Dorset House, Leinster road, returns her sincere thanks to the many friends who sent telegrams and letters of sympathy in her recent sad bereavement, and trust they will accept this acknowledgment, as it is impossible to reply individually.

IN MEMORIAM.

ARNOLD—Third Anniversary—In ever-loving and undying memory of our darling sister, Sara, who died at her residence, Cappoquin, on the 26th August, 1921.

"Peace, perfect peace, with loved ones far away,
In Jesus' keeping we are safe and they.

FARRELL—Third Anniversary—In lasting and affectionate remembrance of Bridget Mary Farrell, Market square, Longford, who died August 26th, 1921. "Until the Dawn." R.I.P. Inserted by her sorrowing children.

LLOYD—Ninth Anniversary—In ever-loving memory of our dear "Grannie," whom God called Home 26th August, 1915.

Just a short step further,
Nearer to His side,
Where thine eye shall see Him
And be satisfied.

Sadly missed by her loving grandchildren, "Sefton," Lindsay road.

MURRAY—Ever grateful to God for, and in everlasting remembrance of, my dearly-loved brother, George J. Murray, who died on the 26th August, 1922. Grant him, O Lord, eternal rest. Always missed by his devoted sister, Caroline Georgina Murray.

SMITH—In loving memory of Susan Parker Smith, Adare, County Limerick, August 26, 1921.

MOTOR NOTES.

(BY OUR MOTORING CORRESPONDENT.)

Hearty congratulations are due to the Leinster Motor Cycle and Light Car Club on the result of last Saturday's event. The arrangements were perfect; the attendance must have constituted a "record," and certainly the racing was the best that has been seen in Ireland. The fact that a speed of well over sixty miles an hour was averaged by the first two prize winners over a course which was by no means easy speaks volumes, not merely for their skill and powers of endurance, but also for the efficiency of the modern motor cycle.

Value of Races.

I meet people frequently who sneer at motor racing and regard it as a waste of time and money. This is a completely mistaken view. Racing is a source not merely of advertisement but of knowledge to the motor manufacturer; it is, in fact, the basis of car and cycle progress. Without it manufacturers would not gain experience which could not be gained by any other means. A race constitutes the most gruelling test to which devices can be submitted. If it proves its worth they are duly incorporated in the next year's standard model. Moreover, competition stimulates manufacturers to search for new ideas and to depart from standard practice. Without it motor car design never would have developed as rapidly as it has done.

Super Chargers.

The fate of more than one ingenious device depends upon this year's racing. There is, for example, the super charger. The possibility of ordinary touring cars being equipped with this device is being eagerly discussed by those who are interested in the advance of automobiles. One firm of manufacturers has taken the plunge on the strength of recent tests, and all its exhibits at Olympia will be fitted with a device for forced induction. Others are by no means satisfied that it is a desirable change, and will await the result of further trials before committing themselves. Some advocates of forced induction go so far as to say that it will revolutionise design and lead to the abolition of gear boxes on small cars. Whether they be right or wrong one thing is certain—that we never should have heard of it but for the need of getting increased power from small engines in racing.

Four-wheeled brakes owe their rapid development to racing; indeed, the majority of recent improvements in engine design can be traced to the same source.

Sparking Plugs.

I met a stranded motorist four miles from anywhere the other day, and his trouble was due entirely to faulty plugs. And, like many another man in a temper, he attributed the cause of his woes to everything but the right thing. It is strange that so many motorists fail to realise that a plug is bound to lose in efficiency when it has seen long and constant services. Sooner or later the electrodes must be pitted by the continued stress and the insulator tip must become covered with carbon. Leakage of current, incomplete combustion and loss of power follow. Unburned oil dilutes the oil in the crank case as it works past the pistons to escape from the compression chamber, and a host of other troubles follow.

It is wise, therefore, to look after your plugs. Remember that every or any plug may not suit your car's needs. The motorist should exercise as much care in buying new plugs as the dyspeptic shows in ordering his dinner. Cars, when delivered by the makers or agents, usually are in first-class condition—provided they have not been shamelessly overdriven by some young mechanic before they are run in—and are fitted with plugs that give the best results. The type of plugs should be noted carefully, and when the time for renewal comes round plugs of the same kind should be purchased. In cases where trouble is persistent the manufacturers of the car or of the plug should be consulted. They always are ready to place their knowledge and experience at your disposal.

Faulty lubrication causes trouble, delay and expense; in many instances it is the result of the careless request for "A" or "BB" Oil. Always ask for Gargoyle Mobiloil by its full title.—(Advt.)

A Comprehensive Policy, including Burglary, with the Irish National Assurance Company, Ltd., Head Office: 30 College Green, Dublin, gives the maximum protection at minimum premium.—(Advt.)

WOMAN AND HER HOME.

HOUSEHOLD ACCOUNTS.

I AM often astonished to find how few of my friends do their housekeeping in a businesslike manner. Only a minority of them keep accounts at all, and many have no regular housekeeping allowance. It is true our mothers very seldom kept household accounts, and our grandmothers almost never. In our family we have a much prized old account book full of most interesting details, chickens, for instance, costing fourpence apiece, but it must be admitted that it was kept by our great-grandfather, and not by his wife.

But for the modern woman it is another matter. Most of us have to look twice at every penny before we spend it, and for really economical housekeeping a budget of some sort is necessary. My friends occasionally say to me, "I think it is wonderful the way you keep accounts." I am always tempted to retort, "It is much more wonderful really how you get on at all without keeping them."

There are very useful books published (I would not be without mine for anything) with columns in which the hausfrau may record her expenditure under various headings for every day, or for every week, if that suits her better, so much paid to the grocer, so much to the butcher, and so on. One can then compare the totals, and if the expenditure on any item becomes undly high, take steps accordingly.

The amount that should be alloted as housekeeping allowance is often a difficulty. In the average middle-class household, £1 per head per week for food and cleaning materials should prove sufficient. I find it more than ample, but then we live in the country, grow some of our own vegetables, and pay less for others, and also for meat and milk than city folk, so that it is not to be wondered at that my hosekeeping allowance covers also china and ironmongery renewals, and such incidental expenses as stationery ad a occasional jobbing gardener or charwoman.

Again, the wife who has no separate income of her own should have a definite sum given her yearly for her clothes and personal expenses. Thus she can arrange a scheme for the year and plan out her expenditure in advance. Such a scheme well thought out in advance is bound to cost far less than mere haphazard buying of garments when the need for them arises, which will often be at the very time when their cost is the greatest.

We are so apt to think that American women are our superiors in all that relates to house management that it is refreshing to find that their troubles in these matters are much as our own. Those who have read Sinclair Lewis's Main Street (it is extraordinary by the way, to think that this wonderful study of a woman's point of view should have been written by a man) will remember how one of Carol Kennicott's greatest trials was in this matter of a housekeeping allowance.

LETTER-WRITING.

MOST persons who have a considerable correspondence must, I think, have felt that among their friends and acquaintances there are two special sorts of letter-writers—those whose letters give pleasure, and those whose pages rarely fail to have some phrase or some omission which gives pain. With the first class the mere sight of the handwriting is a gratification; we know that it will never sting. Even if there be bad news to tell, it will be softened by sympathy; and if the tidings be joyful, the joy will seem doubled by participation. With the other class the case is precisely opposite. Such letter writers as the latter would do well to remember one fact, and that is that we never know under what circumstances a letter may be received. A hard, unkind, or unsatisfactory letter may cause but a passing regret if the recipient be well and happy, but the case is far different if it arrives in the season of sickness or sorrow. When a cup is brimming, another drop will make it overflow; and when the heart is filled with anguish there is subtle cruelty in adding to its burden. The pen can lacerate as well as the sword, and its wounds are often the more incurable of the two.

Then, again, few of us are so good and wise as never to have written an angry letter, despatching it in haste, instead of waiting for bitter feelings to cool, and a few hours afterwards mournfully regretting some too harsh expressions. No doubt, writing the letter was an immense relief—perhaps even it was an outlet by which our wrath could evaporate only it would have been better if it had been thrown into the fire instead of the letter-box. If it be well, as the ancient philosopher said, to count a hundred before speaking the angry word, it is well to count a thousand before writing it.

THE LANGUAGE OF HATS.

REALISING with a start that autumn was close upon us, and living far from a hat shop of any description, I was seized with the bold idea of buying a hat by post.

There was an attractive picture of a hat in the illustrated paper which I consulted, and it only remained to decide upon the colour. Being conservative by nature, I had already made up my mind that the new hat should be either brown or blue, and I read slowly through the list of shades given beneath the picture. Great was my bewilderment to find that now, apparently, an entirely new series of floral, arboreal, fruitarian, and even vegetarian colours, have ousted the old familiar browns and blues and greens from their ancient thrones.

"Faisan, Castor, Flax, Cyclamen, Chestnut, Mastic, Mushroom, Osier, Taupe, Sevres, Almond, and Apple—this was the list I read, which conveyed, I confess, next to nothing to my unfashionable mind.

Where was I to find a common or garden brown or blue among these poetical creations? Chestnut sounded hopeful, provided that the fruit was indicated and not the blossom; so also did Flax, if the brown seed were meant; but how was I to know?

"Osier, Mushroom, Castor, Taupe"—none of these could be brown or blue, I felt sure, and my heart was saddened by the thought of the passing of so many old and trusted friends—plain reds, greens, purples, browns, and blues.

So I shall wait until hats of these new and fanciful colours can be displayed before my bedazzled eyes, and perhaps I may discover with joy that they are just browns and blues and greens, after all.

OFFICIAL BANDITS.

SOVIET RAIDS ON POLAND AND RUMANIA.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
RIGA.

Trotsky has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of the Communist International, which is composed of groups of picked "red" infantry and cavalry, disguised as bandits, now raiding the borders of Poland and Rumania. According to authentic Soviet documents obtained here, general staff officers are directing the movements of the "bandits."

The Bessarabian bandit chief, Alexandrov, who is not related to the Macedonian leader, has succeeded in organising fifty companies of Bessarabian peasants, who will join the uprising scheduled to begin in the early days of October. The Bessarabian peasant uprising will receive the assistance of Soviet and Ukrainian volunteers, now mobilised on the Bessarabian border.

Having abandoned hope of a successful Communist coup in Germany, the Communist International is now endeavouring to enter Europe through the Balkans, where the agitators are spending huge sums in an effort to cause civil war.

SHIP THAT WON'T SINK.

TWICE FIRED AND ABANDONED, BUT STILL DRIFTING.

Somewhere in the Atlantic is a derelict ship, the Governor Parr, once bound from Nova Scotia to Buenos Ayres with a cargo of timber.

For close on twelve months this vessel has been drifting about the seas. She was abandoned a wreck in October last year. An attempt was made to set her on fire, but it was not successful. At last she was sighted by the ships on the African route. The liner Zaria, homeward bound from West Africa, sent a party aboard, who found that her cargo was swollen and threatened to burst her sides. She was again set on fire, and was blazing merrily when abandoned for the second time.

Inquiries at the Admiralty show, however, that the Governor Parr was last seen ten days ago off the coast of Portugal. She was not burning.

MILK DEFICIENT IN FATS.

THE WEATHER BLAMED.

In the Belfast Summons Court yesterday, before Major Dickie, R.M., presiding, Mr. A. H. Coulter and Mrs. Harding, several prosecutions were brought against milk vendors for deficiency in the quality of new milk. Mr. A. J. Lewis prosecuted.

Inspector Larmour summoned Nicholas W. Craig, Carnmoney, for selling sweet milk 7.6 deficient in fat. The defendant was fined 40s. and costs.

Mr. J. J. H. Wilson represented the defendant, and the defence was that the condition of the milk was due to the cold, wet weather.

For selling sweet milk 6.0 deficient in fat, John Bell, Beechpark street, Belfast, was fined £3.

The unfavourable weather conditions were also stated in this case to be responsible for the shortage of fat in the milk.

Mr. J. S. Osborne, who defended, said if scientists let Mars alone they would have less rain.

£600 FORGERY ON BANK.

MONEY RECOVERED BY SMART DETECTIVE.

Owing to the smart work of Detective-Inspector Adlam, of the Hove (Sussex) Police, £600 obtained from a local bank by means of a daringly-planned scheme has been recovered intact. A young man presented a bill for £600, bearing the names of two well-known local tradesmen.

The cashier paid, and the man left the bank. Soon after he had gone the bill was found to be a forgery. The case was investigated by Detective-Inspector Adlam, and the following night the man who went into the bank was seen and the money recovered from him. The police are satisfied that he was acting innocently, having been duped himself. In connection with the affair the police are seeking an interview with a Parsee sugar importer.

AN EASY WAY TO STOP INDIGESTION

The easiest, quickest, and surest way to stop indigestion is to remove the cause of the trouble. Practically all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble are due to, or accompanied by, an abnormal condition known as acidity, which causes fermentation and the formation of gas. Correct this condition and all pain and distress almost instantly disappear. For this purpose the best thing known is to take a little of that harmless antacid known as Bisurated Magnesia. This instantly neutralises the acid, stops the fermentation and formation of gas, and permits painless normal digestion. Get a package of Bisurated Magnesia, costs but a trifle (either powder or tablets), from your chemist to-day and take after eating or whenever pain is felt, and you'll be astonished at the results—pain, distress, discomfort, and fullness all gone as if by magic. Nothing else relieves as quickly and surely. Try it to-day.

PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

LONDON METROPOLITAN, Monday.—Larger supplies of beasts were on offer, and experienced a fair demand; general standard of quality was only moderate. Quotations—Shorthorns 7/4 to 7/6, Herefords 7/8 to 7/10, Devons 7/8 to 7/10, Brisk 6/- to 6/8. A better inquiry prevailed for the smaller number of sheep penned, at generally steady rates. Midland Counties wethers 10/4 to 11/4, ewes 6/8 to 7/-; lambs realised 12/- to 13/- per stone of 8 lbs. to sink offal. Total supplies, 405 beasts and 1,463 sheep and lambs.

BIRKENHEAD, Monday.—Smaller supply of cattle to-day, which met with very poor demand, Friday's quotations being very difficult to maintain. Prices for bullocks and heifers ranged from 9d. to 10d.; cows and bulls 5½d. to 7½d. Supply of lambs also smaller, but the demand was weaker, and inferior lambs were difficult to move. Quotations ranged from 1/3 to 1/5 per lb. sinking offal. On offer, 792 cattle and 2,954 lambs. At dressed beef section, smaller supplies met slow trade. Sides made from 8½d. to 9½d. per lb. for best.

HULL, Monday.—Good entry. Fine class young bullocks sold extremely well; trade brisk all round. Sheep slightly dearer. Best beef 14/- per stone; seconds 13/-; cows 10/- to 12/-; young sheep 1/5 per lb.; ewes 10d. to 1/-; lambs 1/7; small pork 11/6 per stone; large 9/- to 10/-; bacon pigs 8/-. 374 beasts, 2,178 sheep, 400 pigs.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.—Cattle, 642; sheep, 3,047; pigs, 720; calves, 4. Beef, first, 14/- to 14/3; others, 13/- to 13/3; cows, 8/- to 9/-. Lambs 1/6 to 1/8, young sheep 1/6 to 1/7, and ewes 10d. to 1/- per lb. Porkers 11/3 to 11/6 and bacon 10/3 to 10/6.

GLASGOW, Monday.—Hegarty and Kelly report average supplies of Irish fat cattle at Merklands to-day (Monday). Cattle of quality maintained last week's price; secondary and rougher sorts made less money.—(Advt.)

GRAIN.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Monday—WHEAT—Cargoe market quiet but steady. No. 1 Northern Manitoba Aug. quoted 56/9, Oct.-Nov. sold 55/4½ to 55/9, No. 2 hard winter Sept. 51/6, Oct. at 51/10½, choice white Karachi afloat quoted 53/6, Rosafe 63½lbs. Jan.-Feb. 53/6 per 480lbs. MAIZE—Cargoes steady, and parcels firm. Plate steamers afloat quoted 39/-, Sept.-Oct. 39/9, Oct.-Nov. 40/3. Parcels of Plate Aug.-Sept. sold at 38/6, Sept.-Oct. 39/1½, Oct.-Nov. 40/7½, Nov.-Dec. 40/- to 40/1½, Dec.-Jan. 40/9 per 480lbs. BARLEY remained quiet. No. 3 Canadian Western Aug.-Sept. 40/-, Karachi Aug.-Sept. 40/6 per 400lbs. OATS steady. Plate f.a.q. July-Aug. 23/6, Aug.-Sept. 23/6, No 2 Canadian Western Sept. 28/6, No. 2 feed 26/6 per 320lbs.

MARK LANE, Monday.—There was a good attendance of buyers at the week's opening market, and prices for the most part remained unaltered, excepting imported wheat, which ruled again easier. WHEAT—English new in small supply, and quoted at 12/3 to 13/- free on rail per cwt. Imported easier; No. 1 Northern Manitoba quoted at 60/3, Barusso 63½lbs. 57/-, Australian 57/-, and choice white Karachi 56/- per 280lbs. ex ship. FLOUR steady, quiet; London standard straight run quoted at 46/-, patents 48/- to 49/-, and town whites 46/- per sack delivered. Imported Manitoba patents range from 46/- to 48/- and Australian 42/6 to 43/6 per 280lbs. ex store. BARLEY steady; Californian 59/- to 62/-, Chilean brewing 58/- to 60/- per 448lbs. ex ship, No. 3 Canadian Western landed 42/-, Karachi ex ship 40/6, do. landed 41/6, Russian landed 41/6, and Danubian 40/- ex ship per 400lbs.; English new quoted at 13/9 to 15/- per 112lbs. free on rail. Light oats 6/9, powdered oat husks 8/3, feed oatmeal 10/9, and ground oats 13/9 per cwt. free on rail. OATMEAL steady; London-made flaked 18/6, rolled oats 18/-, medium and fine cuts 18/-, coarse and medium pinhead 18/-, and ordinary Scottish oatmeal 19/- to 19/6 per cwt.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.—WHEAT.—Lower quotations from Winnipeg and Chicago were offset somewhat by better Argentine cables, though forward deliveries of wheat here gave way to a liberal extent at the outset. Bad weather in France and this country, with scarcity of sellers and demand from shorts to cover, caused prices to improve to a fair extent over Saturday, though disappointing late afternoon cables brought about a sharp decline, and final rates marked a fair loss on the day. C.i.f. parcels No. 1 Manitoba October-November sold at 55/3 to 55/7½, No. 2 hard winter afloat 51/- to 51/3, September 51/3 to 51/6, October 51/7½ to 51/9 per qr. C.i.f. parcels MAIZE River Plate arrived sold at 38/7½, afloat 38/9 to 39/1½, October-November 39/7½ to 39/9, November-December 40/4½ per qr. FLOUR unchanged. Graded wheat futures opened ½d. lower, fluctuated widely, closing ½d. to ¾d. lower. Maize options ¼d. dearer.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.—Irish and Danish BACON steady with a fair demand, though former is now offered at easier prices of 118/- to 124/- per cwt. Canadian Wiltshires scarce, and firm at late rates. The market for American bacon here continues firm, with holders still offering sparingly, though bellies are offered slightly easier at 97/- to 103/- per cwt., with other prices unchanged, the demand all round being disappointing. HAMS quiet and free sellers; short cut are again easier at 90/- to 101/- per cwt. Shoulders firm, and in moderate request at late currencies. LARD on the spot quiet, and again easier at 77/6 to 78/- for prime steam and 78/- to 80/- for American refined, with buyers still reserved. CHEESE quiet, but steady and unaltered. BUTTER also quiet, and prices favour buyers, Irish creamery being now offered at 204/- to 206/- per cwt. EGGS remain quiet at 15/9 to 17/- for Irish hen and 13/6 to 14/- per 120 duck.

REFINED LARD "FUTURES."—LIVERPOOL, Monday.—Influenced by Chicago weakness, prices here opened considerably lower, and though buying here caused a slight recovery, values were 9d. to 1/- under Saturday at the end of the early session. September sold at 77/9 to 78/-, October 78/9 to 79/-, November 79/6 to 79/9, January 79/3, 79/6, and 79/3 per cwt., with 77/6 sellers for August and cash ex store. Weak afternoon cables caused values to further give way, the market closing 1/6 to 2/- lower on the day. September sold at 77/6, October 78/6 to 78/3, November 79/3 to 79/-, January 78/9 to 78/3, and August quoted 76/6 to 77/3, and cash ex store 77/- sellers.

LINSEED CAKES—The trade remains quiet and, as there seems no probability of an immediate increase in values, country merchants are content to work on the present stocks, especially as the consumptive demand has fallen off. Quotations in the meantime are the turn easier at £13 10/- to £13 15/- for London-made and £12 10/- to £12 15/- per ton ex ship for foreign descriptions. Cotton Cakes—Egyptians do not offer on spot, but there are still sellers of limited quantities for August shipment at £8 7/6 per ton ex ship terms, while London-made are the turn lower at £8 17/6 to £9 ex mill for Egyptian seed cakes and £7 17/6 to £8 per ton for Bombay seed cakes. Decorticated Cotton Cakes—Some recent arrivals of Brazilian are still obtainable at £12 10/-, and a fair business has been done in californians and Texas meal for autumn shipment at £12 15/- per ton ex ship. Ground Nut Cakes—London-made Undecorticated offer at £10 10/- per ton ex mill, and there are sellers of some fine quality Spanish decorticated at £12 to £12 15/- per ton ex ship for August shipment. OFFALS—Best Town middlings are quoted 5/- per ton cheaper at £9 5/- to £9 10/- per ton ex mill, while, on the other hand, bran is firmly held at £6 15/- to £7 per ton for ordinary and £8 10/- to £9 per ton for broad. Plate pollards, however, are available at the relatively low figure of £7 15/- to £8 per ton ex warehouse. Maize Foods—Garton's maize gluten feed finds a ready sale at £10 to £10 5/- per ton; maize germ cake meal at £10 10/- to £10 15/-, and maize germ meal at £10 10/- per ton ex wharf.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.—TALLOW very steady; further business reported in South American Liebig. Colon beefs on spot on private terms and Saladero Digester arrived 44/6 c.i.f.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Monday.—Market opens with a good demand for all classes; ready fine sugars still very scarce, and no improvement expected for some time.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BRADFORD WOOL, Monday.—There is a very strong tone, and all wool tops and yarns show an upward tendency. Germany continues to buy fairly heavily, and prices for low signal yarns suitable for that make are costing 1d. more than a week ago. Medium carded cross-bred tops are also fractionally dearer.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Monday.—American in improved request. Brazilian quotations reduced 64 points. East Indian in large business. Egyptian in fair demand. Aug. 14.49d.; Sept. 14.23d.; Oct. 13.85d.; Nov., 13.67d.; Dec., 13.59d.; Jan. 13.62d. Sales, 7,000; imports, 518 bales. Market quiet.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

FALL IN TIN.

TIN—Market easier, while attended by some irregularity, but offers were well absorbed. Prices on balance were 65/- to 67/6 per ton down as compared with the close of Friday last. Cash quoted £254 5/- to £254 10/-, three months £255 2/6 to £255 7/6, settlement price £254 10/-. Sales, 650 tons cash sold at £255 to £255 15/-, three months £256 to £256 15/- and £256, and finally registered at £255 5/-. COPPER in active request, but with sellers well to the fore, prices proved weaker, while 7/6 per ton lower on balance. MONAGHAN BANK RAID.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

In the Court of Criminal Appeal yesterday, before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Sullivan, Mr. Justice FitzGibbon and Mr. Justice Murnaghan, the hearing was resumed of the appeal brought on behalf of Patrick Kelly, Thomas Treanor, Bernard Treanor and Charles Flood, from a conviction in the Central Criminal Court, for having participated in the raid on the Hibernian Bank, Monaghan, and taking £450. Kelly had been sentenced to seven years' penal servitude, and the other three prisoners to five years' penal servitude each.

Mr. Michael Comyn, K.C., and Mr. William Black (instructed by Mr. Daniel X. Keenan), appeared for the appellants;

Mr. Carrigan, K.C.; Mr. Dudley White, and Mr. Costello (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), appeared for the State.

Mr. Carrigan resumed his argument against the appeal. He said that he had dealt with the case of Kelly on Friday, because his case did not involve the question of the confession at all, and he now submitted, with confidence, that there was abundant evidence to sustain the indictment against him that he participated in the attack on the Hibernian Bank in Monaghan on the date mentioned. Counsel pointed out that the cases cited by Mr. Comyn and Mr. Black did not support the appeal to any material extent. He had intended to cite some of those cases himself, and he would now supplement them by citing a case which brought the available authorities on the subject up-to-date.

He contended that it was entirely within the judicial discretion of Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy to admit or exclude the statements, or admissions, taking all the circumstances of the case into consideration. It was a matter entirely for the judge at the trial, and if, as in the present case, the judge exercised the discretion vested in him with reference to the admission of evidence, the Court of Appeal could not interfere with the decision.

That was an important matter for their lordships, because here this court was operating with the powerful statutory auxiliary of a section of the Courts of Justice Act, 1924, there being no such section in the Court of Criminal Appeal Act in England. He also pointed out that what had happened in the case was an assault upon the administration of justice by the present Government, and, as this was only an application for liberty to appeal, their lordships had the statutory assistance given by the Courts of Justice Act in dealing with the grounds on which the appeal was based. There was nothing in the whole trial of this case to show that it could be regarded as unsatisfactory.

A MATTER OF DISCRETION.

Answering a question by the Court, Mr. Carrigan said that it was within the discretion of the judge to decide as to the admission of the evidence, and the matter did not depend upon the order in which the judge permitted the evidence to be given. His proposition was that it was entirely for the judge to decide. He submitted that the judge, in this case, was within his rights in dealing with the case as he did, and that he discharged the onus placed upon him, having carefully examined the witnesses.

He further submitted that no leave to appeal could be given, except on a question of law. In this case the decision as to the admission of the statements had been given after the judge had heard the entire evidence. The two officers concerned denied that any threats were made towards the prisoners, and Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy admitted the evidence to the jury, informing them that if they had any doubt, the prisoners should get the benefit of it.

It was understood generally that this was a raid on the town of Monaghan, and that while some of the men were engaged in attacking the military at the Courthouse the others were engaged in robbing the banks. This was no common robbery. There was turmoil at the time, and military operations were being carried on. The day following the raid Kelly was found in possession of two £10 notes, which had been lodged in the Provincial Bank an hour before the raid took place, and had been taken away during the raid, and having been found in possession of stolen money he was rightly convicted of at least aiding and abetting in the raids on the bank. All the banks had been robbed, and concerted action has been proved by the prosecution.

In conclusion, he said that the Court here were not aware of how the witnesses gave their evidence, or of the impression made by it at the trial. There was no question of law raised or involved here, and the Judge had reasonable grounds for doing anything he had done in connection with the admission of evidence. Counsel submitted that it was beyond their lordships' power to change the findings of the jury.

AUCTION SALES.

Messrs. Dockrell Limited announce in our advertising columns to-day the auction of an attractive property, Richview, Delgany, standing on 12 acres, adjoining the well-known links; No. 3 Ashbrook terrace, Leeson Park, will be sold on the same day. It is a non-basement house, with vacant possession. A fee-simple ground rent of £16 4/- is also advertised, being secured by premises in Kildare street.

IRISH FAIRS.

FINTONA, COUNTY TYRONE.—22nd August. Very large fair, composed chiefly of young store cattle of the shorthorn type of second and third class quality. Fair attendance of shippers and dealers, but trade was slow, except for cattle in forward condition, and about 35 per cent. of the beasts remained unsold. Few fat cattle on offer, which all sold at recent rates. Medium show of springing and milch cows, which met a brisk demand, a clearance being effected at good prices. Large supply of sheep and lambs, the latter selling well at recent rates, while good sheep for breeding met a brisk trade, making high prices. Average show of young pigs; business good, prices showing an increase of from 7/6 to 10/- per head. Calves under 6 months old, £2 to £3, average £2 10/-. Store cattle—Over 6 and not exceeding 12 months—2nd class £8 to £10 15/-, average £9 10/-; 3rd class £6 to £7 10/-, average £6 15/-. One-year-old and under two years—2nd class £11 10/- to £14 10/-, average £13 10/-, live weight average 45/- per cwt.; 3rd class £9 to £11, average £10 5/-, live weight average 43/- per cwt. Two years old and under three years—2nd class £15 10/- to £18 10/-, average £17, live weight average 47/- per cwt.; 3rd class £13 10/- to £15, average £14, live weight average 45/- per cwt. Fat cattle—Two years old and under three years—2nd class £18 to £24, average £22, live weight average 52/6 per cwt. Springers (cows and heifers)—2nd class £20 to £28, average £25. Milch cows (down calved)—2nd class £18 to £24, average £22. Lambs (under 12 months old)—Long wools 50/- to 70/-, average 60/-. Store sheep—One-year-old and under two years—Long wools 70/- to 90/-, average 80/-. Two years old and over—Long wools 75/- to 95/-, average 85/-. Young pigs—8 to 10 weeks old 30/- to 50/-, average 40/-. Sows for breeding £4 to £6 10/-, average £5.

IN THE THEATRES.

"PROBLEM" MELODRAMA AT THE GAIETY.

"The Fake" at the Gaiety Theatre this week, has in it all that goes to make a successful melodramatic problem play, if the audience did not know after the first five minutes, how it was all going to turn out. It is a very fine screen drama, on the stage, with Mr. Gerald Ames, a film actor of repute, playing the part of the hero. Ernest Stanton M.P. is a great man in his own estimation, and has persuaded the public to share his views. He marries his only daughter, Mavis, to Gerard Pillick, because it is creditable to have the second son of a peer as a son-in-law. He does know that Gerard is a drunkard, a drug maniac, and so utterly debased that, "even Jennie, our barmaid, cannot stand him." Geoffry Sands (Mr. Ames), raves Mavis from the inevitable life of suffering that such a marriage entails for any refined and highly educated girl.

The acting of Mr. Ames is more than clever. He handles dexterously, the "problem" of the drama, and works up to the denouement in the third act to thrill all who delight in such work.

Many must have thought that the smallish part of Mrs. Stanton, played by Miss Annie Stalman, was the best and most natural in the play. Miss Faith Liddle played the long suffering Mavis at times brilliantly—at others her acting was commonplace. The humour comes when Miss Nora Nicholson, a West Country waitress, is on the stage. With those mentioned, there are only seven other characters to work the author's idea.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The entertainment at the Theatre Royal this week is the "Hollywood Follies," which is described as a "musical movie burlesque," presented by John Lester. It is composed of a series of scenes in which a large troop of children go through a variety of evolutions and so-called dances and contortions more than enough. The monotony and incoherence of the piece is agreeably relieved by the excellent singing of an octette of men and coloured women. They sang so well that the audience would not permit the next scene to open until the vocalists had been heard again. Another very good interlude was the jazz band of the "Cowboy Syncopaters." Good work was put in by Phil Peters, an American burlesque comedian, by Harry and Burton Lester, Gladys Neville, the Pyke Sisters, and Vic Hagan. During an interval a demonstration was given of the play of emotions by film actors and an offer was made to those in the audience, who would like to have their features reflected on the screen in like manner, to come on the stage and submit themselves in competition for the judgment of the house, for which prizes will be given to the favourite next Friday night.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

J. F. Mackey's presentation of the Irish drama, "Arrah-na-Pogue" in the Queen's Theatre last night was enjoyed by large audiences. The parts generally were capably taken, and the whole performance reached a high standard. The courtmartial scene, in which "Shaun the Post" was tried for highway robbery, was presented in a most convincing manner, the humour of the situation being fully appreciated. The escape of Shaun after he had been found guilty and sentenced to death was equally well done. "The Wicklow Wedding" was also good. As Colonel Bagnal O'Grady, P. J. Bourke gave a very convincing performance, while the Shaun of P. J. MacCormac was impersonation of a high order. Lena Pembroke was successful as Shaun's sweetheart, and H. J. Condron as the process-server was admirable. The Beamish M'Caul of George Pool left little to be desired. The other characters contributed to a well-balanced and most enjoyable performance.

ABBEY THEATRE.

Ever since its first production, a number of years ago, Lennox Robinson's one-act tragedy, "The Clancy Name," has lain peacefully on the Abbey shelf. Its revival last night has, for better or worse, made people at least conscious of its existence in the Abbey repertory. The play does not by any means represent one of Mr. Robinson's best efforts, perhaps for the reason that it is one of his earliest. The author has achieved a certain crude realism which seems slightly colourless beside, say, Synge's "Riders to the Sea." It affords little room even for outstanding characterisation by individual members of the cast. The principals—Sara Allgood, Arthur Shields, Eileen Crowe and Tony Quinn—however, made the most of their material, and were warmly applauded by the audience.

Martinez Sierra's two-act comedy, "The Two Shepherds," made ample amends. Last night's production was chiefly notable for the acting of Michael Dolan as the grey-haired old priest whose "suspension" from the ministry leaves his great "faith" unshaken. The play may shock the moral susceptibilities of a few, but for the many who appreciate the play for its genuine worth and undoubted merit the Abbey players' presentation of it can leave little to be desired. Gabriel Fallon, F. J. M'Cormick and Tony Quinn, and Sara Allgood and Eileen Crowe, gave admirable portrayals of the principal roles. All the other parts were capably filled.

OLYMPIA THEATRE.

"The Down Express," at the Olympia Theatre this week, provides good entertainment. The scene is laid in Ballaconeen railway station, to which an eloping couple make their way to catch "the down express." Failing in this, they hide on the premises to escape their parents, until Thady Brady, the talkative porter, considers it good strategy to bring the parties into contact. It would not be fair to say more of the plot. As the railway porter, J. A. O'Rourke is decidedly amusing. Harry Hutchinson is good in the part of Michael Crowley, the stationmaster, whose actions on duty are guided by "the regulations." Sydney J. Morgan makes a good study of Peter O'Sullivan, the blustering horse dealer, who buys shares in the railway company in order to stop the train with the runaways. Valentine Vousden is good as Henry Kearns, the shareholder, whose only desire is to get his money back with some profit. Maeve M'Morrogh ably fills the part of Mrs. Tobin, who bewails the loss of her daughter. As Patricia Maud, the daughter, Shelah Richards is pleasing, while Donal Oge O'Sullivan is represented by Frank Lynch. The staging is good, and the orchestra plays well. Violet Pearson, a soprano, who won the John M'Cormack special prize, sang very charmingly during the interval.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

The variety programme at the Tivoli Theatre last night was a good one. Nelson Conyers gave good exhibitions of painting. A twilight scene was extremely beautiful, the orchestra contributing "Just a Song at Twilight." The Jays presented their "electro-musical parodies," in which some novel electrical devices were introduced. Byron and Byron, in "Cutting New Capers," were amusing. Harry Shiels, in "Bill's Derby Sweep," was very funny. He was ably assisted by Nora Harrington. Eileen Hayden, a Dublin soprano, sang very effectively "Love Came to Me," and "He Comes o'er the Waters to Me." Harrison and Harrigan, in jokes and dancing, were enjoyable; and Francis Gerard gave exhibitions of heavy-weight juggling.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The Rev. T. Scott, formerly an Irish Methodist minister and now a minister of the Canadian Methodist Church, is at present on a visit to his friends in this country.

The Methodist Female Orphan School, Dublin, is fortunate to have a house of its own at Skerries, given to it by Mr. R. W. Booth. The Methodist Widows' Alms House, Dublin, is an institution dating from the days of Wesley.

Brighton road Methodist Church, Dublin, of which the Rev. J. M. Alley is the pastor, is being renovated and enlarged at a cost of £8,000.

The bi-monthly Services held at Caherciveen and Valentia Island are much appreciated by the Methodists dwelling in these places.

Dr. Hough, of Detroit, U.S.A., has accepted the invitation to deliver the Fernley lecture at the next Methodist Conference, and has chosen for his subject "Evangelical Humanism."

Dr. W. T. A. Barber, President of Richmond Methodist School and an ex-President of the Methodist Conference, is at present on his way to China and Japan.

PHOSFERINE Brings Out Best Form

F. W. Donisthorpe, Lawn Tennis Professional Champion of Great Britain, and Holder of the Hundred Guinea Trophy for 1924 writes:

"I PUT down the success of my play this year entirely to the regular use of Phosferine on occasions when it has been necessary to bring out my best form. Coaching as I do for nine hours a day, not only during the summer but throughout the long winter evenings by artificial light, tends to make one's play somewhat listless, but the extraordinary energy and nerve producing powers of Phosferine are capable of adding the virile dash of the amateur to the machine-like accuracy of the professional player, who is for ever hitting the ball on scientific principles. Wimbledon will not see all its Challenge Cups taken abroad when the Phosferine Professionals enter for the Championship!"

(87, LAUDERDALE MANSIONS, MAIDA VALE, LONDON, W. July 10, 1924.)

From the very first day you take PHOSFERINE you will gain new confidence, new life, new endurance. It makes you eat better and sleep better, and you will look as fit as you feel. Phosferine is given with equally good results to the children.

CRYPT BAPTISM.

FORMER CABINET MINISTER OBTAINS PERMISSION.

The baby son of Mr. Ian Macpherson, M.P., is to be baptised in the historic Crypt Chapel of the Houses of Parliament. Lord Lincolnshire, the Great Chamberlain, has just notified the former Minister of Pensions the ceremony may take place.

Last February Mr. Macpherson applied in the usual way for the use of the chapel for the purpose, a privilege granted to members of Parliament. He is a member of the National Church of Scotland and desired that his son should be baptised by a minister of his Church, which is the State religion of Scotland.

Canon Carnegie, chaplain of the House of Commons, said he was willing to permit the ceremony, but on condition that an Anglican minister presided. In March Mr. Macpherson raised a question in the House, and on the recommendation of Mr. Jowett, the First Commissioner of Works, applied to the Lord Great Chamberlain, who controls the crypt.

The date of the christening has not been fixed, but it will be performed by Dr. Fleming, as originally intended.

DEARER BREAD IN PARIS.

The price of a 2lb. loaf in Paris, 1fr. 30c., is as high as it has ever been, while in other districts, more particularly in the South of France, a 2lb. loaf is sold at 1fr. 40c. and 1fr. 50c.

The Journal Officiel publishes a decree, according to which henceforward 78 per cent. of the whole grain is to be ground, and 80 per cent. in the case of foreign wheat. This increase in the percentage of wholemeal will enable the amount of imported flour to be reduced, and will thus tend to keep down prices.

The Senate has voted a bill providing for the establishment of fixed prices for flour and bread by the Prefects and Mayors.—(Reuter.)

PIG HUSBANDRY RESEARCH

ASSISTANCE TO BE GIVEN BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

It was stated at a meeting in London of the National Council of Pig Breeders and Pig Feeders that after prolonged negotiations the Government had agreed to allocate a sum of money to certain agricultural colleges for the definite purpose of carrying out the experimental work in pig husbandry which the National Council had mapped out. The funds provided by the Government were not, in themselves, sufficient to carry out the full programme, since the Government considered that the pig-farming industry should itself provide the balance of the money. This was considered by the National Council to be a fair proposition, since in similar cases other industries have raised funds to supplement the Government grants.

In regard to the evolution of a pig policy, the Chairman stated that the two main points upon which a sub-committee were carrying on an investigation were (a) the reduction of the cost of the production of pigs, and (b) questions of a "political" nature, such as the supply of millers' offals.

THE BLACK CAP.

An amusing instance of Cockney humour comes from a London police court. A man was summoned for sending a child under age for a packet of cigarettes.

A constable proved the case, producing the cigarettes as evidence. The chairman of the Bench, whose hair is inclined to be thin on top glanced at the open window, then produced a small black velvet skull cap.

Carefully he adjusts it. Suddenly from the back of the court came a loud whisper: "Lumme! They're going to hang the bloke!"

The Irish Times.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1924.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

It is understood that a reply to proposals for the settlement of the strike at the Great Southern and Western Railway Company's Inchicore Works may be received to-day.—(Page 5.)

Yesterday the British troops who have occupied Belleek Fort, County Fermanagh, since 1922, handed over possession of it to a party of Free State soldiers, who will occupy it for the future.—(Page 5.)

Mr. James Larkin, in the Dublin Mansion House last night, announced that he had been appointed a Chief of Battalion in the Red Army of Russia, and that he was one of twenty-five men chosen to govern the world. An army of two and a half million men was pledged to move to the workers' assistance. Perhaps, he added, the Red machines would fly soon in Northern skies, and then they would order England in decided tones to get out of Ireland.—(Page 5.)

When the inquiry into the loss of the steamer Lismore off the coast of Wexford in July last was resumed in Dublin yesterday the sole survivor, John Carley, expressed the opinion that the captain had not been on deck during the watch before the vessel foundered, as if he would have called up all hands.—(Page 7.)

Two men were sent to jail at the Dublin Police Court yesterday on charges of having assaulted workers at the Railway Works, Inchicore, where a strike is in progress.—(Page 7.)

GREAT BRITAIN

Mr. J. H. Thomas has decided to curtail his holiday in South Africa and to return to Westminster in time for the discussion on the Boundary Bill.—(Page 5.)

ABROAD

Proclamations calling on the people to revolt against the British have been posted in El Obeid, in the Sudan.—(Page 5.)

There are fewer Irish-born people in Australia, according to the figures of the 1921 census, just issued.—(Page 5.)

Signor Locatelli, the Italian airman who was attempting to fly round the world and had been missing for four days, was found on Sunday night drifting on the Arctic Ocean in his disabled machine.—(Page 7.)

Fears are expressed in France that the situation in Morocco may end in international complications.—(Page 7.)

A dispute has arisen between two military governors in China which may involve the whole country in civil war.—(Page 5.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were idle. Quotations were generally very little changed.—(Page 9.)

Money was not so plentiful in Lombard street, and the rate for loans ran up to 3½ per cent. and sometimes over. Among the exchanges, French francs appreciated and sterling declined.—(Page 9.)

Dublin Stock Market was quiet. Guinness Shares were busy and closed 1-16 higher at 46 3-16.—(Page 9.)

Moscow and Dublin.

Mr. James Larkin has returned to Ireland. He celebrated his arrival yesterday by a speech in the Dublin Mansion House, in the course of which he made some remarkable statements. Mr. Larkin has been in Russia as the "invited guest" of the Soviet Government, and seems to have had some very interesting experiences during his sojourn on the banks of the Moskva. The workers, he informs us, have decided to take over the earth, and he is one of the twenty-five men who have been appointed to govern it. His appointment has been ratified not only by the Russian people, but also by the proletariat of no fewer than thirty-two different countries. Furthermore, Mr. Larkin has been raised to the exalted rank of "Chief of Battalion" in the Red Army, and he announced to the members of the Irish Workers' Union yesterday that two and a half million Russian soldiers would move to their assistance so soon as help should be required. "Red" aeroplanes, he prophesied, soon would be hovering in Northern skies, and England would be ordered "in decided tones" to clear out of Ireland. There was a great deal more of this kind of talk. Mr. Larkin evidently has been impressed very deeply by his Russian visit, and seems to be determined that the workers of Dublin shall recognise the high honour which has been paid to him—and through him to them—by the Bolshevist mandarins of Moscow. He did not tell his audience what policy he proposed to pursue in his new capacity as one of the twenty-five mighty ones of the earth, confining his predictions to a statement that, in all probability, Russian ships soon would be arriving in the Liffey. He refrained from telling the workers of Dublin that Ireland has nothing to sell to Russia and that, if Russian ships should come to the North Wall, they probably would go away with empty bottoms. Trifling details like this, however, did not worry Mr. Larkin, who concluded a stirring oration by the unfolding of a great banner bearing an inscription, in Russian, by means of which greetings were conveyed from the transport workers of Moscow to their "revolutionary" comrades in Dublin.

Mr. Larkin must have had a supreme contempt for his hearers if he expected them to be impressed by this sort of nonsense. His picture of Russian ships bringing corn to the Liffey and Russian aeroplanes coming on a crusade to deliver the workers of Ireland from their tyrannous employers would be really funny if it were painted in any other city in the British Isles except Dublin. Here, unfortunately, the Labour movement seems to have lost its head, and some of our workers are ready to swallow anything. Mr. Larkin's influence has resulted in the disruption of the Transport Workers' Union, and at present "organised Labour" in Dublin is at sixes and sevens; but this time surely Mr. Larkin has gone too far. The working classes of this country may be foolish in many respects, but they are not Bolsheviks, and will have nothing to do with the fantastic futility of Moscow. It is high time, however, that they should assert their good sense and have done with play-acting. Dublin's whole trade and commerce are being ruined. One strike after another is playing havoc with the city's economy, and, of course, the workers themselves are the principal sufferers. The Irish working man does not want "Red" aeroplanes; he wants food for his family. He does not care whether or not Mr. Larkin is a "Battalion Chief" in Trotsky's army; he wants to be sure of a decent job. If the existing condition of affairs is allowed to continue, Dublin soon will be in danger of sharing Moscow's fate; and, if Mr. Larkin had acquainted his hearers yesterday with the plight of the unfortunate inhabitants of that city, they might have been able to appraise the "greetings" of the Moscow transport workers at their true worth. Dublin needs work; she has had more than enough of talk. Mr. Larkin's visions of Russian "help" will not put bread into the mouths of her slum children or bring comfort to the thousands of cheerless homes which disfigure the city. Let him advise his followers to have done with strikes and to set about the task of restoring the country's lost prosperity. So far as Russia is concerned, they will be wise to leave it severely alone.

The Sudan.

Since the recent disturbances affairs in the Sudan have quietened down considerably. The firm attitude which has been adopted by the British Government has given the Egyptian hotheads cause for thought, and the Sudanese show no sign of "rising against the British," as they have been incited to do freely by notices and proclamations in Omdurman and Khartum. The Egyptian Railway Battalion, after its clash with Sudanese police at Atbara, has been withdrawn, and it is reported that those who were responsible for the outbreak will be distributed among the garrisons in Lower Egypt. Four of the ringleaders of the cadets' demonstration at Khartum have been placed in close arrest following an unsuccessful attempt to escape from internment in a British gunboat. Reinforcements of British infantry have arrived, and the Air Force is making preparations for action in case of necessity. Naturally there are still some echoes to be heard throughout the country of the recent explosion. Four anti-British proclamations have been posted on a mosque and on other buildings in the market place of El Obeid, the capital of the province of Kordofan. These proclamations attracted a crowd, but interest showed no sign of developing into action. In Egypt there is a general tendency to disclaim connection with recent events, and Fahmy Bey, the head of the Workmen's Union, has cancelled demonstrations which had been arranged. The Egyptian Government, after considerable delay, replied to the last British Note on Saturday. The reply contains a protest against certain phrases in the Note which are described as threatening, and denies that the Egyptian Press and Parliament were responsible for the incidents in the Sudan. It records the inability of the Egyptian Governments to recognise the Sudan Government's freedom of action or the right of the Governor-General of the Sudan to take action affecting the Egyptian Army without consulting the Government of Egypt. The whole affair throws the irresponsible nature of the Egyptian legislators into clear relief, and makes the futility of Zaghlul Pasha's mission to London the more obvious.

His position is fraught with difficulty. Up to the present he has not declared definitely his opinion of the activities of his subordinates during his absence, but his reticence suggests disapproval. Although his mission to England is at best a forlorn hope, it is bound to be affected adversely by the truculence of his colleagues at home. Like many another successful agitator, he has found to his cost that it is much more difficult to create than to destroy. Since assuming the responsibilities of office he has seen his country falling rapidly into a state of disorganisaton and he has been powerless to check the descent. It is rumoured freely that he contemplates resignation. If he comes to London and attempts to negotiate with the British Government on the subject of the Sudan there can be no doubt as to the answer which he will be given. Indeed, the opportunity would be welcome, as a clear definition of the British attitude is desirable. The Government must leave no misapprehensions as to the possibility of a surrender of the Sudan to the Egyptians and allow no excuse for further agitation on the subject. All responsible Sudanese realise that an exchange of the efficiency of British administration for the bungling attempts of inexperienced Egyptian legislators would be disastrous. The decline of Egypt since the change in control is proof enough and cannot be discredited by actions of irresponsible violence like that which occurred at Atbara. The Sudan owes its prosperity to the British rule, and the only hope for the future lies in continued British occupation. The situation must be met with firmness, and any sign of reticence or hesitation now would have most serious consequences. Zaghlul Pasha, or any other Prime Minister of Egypt, can rely on the sympathy of the British Government if he confines his activities to their proper sphere, but interference with the Sudan cannot be tolerated.

The Prince of Poets.

Next month the fourth centenary of the birth of Ronsard is to be celebrated in France, and eminent English literary men are arranging to pay a tribute with which we would like to see Ireland associated. Ronsard was leader of that brilliant band, the Pléiade, which may be said to have created French literature; and he has, besides, the sweetest voice for foreign ears of all French poets. In the sixteenth century French literature was little more than an incoherent mass of old legend and traditional song, and the language was still crude and unfitted to express the delicate sentiments and cultivated thoughts of a renascent nation. Ronsard and his friends formed a school in which poetry and learning worked together to fashion the refined and elegant instrument which is the French language that we know. They revived old words, adapted classic terms, and by provignement enriched their medium with new shades of meaning. In their poems they expressed the mind of the Renaissance, but they flavoured their new songs with memories of old France. The fragrance of the spring-time was in their work, and the rich and delicate beauty of the rose. Ronsard's plea to Mignonne to enter the garden at evening is as fresh to every reader of to-day as when first it was penned, and still, in his Sonnet for Helène, we see the vivid flowers of fancy set against the sable thought of death. The world joins his countrymen in saluting the memory of the Prince of Poets, partly in gratitude for moments of delight enjoyed by every lover of fine literature, but more because, in honouring this founder of French literature, we honour gentle France.

"It Raineth Every Day."

It is reported that an American visitor to Wembley, finding day after day drenching, asked an Englishman whether there was ever any summer in these countries. "Oh, yes," said the native; "we had a lovely summer last year. It happened, I think, on a Wednesday." There are no signs of a break in this year's rainy career, and our London Correspondent tells how severely sports and athletic societies have been injured. Holiday resorts have languished, and the population must have suffered in health and spirits to an incalculable degree. Perhaps, the prevalence of discontent and unrest among working people is due to the drabness of their hours of recreation. "It's bound to clear up," said the devil to Noah, according to an old proverb; and men have reached a mood when all words of comfort seem no more hopeful. Johnson's saying that, when two Englishmen meet, their first talk is of the weather, is out of date, for the disturbance of climate had set half the world complaining. Year after year staggers under storms, unable to shake off the cold and wet of the winter even for six fair weeks. Theorists have suggested that the world-wide use of electricity has upset our seasons. In any case, it is no mere vain praising of past times that gives us to say that the weather of our youthful days was very different from this, and it is not the magic of time that makes us think that the stars were bigger and brighter when we were young.

SCIENCE v. RELIGION.

DEAN INGE ON ORTHODOX CHRISTIANITY.

The conflict of science and religion was discussed last night at Oxford by the Dean of St. Paul's (London), in opening a conference of modern churchmen. He said that the conflict of science and religion was still a long way from being reconciled. It was an open sore which poisoned the spiritual life of the civilised world. It was difficult for a man to accept orthodox Christianity as the Churches presented it to him, without treachery to his scientific conscience. The injury thus inflicted upon religion could hardly be measured.

Intellectual honesty was, to a large extent, drained out of the Church, and public opinion within it did not reflect either the least knowledge of the most candid temper of the community.

The Churchmen's Union existed to deal with this lamentable state of things. It was too big a problem for them to solve, but they might do something towards its solution, and they must do all they could.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

NOT TO BE MET BY U.S. PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

Some astonishment has been caused in official circles by a statement published in the World this morning, from its Special Correspondent on board the Berengaria. The statement is to the effect that the Prince of Wales expected President Coolidge to meet him at Quarantine, after which he would return the visit at Washington.

The President is still at Plymouth (Vermont), and is not expected back here till Friday. Both at White House and the British Embassy, however, the belief is expressed that the publication of such a story is the result of some inexplicable blunder on the part of the correspondent.

It is pointed out that no official or unofficial interchange between the American and British Governments, and no personal interchange between the President and the Prince, could possibly have given rise to such an impression, and it is not believed here that His Royal Highness ever entertained any such idea as that imputed to him.—(Reuter.)

TO SET U.S. FASHIONS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

One of the biggest establishments dealing in men's clothing in Chicago, with branches in most of the large cities throughout America, has a special men's fashion artist on board the Berengaria. He is the chief designer of the firm, and was despatched to England in order to travel back on the boat, so that he could study the Prince of Wales's clothes during the voyage. The Prince's fashions in clothes are to be included in the firm's autumn line of gentlemen's clothing.

"The Prince's clothes will set the styles in America for a couple of years at least," declares the head of the clothing firm here. "Everything he wears—hats, suits, shoes and haberdashery will be copied everywhere."

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference. — The depression centred near the Faroes is moving slowly south-eastward, and further secondary disturbances are likely to cross the British Isles. The weather will continue cloudy, with some intermittent rain or showers.

Ireland. — Wind westerly to north-westerly, moderate or fresh; some rain or showers; visibility moderate to good; rather cool.

All Irish Seaboards.—Wind westerly to north-westerly, moderate or fresh; sea moderate; some rain or showers; visibility good.

BRITISH BUILDING TRADE SETTLEMENT.

The Portsmouth building trade operatives have declined to work under the new national agreement. For two hours yesterday representatives of masters and men discussed the question of re-grading, on which Portsmouth men are firm. The employers declined in any way to depart from the national agreement, and the conference, therefore, was abortive.

WIRELESS IN CANADA.

Following an arrangement between the British Government, the Department of Marine Fisheries of Canada, and the Affiliated Marconi Companies, radio stations as links in the Empire wireless programme, are to be established near Montreal and Vancouver. The stations will be owned and operated by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, and will have a guaranteed operating speed of 100 words per minute. Each will cost approximately £60,000.

FREEDOM OF DUNDEE FOR MR. MACDONALD.

The Prime Minister has notified the Lord Provost of Dundee that he expects to return from Geneva on Monday, September 8th, and will arrive that night for the purpose of accepting the Freedom of the City. As Mr. Ramsay Macdonald desires to return to Lossiemouth on the Tuesday afternoon, it is expected that the presentation ceremony will take place on Tuesday forenoon.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The weather conditions at Balmoral have been so bad, especially last Friday and Saturday, the King has been unable to have any shooting since his arrival, and it is feared that the young grouse suffered in considerable numbers during the storm, which was the most severe experienced in that district for many years.

LONDON LETTER

BRITAIN AND EUROPE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

European economic changes and the ultimate resumption on commercial relations between France and Germany are not devoid of the danger of reaction on British trade. Home manufacturers are faced with the possibility of foreign combinations which may make their tenure of markets abroad precarious. Mr. Snowden's perturbation as to the eventual effect in that direction of the London Agreement's bearing on reparations was only voicing the fears entertained by British industrialists on the subject. The appointment of a committee to advise the Foreign Office on this and relative matters will be of practical value if it is chosen with a view to protect and preserve British trade interests, and there is eliminated from its composition that political element which invariably puts foreign interests first. With the longer hours and the lower wages which prevail on the Continent, British manufacturers will have all their work cut out to maintain a footing in the markets of the world. Unfortunately, Labour at home is not assisting them in the competition that reigns and threatens in more intensified form.

Unemployment.

Leaving out of count the number of men involved in trade disputes, unemployment generally is slightly on the increase. The Government's promise to the electorate last year of having immediate measures ready to meet the situation has not fructified. All that they have been able to do in their seven or eight months of office has been to steal the schemes of their predecessors which they found in departmental archives. The position is giving the Government a great deal of anxiety. If matters do not speedily improve, they will have to ask Parliament for more money for distribution under the Unemployment Insurance Acts. That they want to avoid at all costs, because it would be an admission of their complete failure to fulfil their promises. Mr. Shaw, the Minister of Labour, gambled too confidently on a possible wave of trade prosperity. In that event great numbers of unemployed would be absorbed in different occupations and removed from the live register. He reckoned on their restored weekly contributions putting the fund on a solvent basis. The expected, however, has not come to pass, with the result that this branch of Government finance sooner or later must get more State aid.

Egypt.

Thanks to the swift and firm action taken by the British authorities, the situation in Egypt, which at one period began to assume some ugly features, is quietening. There exists, however, a lot of smouldering discontent, which is being assiduously tended by agitators for purely political purposes. Although nothing untoward is happening at the moment, and there is no ostensible ground for apprehension, sub-currents are at work which will require all the tact of diplomacy of our agents in that part of the world to keep them within their present sphere. One curious fact in connection with recent Egyptian affairs has been the self-effacement of Zaghlul Pasha. It may be regarded as only temporary, notwithstanding the "cave" that has been formed against him in his own country. He is still resting quietly in Paris, probably awaiting the passing through of Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, which will take place in a few days on the latter's way to Geneva for the League of Nations meeting. No doubt, the postponed interview will then take place, unless Zaghlul Pasha gets another invitation to this country. He has recovered from the recent outrage that was committed on him.

The Builders' Strike.

In London this morning about 80 per cent. of builders who have been on strike offered themselves for work, but not more than two-thirds of that number could be taken on. Operations on all the great buildings which are in course of erection in the Metropolis were resumed so far as materials would allow, but to-day's work was largely confined to the collection of all necessary materials and tools and the thorough overhauling of machinery, which has been lying idle for a couple of months. It is expected that, by Wednesday or Thursday at the latest, everything will be in full swing. The men seemed glad to get back to work. The employment cards, however, show that a considerable number have been working almost all the time the strike has been in progress, having taken jobs with small firms which are not in the Employers' Federation.

Sheldon Tapestry.

Among many interesting country sales listed to take place in the course of the next few days is that of the contents of Westgate House, Bury St. Edmunds, belonging to Mrs. Gordon Gratrix. Outstanding in the catalogue is a panel of sixteenth century tapestry, described as the work of William Sheldon, of Barchester. Panels from the Sheldon looms are rare, as it is believed that only thirty have been woven. Of these six were recently discovered at Chastleton House, Oxfordshire, one of them having been put up for auction in London lately. Specimens of the Barchester tapestry may be seen in the Bodleian Library, the York Museum and at South Kensington. Westgate House sale also includes panels of Mortlake, Brussels, Flemish and Aubusson tapestries, furniture of Stuart, Jacobean, William and Mary, and Queen Anne periods, and a library of books mainly dealing with furniture and decorative objects of art.

August Weather.

Bad from the start, August has developed into a fireside month all over the country. Seaside people are having a depressing time, and the Londoner has been rooting out his winter coat in the last two or three days, and finds its use grateful and comforting. With the thermometer at 59, sunless days, heavy showers and frequent thunderstorms, one's consolation is that coals are at summer prices. There is no indication of change for the better, but we live in hopes. The Thames boating trade say that, on the whole, they had the worst season on record. County cricket has suffered severely, and many of the clubs will find it impossible to make both ends meet, so seriously has the weather interfered with their games. This applies especially to the smaller counties, which have not the wealth and area of Yorkshire, for instance, to draw upon for assistance. Prospects for partridge shooting, which begins on Monday, are not promising. Owing to the chilly spring the birds almost everywhere nested late, and brought off their broods when the heavy rains began and took serious toll of their chicks. Many of the birds perished in the violent storms of early July.

London Bridge.

The City's surveyors are not disturbed by the reported defects in London Bridge. It is said that there is a subsidence of three or four inches in the main arch, but those who ought to be in the best position to know declare that there is no deviation whatever from the horizontal. As a matter of fact, this bridge, which is, perhaps, the hardest worked of all those crossing the Thames, is thoroughly inspected once a month in view of the heavy traffic which it has to bear, and the last inspection was completed only two days since. The first stone London Bridge was built in 1176, and it lasted until 1824. In that year the present Rennie Bridge was begun, and it was opened seven years later and widened in 1902.

HOLIDAY CUT SHORT.

MR. THOMAS'S PLANS.

ONLY TEN DAYS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

BACK FOR BOUNDARY BILL.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, who arrived in Cape Town yesterday, has decided to curtail his holiday in South Africa.

Before he left England on the 8th inst., Mr. Thomas expressed the hope that it would not be necessary for him to be in his place in the House of Commons on September 30th, when the Irish Boundary Bill will be discussed.

Yesterday, however, he decided that instead of making a tour of South Africa with the Empire Parliamentary delegation, which would last until the middle of October, he must begin the return journey on September 4th.

A WARM WELCOME.

EMPIRE AS FACTOR FOR WORLD PEACE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CAPE TOWN, Monday.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Colonial Secretary, Lord Burnham, and the members of the Empire Parliamentary Association arrived today on board the R.M.S. Saxon. They were welcomed by General Hertzog, Colonel Cresswell, Mr. Malan, and other members of the Cabinet.

Later there was a reception at the City Hall, and, in replying to the speeches of welcome, Mr. Thomas referred to the great pleasure that the delegation had in visiting South Africa, especially as the invitation had been given to them both by the late and the present Government. Whatever political differences might divide them, the great question of Empire should unite them in sympathy.

Mr. Thomas recalled his engine-driving days, remarking:—"I was schooling myself then in experience in human affairs, and now the British Constitution enables me to be a Minister of State."

They must remember, he added, that the British Empire was the greatest factor for world peace that the world had ever known. They must do all that they could to destroy the war spirit, and to create a spirit of reconciliation, both between nations and between class and class.

Lord Burnham, who also responded, said that he was glad to know that the invitation had been endorsed by men of all parties and men of no party. Personal understanding developing into personal friendship was the finest cement of the fabric of the British League of Nations, and it was just that personal understanding which an Empire Parliamentary Association existed to promote and to ensure.

The Association had grown up untrammelled by official control or statutory recognition, but it had created a happy comradeship of Parliament men in all the nations of our Ocean Commonwealth.

Mr. Thomas will visit Durban, and will rejoin the Saxon as soon as she is ready to sail.

CROSS - CHANNEL FREIGHTS.

A BELFAST PROTEST.

The Council of the Belfast Chamber of Commerce last night passed a resolution protesting against the increase of 2s. per ton on all cross-Channel freights announced by the shipping companies. The Council hopes that every section of the industrial community in Belfast and Northern Ireland will make similar protests, on the grounds that:—(1) Exclusive of the proposed increases, certain steamship freights still exceed pre-war charges by amounts varying from 53 per cent. to upwards of 140 per cent., although it has been found possible to reduce all British railway rates to 50 per cent. over pre-war charges; (2) the proposed increase is a direct further handicap on the commerce of Belfast and Northern Ireland, as compared with their British opponents, who are in no way affected so far as outward traffic is concerned; (3) the Belfast Harbour Commissioners have, during the last two years, made material reductions in their dues and rates, which have been absorbed by the steamship companies; (4) the proposed increase of 2s. a ton really means an increase of from 3s. to 4s. a ton on all goods carried as small parcels, and is, of course, a further heavy blow to that class of business.

The Council directed the attention of members to the fact that the headquarters of all the steamship companies are now located elsewhere than in Belfast, and that they have no direct interest in the city, except as a revenue-producing centre.

LAUSANNE TREATY.

M. HERRIOT URGES PROMPT RATIFICATION.

PARIS, Monday.

In the course of his speech on the Lausanne Treaty in the Chamber, M. Herriot urged prompt ratification. He said that France was glad to help Turkey to consolidate her new status, and he hoped that Turkish statesmen who had been moulded under French influence would not forget that the Treaty was the spiritual mother of the Turkish Republic.

In the course of the debate the Treaty came in for a good deal of adverse criticism, on the ground of its being unfavourable to France. On the other hand, it was pointed out that there was no choice but to accept the fait accompli, and that delay in ratification would be detrimental to French interests, because urgent questions, such as the delimitation of the Turco-Syrian boundary and the conclusion of a Franco-Turkish Treaty of Commerce, could not be settled until France had ratified the Treaty.

As a matter of fact, the Treaty has already been in force since August 6, and ratification is a foregone conclusion; so the debate is rather academic.—(Reuter.)

PARIS, Tuesday.

The Chamber this morning approved the Lausanne Treaty by 410 votes against 171.—(Reuter.)

FLIGHT FROM FAMINE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

COPENHAGEN, Monday.

It is reported from Helsingfors that thousands of peasants are fleeing from the famine districts of the Volga. Crowds of fugitives are heading for Siberia, while crowds of the less aimless are struggling to reach better territories before winter sets in.

BREAK ON NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Cotton broke 137 to 150 points to-day owing to the bearish Government crop report, weakness at Liverpool, and heavy general selling. High temperatures in Texas are causing apprehension, but otherwise crop news is generally favourable. The market rallied partially on covering, but closed 107 to 118 points lower.

WOOD PULP FIRE IN CANADA.

QUEBEC, Monday.

Damage estimated at a quarter of a million dollars was done by the destruction by fire today of 20,000 cords of pulp and the mill belonging to the Brown Corporation in Temiscouata County, Eastern Quebec.—(Reuter.)

FEWER IRISH IN AUSTRALIA.

WHAT THE LAST CENSUS FIGURES SHOW.

The Census returns for Australia taken in 1921 show that the total number of Irish-born inhabitants of the Commonwealth has steadily declined since 1891.

The following figures show the total number of people born in the United Kingdom living in Australia in the years mentioned:—

	England and Wales.	Scotland.	Ireland.
1891	470,399	123,818	226,949
1901	393,321	101,753	184,085
1911	359,212	93,083	139,434
1921	460,662	108,756	105,033

The population of Australia has increased by over two millions in thirty years, as the following figures show:—

1891	3,174,392
1901	3,773,801
1911	4,455,005
1921	5,435,734

There were on the date of the last Census 53,221 Irish-born men and 51,812 Irish-born women.

CASE OF LIEUTENANT CLENDINING.

DEMAND FOR AN IMPARTIAL INQUIRY.

Lieutenant Cecil H. Clendining, late 3rd Battalion, Royal Irish Fusiliers, in a letter to the Secretary of State for War (Mr. Stephen Walsh), demands an impartial inquiry into his case. The letter is addressed from Aberfoyle, Howth, Co. Dublin, under date August 25th, 1924.

Lieutenant Clendining says that his attention has been called to the fact that Mr. Walsh has issued to the members of Parliament who have raised his case in the House of Commons a secret dossier containing a summary of the advice which he gave to His Majesty, based on the result of the secret inquiry held by the Government of India.

Lieutenant Clendining suggests that the Secretary for War should consent to an impartial inquiry, at which

"(1) I will, for the first time after seven years, be granted the right of appearing in my own defence—a right given to the worst criminal as a matter of course.

"(2) The evidence of many men, eminent in their various professions, and of unblemished character, who are in a position to give evidence on my behalf, will be taken.

"(3) The character of the witnesses on whose evidence you profess to rely will be open to public investigation, and their evidence subjected to the test of cross-examination by counsel."

INTER - PARLIAMENTARY CONFERENCE.

NO SECRET TREATIES.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Monday.

The Inter-Parliamentary Union, which is holding its annual conference here in the Swiss House of Parliament to-day, debated a long resolution concerning Parliamentary control of foreign affairs. This was introduced by Professor Schueking, President of the German Group, and in the course of the debate several alterations were proposed, of which only one, an addition, was eventually accepted to the effect that instructions given to delegates to the League Assembly should be controlled by Parliaments.

Other points in the resolution were that the constitutions of all nations should contain stipulations forbidding secret agreements, and that all treaties and agreements should be communicated to Parliament; that every country should have a committee on foreign affairs, having the right to demand information concerning any negotiations in progress; that an annual report should be published on the administration of foreign affairs, and that "secret funds" should be done away with.

Particular stress was laid on the importance of securing the adherence of all nations to an optional clause making recourse to the International Court obligatory.

MOSUL QUESTION.

TURKEY TO BE REPRESENTED AT GENEVA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Monday.

It is reported that Angora will, after all, decide to accept the invitation to be represented before the League of Nations when the question of the Iraq frontier comes up for decision. The exact part that the Turks will play is uncertain, since one account says that the representatives will be nominated on the American model as observers.

In any case, mere acceptance of the invitation marks a distinct advance; for not long ago the Jumhuriet was writing that, since Turkey was not a member of the League, she was not concerned with its proceedings, and ought to disregard them completely.—(Times telegram.)

The Iraq frontier question has been placed by Great Britain on the agenda for the League Council's meeting at Geneva at the end of the month. This is in strict accordance with the provisions of the Lausanne Treaty, and, although Turkey is not a member of the League, it was understood that she is to be invited to name a representative to attend the Council during the deliberations.

Until a few days ago (writes our Constantinople Correspondent) it was declared that any such invitation would be declined, and it was argued that under Article 17 of the League Covenant this refusal will make any decision at Geneva impossible.

[Article 17 provides that, in the event of a dispute between a State belonging to the League and a non-member State, the latter shall be invited to accept the obligations of membership for the purposes of such dispute upon such conditions as the Council may deem just.]

A movement was on foot in Turkey to contest the League's power to deal with the Iraq frontier question at all, and in this connection a significant statement was made by a high official personage.

"England's isolated appeal to the League," he was reported as saying, "has nothing to do with the solution of this dispute. Any decision taken at Geneva must be one-sided, since Turkey does not yet belong to the League."

The need for a prompt settlement is recognised in Turkey, but it was argued that no settlement would be possible except by direct negotiation.

AIR LINER'S FOUR MILLION MILES.

BRITISH FLYING PERFORMANCES.

With the arrival of the last Napier D.H. express from Paris at the London Air Station last Sunday, British Airways completed five years of flying. During that period the air expresses of the various British air transport companies, which are now amalgamated in Imperial Airways, the great British air combine have flown over 4,000,000 miles and carried more than 45,000 passengers.

This year all records are being broken, and the Napier D.H. and Handley Page air liners of Imperial Airways are scheduled to fly at least 1,000,000 miles, while additional extensions extending as far as Constantinople, Rome, Warsaw, and Moscow are being planned for the coming year.

SUDAN MISCHIEF-MAKERS.

PROCLAMATIONS CALLING ON PEOPLE TO REVOLT.

KHARTUM, Monday.

Four proclamations recently posted on a mosque and other prominent buildings in the Market Place of El Obeid, calling on the population to rise against the British Government, attracted a crowd, to which the text was read aloud by those standing near. The local authorities later received the proclamation.—(Reuter.)

[El Obeid is the capital of Kordofan, a province in the Sudan.]

THE RAILWAY STRIKE.

SUGGESTED TERMS OF SETTLEMENT.

COMPANY'S SERVICES NORMAL.

Proposals by the Irish Workers' Union for a settlement of the strike of six hundred of its members at the Inchicore Railway Works are receiving consideration, and a reply from the other parties concerned is expected to-day.

The proposals, which were made by Mr. John McLoughlin, Secretary of the Inchicore Branch of the Union, are as follow:—

1—"That the Irish Railway Engineering Union and the Workers' Union of Ireland agree to a conference between representatives of both unions for the purpose of coming to an agreement on the apportionment of work between fitters and vice-men. That a date be fixed for this conference. If this is agreed on by both parties, and accepted by the management of the Great Southern and Western Railway, it is then requested that the management withhold or postpone the present 'line of demarcation,' pending agreement between both parties concerned.

2—"That the management will ratify the agreement come to by them with the representatives of the Workers' Union of Ireland for 3s. increase to the tubers, tubers' helpers, boilermakers' helpers, fitters' helpers, brick archmen, two oilers, and millwright helpers.

3—"That there be no victimisation of any man who came on strike, and that all men return to their respective occupations without hindrance."

"If these proposals are accepted by the management all men will return to work on ——day."

Copies of the proposals in full have been sent to the management of the company and to the Railway Shops Joint Committee, while a copy of that portion only which deals with the Irish Railway Engineering Union has been sent to the fitters' organisation.

ENGINEERING UNION'S ATTITUDE.

Last night we received a letter on the subject from Mr. John McCormac, General President of the Railway Engineering Union, who says:—

"I am instructed by my Committee to inform you that they would be obliged if you would refrain from publishing reports in your journal to the effect that this Union contemplates the holding of a conference with the 'Workers' Union' on the subject of the division of the work in dispute in Inchicore Works. The opinion of my Committee is that any such conference would serve no useful purpose, as this Union is not in dispute with either the Workers' Union or the railway management, and it is not their intention to repudiate the signature of their secretary to the document which terminated their further interest in the matter. In view of this fact, the only conference which could possibly bear fruit is one between the railway management and the Workers' Union."

Mr. McLoughlin yesterday denied that he had written to the Railway Engineering Union on Sunday, vouching for the men's willingness to accept his suggestion to refrain from further "acts of intimidation," but he admitted that he had given an assurance at the conference between the two unions and the Railway Shops Joint Committee on Saturday that there would be no further trouble if he could prevent it.

There was little evidence of a strike at the company's premises yesterday. The services were normal, and goods traffic passed into and out of Kingsbridge throughout the day. Strikers again were seen at the station and at the North Wall, but they were few, and made no attempt to interfere with the carters, or with the ex-Free State soldiers, who were engaged by the company to carry on the essential work at Inchicore.

The police, however, were vigilant. Uniformed men patrolled the thoroughfares in the vicinity of Kingsbridge, the North Wall and the Inchicore Works, and motor cars, with plain clothes men and detectives, and also cyclist "corps," were at hand in case of emergency. The company's volunteers, when on their way to the Kingsbridge in the morning, were protected by a strong "bodyguard."

[Reports of Police Court proceedings against strikers will be found on Page 7.]

MR. JAMES LARKIN AND THE STRIKE.

Referring to the Inchicore strike, at the Dublin Mansion House last night, Mr. James Larkin said that it should never have taken place. No question of wages, or conditions of employment, or fundamental principle of labour, was involved in the dispute, which actually centred on what was known as "a line of demarcation," which could easily have been settled by a shops' council.

THE LAURENTIC GOLD.

FIVE MILLIONS RECOVERED.

Up to date the Admiralty have salved over five millions sterling in gold bars on the torpedoed White Star liner Laurentic, which was sunk off Lough Swilly in 1917.

Bullion worth half a million still remains to be recovered.

THE BUGLER DUNNE CASE.

"HUMAN OSTRICH" CHARGED AT OXFORD.

The man who said he was Bugler Dunne when before the Oxford magistrates last Friday, now gives his name as Percy Hardy, and an address at Woolwich.

He made a brief appearance at Oxford Court yesterday morning following his arrest during the week-end. He will be charged to-day with falsely representing himself to be a person entitled to wear the V.C.

Hardy appeared at the Oxford Police Court last Friday claiming to be Bugler Dunne, and made application for permission to perform in the streets as "a human ostrich." The Mayor granted the application, and insisted on shaking hands with Dunne. On Saturday Dunne occupied his pitch and drew a large crowd by appearing to eat candles and lumps of coal, and catching in his mouth, and apparently swallowing, coins which were thrown at him. Later the police arrested him on the above charge.

LABOUR AND PRIVATE PROPERTY.

CONFISCATION FAVOURED.

At the Independent Labour Party's Summer School at Cloughton yesterday, a letter was read from the Premier (Mr. Ramsay Macdonald) regretting that the time between the London Conference and his visit to Geneva was so short that he was unable to attend the school, which was working out the practical application of Socialism.

A discussion took place on the transference of private property to public hands, and the trend of opinion was in favour of confiscation, rather than compensation. It was explained that the party did not endorse all the views expressed at that gathering.

In the evening Mrs. Dora Russell denounced the Ministry of Health for not allowing rate-aided institutions to give advice on birth control.

BANK ROBBED IN AUSTRALIA.

CLERK GAGGED AND BOUND.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Two armed men entered the North Essendon branch of the English and Scottish Bank this afternoon, and, after binding and gagging a clerk, ransacked the safe, from which they took £400. They then escaped in a motor car.

WHERE THEY WANTED RAIN.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

There have been excellent rains throughout South Australia and the Western part of New South Wales.—(Reuter.)

EXPLORATION IN ARCTIC ZONE.

DANISH EXPEDITION AMONG ESQUIMAUX.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

STOCKHOLM, Monday.

The Danish explorer, Knud Rasmussen, cables to the Svenska Dagladet from Kotzebue, where the fifth Thule expedition has now arrived, as follows:—

We have had good results, proving undeniable relations between Greenlanders and the Central and Western Esquimaux. We have gathered during the last months lots of religious legends and traditions, made valuable collections of arms, implements and dresses, and taken extensive films of methods of travelling and everyday life.

The Greenlandian language is everywhere understood from the magnetic Pole to Behring Strait. In King William's Land we found and excavated many whalebone houses. One member of the expedition, Hansen, is staying at Point Barrow to photograph the Esquimaux while whale fishing. Knud Rasmussen is staying at Kotzebue, where an assembly of all the tribes from the interior is being arranged. The expedition will return via Behring Strait to the East Cape, and expects to reach Denmark in November, via Seattle, after visiting the Yukon Delta, and the Esquimaux at Bristol Bay.

CIVIL WAR FEARS IN CHINA.

MILITARY GOVERNORS' RIVALRIES.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

SHANGHAI, Monday.

War between the Tuchuns (Military Governors) of Chekiang and Kiangsu appears inevitable. The immediate cause of the trouble is a dispute over the possession of Kiangnan Arsenal and control of the Shanghai district, which is now under the Tuchun of Chekiang, though geographically it belongs to Kiangsu. A larger issue is involved in Wu Pei-fu's scheme for eliminating the Tuchun of Chekiang, the last Anfu party leader in Central China, and the complete system of overlordship in the West and North and the Yangtse Provinces, with a view to the final crushing of Sun-Yat-sen in Southern China.

This attempt would inevitably bring into the field the powerful Chang-Tso-lin against Wu Pei-fu. The latter, it will be recalled, defeated Chang in May, 1922, when the prospect of the reunification of China became much brighter.

Immense possibilities thus hang on the Chekiang-Kiangsu issue. This morning 4,000 fully-equipped troops from Nanking marched towards Soochow. These, presumably, will attack Chekiang from the west, while a simultaneous invasion begins south from Fukien. Peace-makers are trying to avert war, from which Chekiang and Kiangsu have been free for eleven years.

MOVING BOG IN CORK.

CIVIC GUARD BARRACKS IN DANGER.

Scenes of excitement occurred at Rockchapel (9 miles North-West of Newmarket, Co. Cork), when part of the bog, which nearly surrounds the village, began to move. It destroyed the homestead of a family named Sugrue, who only escaped injury owing to the timely assistance of a neighbour named Michael Collins, who ran along the moving bog, and carried an invalid young lady two miles to a place of safety.

The family consists of one sister and three brothers. The elder brother fought all through the European war, winning the D.C.M. He now enjoys a pension from the British Government.

This bog is still moving, and many dwellings, including the Civic Guard Barracks, are in danger of being destroyed. Two of the guards helped to remove cattle off the bog, which covers an area of about 800 acres, and belongs to the Curtin brothers.

No further news of the "slide" had reached Cork up to a late hour last night.

SCOUTS OF THE WORLD.

CONFERENCE IN COPENHAGEN.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

COPENHAGEN, Monday.

The International Scout Conference was opened in the hall of the Town Council in the Town Hall after the close of the Jamboree. Sir Robert Baden-Powell made a speech emphasing the educational side of the Scout movement. It was stated that Scouts now numbered nearly 1,400,000, and that Germany would be recognised as soon as she had the movement firmly organised.

When Sir Robert urged all the delegates who had not given the Scout oath to him to gather round him, they did so, and French, Germans, Austrians, Italians, and representatives of other nations took each other's hands.

It was decided to hold the next conference in Switzerland.

SEVERN BARRAGE SCHEME.

EMINENT IRISH ENGINEERS TO REPORT ON IT.

It is officially announced that the British Government has decided to proceed at once with certain preliminary investigations, in order to ascertain the feasibility of the scheme for using the tidal power of the River Severn for the production of electrical power, by the erection of a barrage across the river. Lord Parmoor, to whose scientific department—Scientific and Industrial Research—the work has been entrusted, has appointed a committee to supervise and direct the geological and hydrographical investigations, and their data will be placed at the disposal of two eminent consulting engineers—Sir Maurice Fitzmaurice and Sir John Purser Griffith—who have been invited by Lord Parmoor to submit a joint report before the end of the year, as to the possibility of constructing a barrage on the suggested sites.

Sir John Purser Griffith last night informed an Irish Times representative that the Severn scheme was a novel one, inasmuch as it involved the utilisation of a tidal part of the river. The proposal had been brought before the Water Power Resources Committee, appointed by the Board of Trade three or four years ago, and the Ministry of Transport had also reported on it. It would be the duty of the engineers named — Sir Maurice Fitzmaurice and himself—to go through the data, in order to see if the scheme was feasible.

Sir John Griffith, who is in his seventy-fifth year, was 42 years in the service of the Dublin Port and Docks Board, and has been a member of the Free State Senate since its inauguration.

Sir Maurice Fitzmaurice was educated in Trinity College, Dublin, and is one of the foremost engineering authorities in England. He was Chief Engineer of the Assouan Dam, Chief Engineer to the London County Council, is a Past-President of the Institute of Civil Engineers, and now is engaged in the Blue Nile development.

WRIT FOR £156,000.

THE COLLECTION OF TAXES IN THE COMMONWEALTH.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Commonwealth Government has issued a writ against Sir Sidney Kidman, known as the "Australian Cattle King," claiming £156,000 as arrears of land tax.

It was recently announced that a Select Committee had been appointed to investigate the allegations which had been made regarding the non-collection of the land tax from wealthy interests.—(Reuter.)

CHANGING THE GUARD.

BELLEEK FORT HANDED OVER.

FREE STATE TROOPS IN POSSESSION.

At 11 a.m. yesterday the British troops left Belleek Fort, County Fermanagh, and handed the place over to the Free State authorities. After the British had marched out the Free State troops went into occupation.

Belleek Fort, which is little more than a hutment surrounded by a high wall on a prominence outside Belleek just over the Northern border, was taken by the British troops in June, 1922, from the Republicans. Since then it has been occupied by the British military, and the garrison on Monday was a detachment of the Royal Sussex Regiment and some Engineers.

Before the evacuation Mr. Erne Elliott, J.P., Belleek, the owner in fee simple of the fort and grounds, applied to the British authorities to hand him back his property. The British Government refused to consider him, and instead handed the property over to the Free State military.

A request had been made that the Free State troops should be permitted to enter Belleek village, and this permission has been granted by the Northern Government on condition that the troops enter the village in plain clothes and on no account in military uniform.

On Sunday all the British stores had been removed to Enniskillen by road, and yesterday morning everything was in readiness for the handing over of the fort. The Northern forces in this area will be increased by a number of Special Constabulary, and a pontoon bridge is to be erected at Roscor Point, about two miles further up the River Erne, on the south bank, which will facilitate the crossing of the river to the northern bank for armoured and Crossley cars. The pontoon bridge is in course of erection at Enniskillen by the Board of Works Department, and will be floated down the lake to Roscor during the coming week.

THE TAKING OVER.

The actual taking over of the fort occupied only a brief period. At 11.15 a British officer, accompanied by a Free State officer, made an inspection of the interior of the walls, and subsequently there was a conference outside, in which several gentlemen in civilian clothing joined.

Documents were produced, and with punctilious care different items were checked. Up till this moment there had been nothing to excite the interest of passers-by, but a British "Tommy," whether by design or otherwise, created a diversion. He had apparently left some personal belongings in the fort, and, singing the refrain, "Had I the wings of a swallow," he caused amusement amongst the group of British and Free State officers who were assembled at the main entrance.

The Free State troops who took possession of the fort were a party of No. 2 Infantry Battalion, who marched in from the Ballyshannon road and mounted guard. Then the main body of the troops, numbering about forty, marched up in column of fours, and on reaching the entrance to the fort formed into double line and were halted. There was a brief inspection, and subsequently two officers, accompanied by Father O'Harte, climbed to the outlook, where the clergyman, who is chaplain to the troops at Finner Camp, blessed the tricolour, which was afterwards attached to an improvised flag staff and broken, while the new garrison presented arms and the general salute was sounded.

The troops then marched into the fort, where they found that everything had been left spick-and-span by the departing British Tommy.

Considerable local interest appeared to be taken in the proceedings, but the general public kept to the main road.

FORT IN GOOD ORDER.

A British officer stated that the interior of the fort was better fitted up now than it had ever been. The Crown troops occupying it had done all they possibly could to make it comfortable, and he was sure that the Free Staters would find everything more or less to their liking.

The Free State troops were under Commandant Hyde, with Captain and Quartermaster Wheelan.

The peculiar formation of this particular part of the Boundary is such that patrolling the road only about thirty yards from where the Free State troops are drawn up was a small party of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, and as a further indication of the topography of the district it can be stated that the bridge leading into Belleek is half in the Free State and half in Northern territory, while the four sluice gates of the River Erne are divided equally between the two States.

FORMER EXECUTIONER WOUNDED.

ELLIS FOUND SHOT IN HIS OWN HOME.

John Ellis, who was public executioner for twenty-seven years, is lying in Rochdale Infirmary in a serious condition with a fractured jaw, caused by a revolver bullet. Early yesterday morning the family were awakened by a loud report, and on going down stairs Mrs. Ellis found her husband lying on the floor, with the revolver by his side. He was removed to the infirmary, where it was found that a bullet had entered his neck under the chin, passing out over the jaw.

On Sunday night Ellis retired to bed as usual, but got up because he could not sleep.

CORK HARBOUR.

COMPARISON WITH SOUTHAMPTON.

At the meeting of the Cork Harbour Board Committee yesterday, Senator Haughton said that some few years ago the managements of the Transatlantic liners, when it suited their purpose, seemed to be glad of every opportunity to avoid Cork Harbour. He was sure that the public regretted that during the last few days that magnificent ship, the Majestic, ran in the mud outside Southampton Harbour in fog and sustained serious and considerable damage in so doing. Such an accident could never occur outside Cork Harbour, for Cork Harbour compared favourably, not only with Southampton, but with any harbour in the world.

Mr. Good said that if such an accident happened in Cork Harbour the English Press would point out to the world how unsafe Cork Harbour was, but because it happened in Southampton there was very little said about it. If they had on the English coast a harbour like Cork they would boom it.

The General Manager—You had six large liners during the past few days in this port.

BEFORE COLUMBUS.

CLAIM FOR A DANISH EXPLORER.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

COPENHAGEN, Monday.

The Chief Librarian of the University Library at Copenhagen, Dr. Softus Larsen, speaking at the American Congress at Gothenburg, maintained that the East Coast of America was discovered by a Danish explorer, Johan Scolus, twenty years before Columbus.

He declared that the expedition was equipped by King Christian the First in 1472.

Dr. Larsen has written a report of the expedition, which will be published simultaneously in Copenhagen, London and New York in the coming autumn.

EPINARD'S FORM.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Monday.

Epinard, in his first real gallop, stepped three-quarters of a mile in 75 seconds, and a mile in 1 min. 42 4-5 secs. His performance left no doubt of the horse's excellent fettle for the three international events he has been entered for. His time for the three-quarters of a mile was only a second slower than the course record.—(Reuter.)

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

SIGNOR LOCATELLI'S ESCAPE.

LESSONS OF WORLD FLIGHTS.

Commenting editorially upon the finding of Signor Locatelli, the missing Italian airman, and his companion, by the United States cruiser Richmond, The Times remarks:—If it had not been for Admiral Magruder and his warships the engine trouble which was the cause of their descent and of their inability to rise once they had come down must, in all human probability, have resulted in the loss of their lives as well as the destruction of their machine. As it is, they have escaped without any more serious consequences than the temporary exhaustion due to their exposure.

Their rescue was a piece of extraordinary good fortune. The odds against their being found were incalculably heavy, and the relief at its success is proportionately great. But in that relief the first of all the lessons taught by these world flights must not be forgotten. All of these airmen—British, French, American, Italian, Portuguese, and Argentine—are pioneers, and against the dangers which they must run in some stages of their flights no outside provision can be made. But there are other stages where the extra risks from weather conditions and the difficulties of landing are so serious that every possible effort must be made to furnish them in the present stage of the development of aeronautics with an escort, which, in case of need, may be able to go quickly to their assistance. Mercifully, in this case all has ended well. But in the future any disaster which to some extent could have been, and was not, guarded against, would, besides its immediate effects, have a serious effect on the progress of man's efforts to establish his supremacy in the air.

OLD FAITHS IN MOSUL.

SOME SHOCKS.

In a leading article The Times observes:—It is reported from Angora that the Turks have made up their minds after all to send representatives to Geneva, when the Iraq frontier question comes up for decision. The short series of articles by Mr. H. C. Luke which we are publishing on peoples who will be very nearly affected by that decision will be read with special interest just now. They describe the races and creeds of the minority populations living among the Arab and Kurd majorities in the vilayet of Mosul. They tell of the survivals of very ancient races, of the remnants yet living, of Christian churches that trace their descent to ages when the fundamental doctrines of Christianity were being discussed, disputed and defined, and even to Apostolic times, of strange beliefs far older still, in which tenets of East and West, sun worship, fire worship, devil worship and primeval nature worship are incongruously joined with doctrines and rites borrowed from Judaism, from Islam, and from these Christian communities.

There are villages of Jews still speaking Aramic in the Kurdish uplands. How did they get there? Are they, indeed, the remnant of the Babylonian captivity? Another tribe is said to have come into the land with the destroying hordes of the awful Mongol conquerors. Hulaou Khan, who wiped out the Baghdad of the Khalifs, with all its accumulated treasures of civilisation and of learning, and who so devastated the fertile plain of Mesopotamia that it has not recovered to this day, led one such horde. Another followed Tamerlane, who almost ruined the rising Ottoman Empire on that stricken field of Angora when he routed the host of Sultan Baya Id and captured the terrible "Ilderim," the "Thunder Bolt," himself. These genealogies, like the tomb of the prophet, Nahum, at Al Qosh, take us back a long way, but even the Empire of the Assyrians is as of yesterday compared with the tomb of Noah, or that of Adam himself, to be found lower down the rivers.

It is rather a shock to know that the railhead is at Asshur, the Royal city of Tiglath-Pileser, and that American motor cars await the arrival of the trains. It is a shock, perhaps, ruder still, to learn that the present head of the devil worshippers—though he dresses and looks his official part to perfection—keeps five of these cars himself. But, then, the East is full of shocks, and these innovations do not always or immediately affect ancient races.

THE BENGAL VOTE.

NEW PARTY'S DECISION.

Late last night the announcement was made that the Moslem Party in the Legislative Council had been definitely formed, states The Times Calcutta Correspondent, in a message yesterday.

The new party announces that the Ministers having written a full acceptance of their programme, they will vote in favour of the Ministers' salaries. This may just turn the scale in to-morrow's division, as some of the members of the new party were previously counted by Mr. C. R. Das as among his supporters.

"RED" POLITICS.

The Daily News says:—The most stimulating atmosphere in which subversive and revolutionary propaganda develops is an atmosphere of secrecy, repression and persecution. The surest way of enabling these young gentlemen—they are nearly always extremely young—with serious designs on the present economic order to tickle the fears of simple citizens is by persistently pushing their activities underground. A vague apprehension produces an infinitely more sinister effect on the popular mind than a concrete fact plainly indicated.

LABOUR AND PROTECTION.

The Westminster Gazette says:—Mr. Graham, in a most interesting speech, has pointed out the difficulties of securing adequate minimum wages all round in face of foreign competition. He, himself, would prefer subsidies to tariffs, but admits the existence of a powerful Tariff Reform Party on the Socialist Back Benches. Manufacturers are apt to be loath to admit that their troubles are due to any lack of efficiency, and trade unionists will rarely recognise that there is a point beyond which labour costs cannot rise without disaster to the industry concerned. Free Traders need to be on their guard, lest in some industries the two sides sink their differences for the time being and put forward a united demand for protection.

M. HERRIOT TO VISIT ALSACE.

Telegraphing on Monday, the Paris Correspondent of the Daily Mail says:—It is stated to-night that the French Premier will pay a visit to Alsace about the beginning of October. M. Herriot intends making a personal study of the situation in the recovered provinces, in view of the proposed enforcements of French laws in Alsace and Lorraine.

A BUILDING BOOMLET.

The Daily Express says:—Out of the welter of chaos that followed the suspension of building during the war we are at last beginning to see daylight, at least so far as the middle-class householder is concerned. The speculative builder, stimulated by the present high prices and the ease with which he can sell his houses, has seized his opportunity.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE RELATIONS.

The Daily Telegraph, dealing with international trade relations, says:—The announcement is welcome, for whatever practical value it may possess, that the Government have determined to set up an advisory committee to watch carefully the contents of any proposed commercial treaties between individual Allies and Germany with a view to seeing how they are likely to affect British trade interests. We hope that warrants the assumption that British Ministers will also be on the alert to claim for their nationals most favoured nation treatment, and to press such claim to the uttermost. It will not be difficult for the new advisory committee to detect danger and report in that sense to the Government, but it may be very difficult for the Government, within the narrow compass of its fiscal principles, to find an adequate remedy.

MR. LARKIN'S NEW APPOINTMENT.

CHIEF OF BATTALION IN RED ARMY.

TALK OF A RUSSIAN INVASION.

Mr. James Larkin, Secretary of the Workers' Union of Ireland, was received with enthusiasm by his supporters last night on his return to Dublin from Russia.

Speaking in the Mansion House, Mr. Larkin said that during his absence from Dublin he had travelled fifteen thousand miles, had addressed twenty million Russian people, and had sat in the throne occupied by the last Tsar of Russia.

When Mr. Larkin came out of Westland Row Station, shortly after seven o'clock, he was met by about a thousand workers. He went to the Mansion House, where an even larger crowd had assembled. As many of those present could not get into the Mansion House, it was decided to hold a second meeting outside, and this gathering was addressed by Mr. Peter Larkin. Admission to the Mansion House was confined to members of Mr. Larkin's Union.

"I left Ireland for Ireland's good, I hope," were among Mr. James Larkin's opening words in the Mansion House. He had gone "to where he had been," not to solicit help for a cause that the workers had so much at heart, but to demand that those who belonged to the revolutionary working classes should recognise Ireland's claim to be the vanguard of the revolutionary workers of the world. He left Ireland as the invited guest of the Soviet Government of the Federated Republics of the Socialistic Republic of Russia.

WANTED "THE EARTH."

His purpose in going was to do what the present Government in Ireland had failed to do. Some time ago, when the country was in travail, the men now in power sent advices to the Russian Government seeking help and sympathy and public recognition. That was interesting in view of their present attitude. He could assure them that to-morrow, if he so desired, he could get the recognition of the strongest Government in the world for a Workers' Republic. Possibly in the near future diplomatic relations would be opened up with Russia, and before very long Russian ships would be sailing into the harbour of Dublin. He had been elected, not only by the citizens of Russia, but by the representatives of the working classes of thirty-two countries, as one of the twenty-five men to govern the world. (Applause.) What the workers had asked for was the earth, and in so doing they were mindful that it was necessary to get a Management Committee to take over the earth.

It was, surely, a great thing that one who represented a country that was ignored by the greater number of nations and despised by many should be elected to be one of the world's leaders. (Hear, hear.) Ireland was thus directly represented on the Executive of the Third International in Moscow. That International was ready to respond to the appeal of the Irish workers, and two and a half million men of the Red Army—of which he had been made a Chief of Battalion—had pledged themselves to move to their assistance when called upon. Perhaps the Red machines would fly soon in Northern skies, and then they would order England, in decided tones, to get out of Ireland.

Mr. Larkin then unfurled a banner, bearing the inscription in Russian: "To the revolutionary Transport Workers of Dublin, greetings! From the Moscow Transport Workers."

Continuing, Mr. Larkin said that he had passed through nineteen countries since he had left Dublin. He had travelled 11,000 miles in one direction, and 4,000 miles in another, and had spoken to more than twenty millions of the Russian people. Once he had established his identity he was treated with the utmost consideration, and on his departure he was invited to return to Dublin by aeroplane. This offer he was obliged to decline for several reasons which might be surmised. While he was in England he helped to lay down a line of immediate action for the workers there who, through their local branches, would demand the withdrawal of every British union from Ireland.

COVENT GARDEN STRIKE.

THREAT TO STOP ALL IMPORTS OF FRUIT.

The Covent Garden dispute still continues, and, according to Mr. Bevin, General Secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union, the men yesterday stood absolutely loyal and determined to carry on the strike. Mr. Bevin, in a circular, has instructed all responsible officers in the ports immediately to call a meeting of their local port joint committees, and to inform the employers that they cannot handle any fruit or vegetables until the employers of Covent Garden Market agree to enter into negotiations to discuss the respective claims, with a view to reaching a mutual agreement.

The port officers are requested to inform the committees that they are prepared to work every other kind of cargo coming in and going out, and that the dispute will not be carried on the moment longer than is necessary to secure the proper and ordinary trade union rights desired.

Full information should reach the Central Office by Thursday next, so that instructions as to date and time that this policy shall take effect can be issued. Union officials have been advised that American stuff has been diverted through Liverpool and Bristol, and that European imports are coming in largely through Manchester. Mr. Bevin, who regrets that the men have been given to take this step, says that if there is an extension of the dispute and people's food is interfered with it will be on the ground of the employers' refusal to negotiate.

RED MARS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Cloudy conditions on Saturday and Sunday nights prevented observations of Mars, but Brisbane observers noted a pronounced depression on one side of the planet distorting it considerably from the form of a sphere. One half of a disc was of a rich, orange-red tint, while the other half was of a lighter hue.—(Reuter.)

ERZBERGER MURDER RECALLED.

BUDAPEST, Monday.

The German, Foerster, who is now under arrest here has been identified by the German detective as Schulz, who was "wanted" for the murder of Erzberger, but who had not so far been arrested. A second German has also been arrested here on suspicion of being concerned in the same crime. The Government are now considering the question of the extradition of Foerster.—(Reuter.)

SPAIN'S COSTLY WAR

MISGIVINGS IN FRANCE ABOUT MOROCCO.

FEARS OF INTERNATIONAL COMPLICATIONS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Under the heading, "Spain Abandons the Riff Country," the Matin this morning publishes an article which has attracted attention here, but has already received a flat denial from Madrid.

The writer quotes General Primo de Rivera for the statement that, while Spain will hold on to Tetuan and Melilla, she will for the next two or three years, at least, have done with the Riff Country.

The situation thus forecast, it is remarked, must cause France serious misgivings. Three weeks ago 2,000 natives made a raid into the Valley of Ed Leben, in French Morocco, attacked several villages, and carried off sheep and grain. They were chased to the frontier, which, however, could not be crossed because of international agreements.

The writer pleads that such incursions will become frequent as the result of the general disorder consequent on the Spanish retirement, and that, in the interests of other Powers, France should be given the right of intervention.

The Riff Country, it is complained, has already become a centre of German propaganda, and German agents are supplying the natives with Mauser rifles, but, however real may be these pre-occupations, there are probably others.

The abandonment of Spanish Morocco might easily give rise to international complications, and this is probably in the writer's mind when he says that Great Britain is watching events with an uneasy eye and seeking a solution, perhaps, for her own advantage.

According to a Spanish official communiqué issued yesterday, heavy fighting followed a Spanish advance yesterday south of Tetuan. The casualties on both sides were severe, the Spanish losses including five officers killed.

MADRID, Monday.

An official statement issued here says that the operations in Morocco are proving successful, and will be continued until the resistance of the tribesmen has been completely broken. The Spanish columns in the Eastern and Western zones continue to advance. Steps have been taken to protect the tribes which remain friendly.—(Reuter.)

THE EINSTEIN THEORY.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY'S EXPERIMENT.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CHICAGO, Monday.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the University of Chicago to determine with certitude the accuracy of what has become known as the Einstein theory of relativity. Does light travel faster in one direction than another? If so, why? The University of Chicago has explained the manner in which it will endeavour to prove or disprove the accuracy of Professor Einstein's theory.

The University's theatre of experiment consists of seven thousand two hundred feet of 12-inch water pipe that weighs three hundred tons, and has seven tons of lead about the joints to make the pipe air tight, a 40 horse-power pump to create a 28½ inch vacuum, and an arc light which will throw light into the pipe. The experiments will take place at Glearing, Illinois, and the pipe is being formed into a rectangle 1,800 feet wide with a double length of pipe on one side.

Professor Albert A. Michelson and Mr. Henry G. Gals are to test "the theory as soon as all is ready."

This is what the University authorities have to say about the experiment:—

"The object of the experiment is to determine whether two beams of light travelling in opposite directions around the rectangle require exactly the same time to complete the circuit. The system of mirrors at the four corners of the rectangle constitutes an interfermeter, which is one of the most celebrated inventions of Professor Michelson, and makes it possible to compare the time required for the two beams of light to make the circuit."

MUTUAL GUARANTEE PACT.

FRENCH OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

PARIS, Monday.

The French Government has just issued an official statement, setting forth its views concerning the mutual guarantee pact which is due to come up for discussion at the forthcoming Assembly of the League of Nations.

While desirous of following the traditional policy of France in support of the League of Nations, M. Herriot points out that the French Government is willing to approve the pact only as far as may be consistent with her desire to ensure her security and a reduction of armaments. The French Government, however, will not consent under any circumstances to take part in a Conference for the reduction of armaments without a preliminary guarantee of security being given. In any case, the question of a reduction in French armaments might more suitably be discussed in the French Parliament.

The statement justifies the treaties entered into by France for her own security, and contains a number of suggestions for improving the terms of the pact.—(Reuter.)

THE U.S. ELECTION.

WHAT IT COSTS TO FIND A PRESIDENT.

The American Presidential campaign now in progress will cost many million dollars, though it is unlikely that the expenditure of the last campaign (in 1920) will be exceeded.

According to a Senate Committee that investigated and reported to Congress on the matter, $10,338,509 was the 1920 total of the bill footed by the national candidates and organisations of the country. The amount spent by the minor candidates and the minor political parties was ignored. The Republicans spent $8,100,739, while Democratic expenditure was a modest $2,237,770.

Most of this money (says the Manchester Guardian) was found by the two big political parties, but the cost to individual candidates who sought Presidential nomination from the conventions was $2,980,033.

By far the most expensive candidate was the Republican, Major-General Leonard Wood, who cost $1,773,303, though another Republican, Frank O. Lowden, cost $414,000. Senator Johnson, of California, accounted for $194,000, Herbert Hoover for $173,000, and the man who was eventually elected President, Senator Harding, only cost $113,000.

A mere $68,000 ensured the election as Vice-President of Calvin Coolidge—the present President and possibly the next one.

BRITISH ELECTRICITY INDUSTRY

The British Ministry of Labour announces that the difference between the two sides of the Joint Industrial Council for the electricity supply industry regarding the wages application has been referred to a special tribunal consisting of Mr. W. Addington Willis, Chairman; Alderman G. P. Dean, Mr. John Turner, Mr. W. B. Woodhouse, and Mr. Samuel Fedden. The tribunal will hold its first sitting in private at 1 Whitehall Gardens, Whitehall, at 10.30 to-morrow morning.

WELL-KNOWN BOAT BUILDER DEAD.

The death has occurred at Scotswood, Newcastle, of Mr. George Swaddle, aged 75, a well-known builder of rowing skiffs on the Tyne and Thames. While in business at Putney Mr. Swaddle built boats for the London, Thames, Leander and Cambridge Rowing Clubs.

COUNTY GALWAY OUTRAGES.

HOUSES AND HAY SET ON FIRE.

Two cases of incendiarism are reported from Co. Galway. At 2.30 a.m. last Thursday, Michael Finnigan, farmer, of Drum East, was awakened by men smashing his windows. He dressed quickly, and on opening the door could see no trace of the attackers, but found that six cocks of hay had been set on fire. Near them he discovered a bottle which had contained paraffin.

At about the same hour an attempt was made to burn the house of Patrick O'Halloran, farmer, of Ballybeg. The thatch was set on fire, but O'Halloran and his family managed to extinguish the flames before much damage had been done. The stable and barn, however, were destroyed.

At 12 o'clock Mass in St. Joseph's Church, Galway, on Sunday, Canon Davis condemned the outrages in strong terms, and said that apparently they were committed out of pure spite. He pointed out that no priest in the diocese had power to absolve the evil doers, and that even if they went to the Bishop, or the Pope, Absolution would be null and void until they had made restitution as far as they could.

"In one of the houses," added Canon Davis, "there was an old man of eighty. In burning the house the incendiaries had the intention of commiting murder, because it was only by the merest accident that the old man was saved from being burned alive. A poor donkey in the shed was burned alive by these savages—because they are nothing else.

"Now, the question is: How are we to stop these things? The guards visited the district, and I also went there, but we could not get anybody to help. Now, I say deliberately that, until the people themselves help the authorities, these outrages will continue and you (the people) will have to pay for them, because these injuries will be put upon the rates and will probably be confined to a small area. God knows we are rated enough. These unfortunate poor people will have to pay out of their hard-earned money for the damage done by these blackguards.

"We want moral courage. I am certain that if the outrage was committed by the people in the district only three or four were responsible. Are you going to lie down under three or four blackguards? If you are then it is your own fault. You will have to pay for the damage. Have the courage of your convictions, and endeavour to assist the authorities to find out the culprits."

GERMANY AND PILSNER BEER.

A BOYCOTT URGED.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Monday.

Germans are being urged to boycott the world-renowned Pilsner beer, because Czecho-Slovakia, where the beer-brewing city of Pilsen is located, has forced the breweries there to devote part of their receipts to Czecho-Slovakian schools, where the German language is taboo and only Czech is allowed, though part of the populace is German.

It is pointed out that the number of places is increasing in Germany were genuine Pilsner beer can be obtained despite the discrimination exercised by Czecho-Slovakia against the German language. This is a depuorable state of affairs, according to those urging the boycott. They exhort Germans to patronise home-brewed beer and to eschew Pilsner with the same patriotic zeal which is shown by Czecho-Slovakia in tabooing all within its boundaries that is not Czech.

INDIAN REFORMS INQUIRY.

COMPLAINT OF AUTOCRACY IN BRITISH CONTROL.

SIMLA, Monday.

Mr. Jamnadas Dwarkadas, of Bombay, and Mr. Balkrishna Sitaram Kamat, of Poona, both members of the first Legislative Assembly, who were defeated at the last election, were examined by the Indian Reforms Inquiry Committee to-day. Both declared that the existing position of the Central Government, under which an irremoveable Executive supported by a minority, was faced by an unofficial majority in opposition, was untenable, and added that the fact that the Extremists boycotted the first elections gave the reforms the best possible trial.

Nevertheless, the reforms failed, because, in the witnesses' opinion, the Government was unresponsive, and as soon as the non-co-operation movement collapsed the official goodwill in 1921 changed to autocracy openly displayed.

Mr. Jamnadas bitterly complained of the daily control of the Secretary of State, and declared that the existing position was spoiling the morale of public life, because non-officials could play to the gallery by making statements which, if they knew they would be called upon to take office, they would make with reserve.—(Reuter.)

MONS ANNIVERSARY.

WREATHS TO DEAD OF THE ROYAL IRISH REGIMENT.

On the tenth anniversary of the Battle of Mons representatives of the War Graves Commission in Brussels last Sunday, accompanied by the Burgomaster of Mons and in the presence of many notable persons, deposited wreaths on the graves of the British soldiers in the cemeteries of Mons and Saint Symphorien, and at the hamlet of La Boscule on the Memorial to the Dead of the Royal Irish Regiment.

In the afternoon at Ghent the Federation of Belgian Ex-Combatants inaugurated a commemorative tablet on the front of the small hotel where Nurse Cavell passed three nights in September, 1915.

Several persons who were concerned in passing over the frontier, young Belgians who wished to join the allied armies, stayed at this hotel, and speeches were delivered in memory of Nurse Cavell and extolling the proprietor of the hotel.

AMERICA'S UNDESIRABLES.

DEPORTATION OF EX-CONVICTS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK.

Alien ex-convicts gathered from all sections of the United States are arriving at Ellis Island for deportation. This round-up, it is reported, marks the first step by the Government in a campaign to rid the United States of all men of alien birth who have been helping to fill the prisons of the country. The last arrivals at Ellis Island were picked up in various Southern and Western cities, from New Orleans to Seattle. Apparently they have been living in America from one to five years. While some have completed their prison sentences months ago, the majority apparently have only been released recently.

It is the Government's policy to deport all offenders who cannot prove that they have been naturalised. Inspectors are visiting the various prisons investigating the number of alien criminals in the various institutions. In some cases warrants are left authorising the Governors to detain those wanted until the Federal authorities can deal with them.

BROADCAST GALE WARNINGS.

Arrangements have been made with the British Air Ministry for the broadcasting from the wireless stations at Valencia, Malin Head, Seaforth, Fishguard, Land's End, Niton, Wick and Cullercoats of more detailed gale warnings, so as to give an indication of the position of the centre of a depression and the direction in which the centre is moving. The amplified messages will begin on September 17.

ANOTHER AIR ACCIDENT.

TO WORK THE DAWES PLAN.

STAFF ARRANGEMENTS IN PARIS.

READY WHEN GERMANY RATIFIES.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

The first actual concrete steps toward creating the organisation necessary for putting into execution the Dawes plan are being taken to-day. Since the initialling of the London Agreement by the Allied and German delegates at the end of the Conference, a week ago, the Reparations Commission has been awaiting ratification of the agreement by the French Parliament and the Reichstag.

With the Chamber of Deputies' vote of 336 to 204, giving confidence to Premier Herriott, last Saturday, and indications from Berlin that the Reichstag will approve Chancellor Marx's policy, it is considered the plan is as good as adopted.

In order that no time may be lost when the London Agreement may be formally signed by the Governments concerned, the Hotel Astoria body has decided to proceed tentatively with the establishment of the personnel, which will be directly charged with handling the carrying out of reparations payments, as provided for by the experts' scheme.

Mr. Owen D. Young, who, with General Dawes, was the American member of the Experts' Committee, is now in Paris, and will be formally asked by the Reparations Commission to accept the post of "Agent-General" of that Commission to handle Germany's deliveries. Mr. Young has agreed to accept the post ad interim, and will proceed with the organisation of the necessary staff at once. He believes that the institution will be in proper running order in three months, at the end of which period he will withdraw.

Mr. Seymour Parker Lewis, Under-Secretary of the Treasury at Washington during the Wilson Administration, will be invited by the Reparations Commission to accept the post of Permanent "Agent-General of Reparations," and will carry on after Mr. Young relinquishes his task, following the completion of organisation and the launching of the scheme.

As at present envisaged the machinery for the execution of the Experts' plan will be quartered in Berlin. The staff will include a Bank Commissioner, in liaison with the new gold bank, which will control the currency and the issuing of the new paper; a Railway Commissioner, who will act with the new company which is to take over the Reich State railways; an assigned Revenue Commissioner, with deputies handling the various Budget items, whose proceeds are to go to reparations—tobaccos, alcohol, sugar, etc.; and the Transfer Committee, which will deal with the turning over to the Allies of their various proportions of reparations, as Germany pays them in.

In the coming week there will also arise the question of the American member, which the London Agreement provides shall be added to the Reparations Commission, giving the five votes which the Versailles Treaty originally contemplated, but which never existed since the United States did not ratify the instrument.

The delegates at the Hotel Astoria are unanimous in hoping that Colonel James A. Logan, who has been Washington's unofficial observer on the Reparations Commission since the departure of Mr. Roland W. Boyden, will accept the position of American member, and it is believed that he will be induced to accept.

GERMAN LEADER'S OUTBURST.

"WE ARE A KULTUR NATION."

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Monday.

In the Reichstag to-day, Dr. Hergt, Leader of the Nationalist Party, opened the debate on the first reading of the Dawes legislation, in a speech criticising the German delegation's tactics at the London Conference.

Since a two-thirds majority for the Dawes Railway Scheme Bill is only obtainable with Nationalist votes, the speech had been awaited with great interest. Herr Hergt frequently stated that his Party had no alternative but to oppose the measures. Herr Hergt's speech showed that the Nationalists believe it possible to reject the measures, and then reopen negotiations in the hope that a firm German attitude will achieve more than Dr. Marx and Herr Stresemann did.

His thunder, however, fell very flat, and the Centre and Left Parties were at times more amused than impressed at this exposition of the fantastic schemes of the Junkers.

Herr Hergt said that the Nationalist Party distrusted the attitude of the delegates sent to London. While the Nationalists might co-operate with the Government in domestic affairs, it was too much to expect them to extend that co-operation to acceptance of the agreement relating to the occupied territories. Nobody, he declared, had had the courage to confess that they were going to sign voluntarily another dictated agreement.

Speaking in excited tones, he concluded: "We are not an American nigger colony. We are a Kultur nation entitled to live. There is nothing left for us but a total refusal of approval from the Right."

Nobody in the world, he declared, believed in the possibility of executing the Dawes plan, with its intolerable burdens. Even the success of the loan, limited as it was, was by no means guaranteed.

This afternoon's comment in the Press and Lobbies is that Herr Hergt's speech represents a qualified rejection of the legislation. Strong efforts are being made to bring about a compromise, but the Tageblatt states that the price the Nationalists asked in return for their support of the Government was the Chancellorship, which, of course, was unacceptable.

Great importance is attached to a Nationalist interruption in the Reichstag, which appeared to indicate that the Party had decided to give its members a free vote. It is also reported that several Nationalist deputies are convinced of the wisdom of supporting the Government.

A FREE VOTE POSSIBLE.

BERLIN, Monday.

Whether the Dawes bills will be passed by the Reichstag next Thursday, when a vote is taken on the third reading, is a question still impossible to answer, for the intentions of the German Nationalists, who hold the fate of the bills in their hands, are still wrapt in mystery. Although the German National leader, Herr Hergt, in a long speech in the Reichstag to-day, declared, in the name of the party that the bills could not be accepted, it is by no means certain that all his followers will take his advice. As a matter of fact, it is more than probable that the party whips will be taken off when the fateful vote comes up, leaving each deputy free to vote as he pleases. In that event it is expected that a considerable number of the German Nationals, including Admiral von Tirpitz, will vote for the acceptance of the Dawes bills, and that the requisite two-thirds majority will, consequently, be forthcoming. Many German Nationals are likely to be influenced in their attitude by the numerous resolutions urging acceptance of the Dawes pact sent them by organisations of all descriptions, particularly from the occupied areas. However, at the present moment the situation is very obscure, and political circles are quite in the dark as to what Thursday will bring forth—the acceptance of the London pact, or the rejection, with the consequent dissolution of the Reichstag and new elections.—(Reuter.)

FRENCH SENATE'S APPROVAL EXPECTED.

PARIS, Monday.

It does not seem to be doubted in any quarter that the Senate will endorse the decision of the Chamber of Deputes, and give its approval to the London Agreement by a substantial majority. M. Poincaré's intervention in the debate, which opens to-morrow, and M. Herriot's reply to his criticisms, are, however, awaited with great interest.

M. Poincaré has already given an indication that the theme of his speech will be "a scrap of paper," for in an address which he intended to deliver yesterday at Rouvres, in the Meuse Department, but which was read in his absence, he said: "We are still waiting for a Germany which has the courage to throw over her old chiefs and which holds to her engagements."

It is anticipated that the Government will be asked to explain in more detail than was possible in the Chamber, the circumstances in which Marshal Foch expressed the opinion that no importance need be attached to the military occupation of the Ruhr in its relation to French security. This statement caused considerable surprise among the supporters of the Poincaré policy in the Chamber, and it is held to require some elucidation.—(Times telegram.)

"FAMINE PRICES."

BRITISH MANUFACTURER'S VISIT TO SWITZERLAND.

"Few British goods are to be bought in Switzerland," declares Mr. H. Baker, Secretary of the Midland branch of the National Union of Manufacturers.

"I have just returned from a tour of the chief pleasure resorts and some of the industrial centres of Switzerland," he says, "and one of the things which impressed me most was the almost complete absence of British-made goods offered for sale in the shops. That this should be so is really remarkable, for the goods that are offered for sale are almost invariably 50 per cent. higher than similar articles of British manufacture, and in many cases are nothing like so well made or finished.

"Watches and jewellery are marked at ridiculous prices in comparison with the same articles made in Coventry and Birmingham. Bicycles are about 60 per cent. higher, and boots are almost double the British price. Hosiery and Swiss-made lace are at famine prices, and outrageous charges are made for the small souvenir articles in wood.

"There is thus ample scope for the British manufacturer to push the sale of his wares. I asked in several shops for articles of British manufacture, and was told they had not got any, for the simple reason they were not brought to their notice. The tariffs in operation are not at all prohibitive, and when the high retail prices are considered there should be ample margin to enable our makers of small articles of everyday use to get a firm footing in the Swiss market."

AIRSHIP TO AUSTRALIA.

Sir Keith Smith has arrived at Sydney to undertake the supervision of the Australasian activities of Vickers Limited. He intends to investigate and lay the foundations for the proposed airship service between England and Australia. Sir K. Smith (says the Daily Telegraph Correspondent) is optimistic as to the commercial success of an Australian service, and confident that its popularity would be such that it would be unable to cope with the demand for passages. He emphasised the duty of Australians to support any aviation scheme calculated to assist the defence of the Commonwealth.

PERSIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

TEHERAN, Monday.

For reasons not yet divulged, the Cabinet Ministers have resigned. The Sardar Sipah retains the Premiership.—(Times telegram.)

OFFICERS OF CUSTOMS AND EXCISE.

DUBLIN AND THE PROVINCES.

DUBLIN.

A CITY GALLOP.—Christopher Murray, Holles street, driver of a two-horsed brake, was charged in Dublin yesterday with being drunk while in charge of the vehicle and also with furious driving. Policemen said that they saw the brake going down Cork Hill at a fast rate. Murray's brake upset two outside cars and struck a tram, but the defendant did not stop. In College Green the policemen stopped the brake by taking the reins from the driver, who was found to be drunk. Prisoner objected to the charge of drunkenness at the police station, and said that the hackney horses "shied" at the tram. He was fined 40s. for being drunk and 40s. for furious driving.

LEINSTER.

WILD SCENES IN WICKLOW.—For an hour on Sunday afternoon, Market square, Wicklow, was in an uproar, due to an attempt to hold a meeting in support of the Workers' of Ireland Union and opposition by local supporters of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union. The meeting was advertised for 3 o'clock, and when Messrs. Mitchell (Naas), Mulvey (Bray), and M. Malone (Ballyteskin, Wicklow), with a few supporters, entered Market square, a body of local labourers attacked the visitors. Mulvey and Malone were badly assaulted by the crowd, which threatened to throw them into the river. Women took the visitors' part, and attacked the crowd with stones. Mulvey was followed to High street, and there badly beaten again. The workers surrounded Mitchell, and threatened him with direst penalties if he attempted to hold a meeting and did not leave the town at once. The meeting was abandoned.

POST-OFFICE PROGRESS.—The mail service to Philipstown, King's County, is to be improved, says our local correspondent. The old system of conveying the mails by a horse-drawn vehicle is to be discontinued, and a motor service substituted. This will mean that the daily newspapers will reach the town by 10 a.m., instead of 3 p.m. as heretofore. (Philipstown is 66 miles from Dublin).

PRICE OF BARLEY.—Co. Wexford Committee of Agriculture has adopted the resolution of Co. Louth Committee proposing that a conference should be held with the object of taking joint action in stimulating the Government to proceed with the steps necessary for a prompt and satisfactory settlement of the question of the price of barley.

GIRL'S SUICIDE.—"Suicide while temporarily insane" was the verdict of a Coroner's jury, at an inquest held at Kilrush, Enniscorthy, on Friday, concerning Johanna Hayden, aged 25, whose body was found hanging from a tree on her father's land. No evidence was forthcoming at the inquest as to a motive for the act.

WEXFORD COTTAGE PRIZES.—The prize-winners in the championship class of Co. Wexford Agricultural Committee's cottage prize scheme were:—Henry Stevens, Ferns, Lower (1); John Thorne, Bree, Enniscorthy (2); and Mrs. Honora Rowe, Ballymacar, New Ross (3).

HOUSES AT £250 IMPOSSIBLE.—Thomastown District Council has been unable to obtain contracts for the erection of labourers' cottages at a cost of £250 each, and has decided to abandon the housing scheme.

MUNSTER.

CORK CORPORATION ENGINEER.—Cork Corporation has decided to advertise for a City Engineer, at an initial salary of £800 a year, increasing by annual increments of £25 to a maximum of £1,000, the age limit to be 45 years. A Board of Examiners has been appointed to select a suitable applicant.

LORD DUNALLEY'S ESTATE.—It is stated that a part of the Kilboy estate of Lord Dunalley is to be divided into small holdings and given to uneconomic holders. Lord Dunalley intends to rebuild his house, but not on such elaborate lines as the one destroyed.

NENAGH WATERWORKS.—A deputation from the Nenagh Urban Council has been received by the Minister of Finance to ask for a loan of £6,000 for improving the waterworks.

PRISONERS' DRIVER THREATENED—At Macroom, Co. Cork, Bridget Kelly was summoned for attempting to obstruct the administration of justice by threatening the driver of a motor car engaged to convey prisoners to Cork Prison. She is alleged to have said that if he drove the car "his grave was made." She was fined 20s., and was ordered to be imprisoned until the rising of the Court. Nancy Sullivan, for a similar offence, was fined 5s. and ordered to be imprisoned until the rising of Court. A like charge against Mary Dennehy was withdrawn because the health of the defendant, it was stated, was not good. Jeremiah O'Leary, chauffeur, was summoned for attempting to obstruct the administration of justice by refusing to drive a motor car conveying the prisoners. The District Justice held that the prosecution could not be sustained, and the case was accordingly dismissed.

NENAGH CARNIVAL.—Nenagh carnival and fancy fair, in aid of the Nenagh Commercial Rowing Club, opened in the show grounds last Sunday afternoon, and will be continued for a week. The various games realised £100 during the day.

ULSTER.

THREATS WITH GUN.—At Bailieborough, County Cavan, William Byers was bound to the peace in £150 and two sureties of £75 each for following Frederick Love, Carnalynch, with a gun and threatening to blow out his brains. The defendant denied the charge.

Major E. J. Manders, Killiney House, Killiney, County Dublin, is taking care of a stray carrier pigeon, marked N.U.R.P. 24 U.C., and other figures.

William Felt, a coal carter, was thrown from his cart at Kingstown yesterday and killed. The horse took fright at the noise of shunting on the coal quay.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

EX-SERVICE MEN'S CARNIVAL.—An ex-Service men's carnival was opened in Belfast yesterday. A parade was held early in the morning, decorated motor cars and a festooned tram car being included in the procession through the city. The Lady Mayoress, in opening the carnival, said that a very gratifying thing to her was that they had not become careless of their ex-Service men. That was as it should be, for the services of sacrifice of those gallant men on their behalf, when the fate of the nation hung in the balance, could never be forgotten.

MAN WITH 111 CONVICTIONS—Thomas P. Coulter, Tomb street, was charged at the Belfast Custody Court yesterday with being drunk and disorderly and with assaulting two policemen. He was ordered to pay 40s. for having been drunk and disorderly; £5 for the assault on Constable McClinton; £5 for the assault on Constable Millar, and ordered to find bail for his future good behaviour, himself in £10 and two sureties of £5 each. It was stated that there was a record of 111 previous convictions against the accused man. Asked if he could get bail, and how much, Coulter said—"I believe I could get up to a couple of hundred pounds."

SOFTENING THE BLOW.—John Nelson, New street, Sion Mills, was fined £4 at Strabane yesterday for taking salmon from the River Mourne without a licence on August 8, and £10 for illegally fishing for salmon with a pole net in the close season. The Bench recommended that the first fine be reduced to £2, and the second to £4.

ENDORSEMENT FOR FIRST OFFENCE. Enniskillen magistrates decided to endorse the licence of a man who was fined £1 for riding a motor cycle at a dangerous speed. It was his first offence, and the resident magistrate said that he was opposed to endorsements for first offences.

OLYMPIC CHAMPION AS PREACHER.—Mr. Eric Liddell, the Olympic athlete, who holds the world's 400 metre and the British 100 yards "records," and was also a Rugby International, addressed a large audience in the Ulster Hall last Sunday evening. His address on "The Entrance Form" was full of religious feeling.

KILLED BY MOTOR CAR.—James Clawson, aged 30, of Blackwood street, Belfast, was knocked down by a motor car at the Ulster Cricket Grounds, Belfast, late on Saturday night, and died later. Thomas Lowe, Carryduff, Co. Down, was charged in the Belfast Custody Court yesterday with the manslaughter of Clawson, and remanded for a week on bail.

STREET FRUIT SELLER FINED.—George Magee, Balfour avenue, was fined 40s. and costs in Belfast yesterday on a charge of obstruction in Church street with a handcart, from which he was selling fruit. There were 32 previous convictions for this class of offence.

Harold McCann, Lisadian, Hillsborough, Co. Down, was fined 20s. and costs in Belfast yesterday for a breach of the Sheep Dipping Order.

In the Belfast Summons Court yesterday, James Holly, of Bangor, was fined 20s. and costs for standing for hire with a motor coach in Oxford street without being in possession of a driver's licence.

FREE STATE DEATH-RATE.

FIGURES FOR TWELVE TOWN DISTRICTS.

The Registrar-General's returns for the week ended Saturday, August 16, 1924, show that the deaths from all causes in the undermentioned areas for that week and for the past four weeks respectively were equal to the following annual rates per thousand of the population:—Twelve Town Districts, 11.8 and 11.7; Dublin Registration Area, 11.5 and 11.4; Dublin City, 11.0 and 11.7; Cork, 17.7 and 15.7; Limerick, 6.8 and 10.5; and Waterford, 9.5 and 14.7.

The deaths from the principal epidemic diseases registered in the twelve town districts during last week were equal to an annual rate of 1.0 per 1,000. There was one death from influenza among the four deaths from all causes for Wexford.

In the Dublin Registration Area the total number of births registered during the week amounted to 273—134 boys and 139 girls—and the deaths to 105—59 males and 46 females.

The deaths registered, omitting the deaths (numbering 9) of persons admitted into public institutions from localities outside the area, represent an annual rate of mortality of 11.5 per 1,000 of the population. During the 33 weeks ending with Saturday last the death rate averaged 16.9, and was 3.0 below the mean rate for the corresponding portions of the ten years 1914-1923. The rate for all deaths registered during the 33 weeks was 18.5, and during the corresponding periods of the preceding ten years 21.5. Included in the 96 deaths appertaining to the area are 2 from diphtheria and 11 from diarrhœal diseases. In the three preceding weeks deaths from diphtheria were 1, 1, and 1; and deaths from diarrhœal diseases were 7, 6, and 6. There was one death from encephalitis lethargica.

Tuberculous disease caused 14 deaths (of which nine were from pulmonary tuberculosis, two from tuberculous meningitis, and three from other forms of tuberculous disease), as against nine, six, and nine from all forms of tuberculosis in the three weeks preceding. Fifteen deaths were caused by cancer and 12 by diseases of the heart. There were three deaths from broncho-pneumonia and six from bronchitis. Two acidental deaths were registered.

Amonk deaths of infants under one year old, one was due to diphtheria, eight were due to diarrhœa and enteritis, one to premature birth, and one to congenital debility.

Eighteen of the deaths registered during the week, appertaining to the area, were those of children under five years of age, 12 being infants under one year, of whom one was under one month old, and 24 deaths were those of persons aged 65 and upwards, of whom 19 were 70 years of age or over.

Of the 96 deaths recorded, 50 occurred in hospitals and other public institutions.

FAMOUS HUNT SAVED.

A short time ago it was decided to sell the Tanat Side Harriers Pack, as financial support for the Hunt, which is about 150 years old, was not forthcoming. At a special meeting at Llanymynech, Oswestry, last Saturday, it was announced that the Master, Colonel John V. Campbell (the Tally Ho V.C.), had agreed to carry on, the supporters promising to try to find the money. The old North Montgomeryshire country has been loaned to Colonel Campbell to hunt over in order to extend the influence of the Tanat Side Hunt. Colonel Campbell appealed to the farmers to take their wires down and stock the country with hares.

RUBBER easy, ½c. to ⅜c. lower. First latex crepe, 37; smoked ribbed sheets, 26½.

COFFEE opened firm, 5 to 26 points higher, on favourable Brazilian markets, and further improvement was made on buying by importers, New Orleans interests and commission houses. The market closed steady at 15 to 25 points up. Spot firm at ½c. rise. Stocks of Brazilian coffee in the United States amount to 452,000 bags, compared with 435,000 last week. The week's warehouse deliveries total 136,000 bags, against 100,000 last week. Future options—Sept., 15.75; Oct., 15.60; Dec., 15.30; March, 14.95; May, 14.63. Approximate day's sales, 32,000 bags.

COTTON opened weak, 105 to 120 points down on the bearish Government crop report, selling by foreign interests and weak cable advices. Further reductions took place owing to the disappointing export demand, favourable official weather reports, stop loss orders, weakness at New Orleans, the disappointing attitude of spinners and the unsatisfactory spot situation. There were partial rallies subsequently on better Manchester advices and covering of shorts, and the market closed steady, although 105 to 118 points lower. Spot steady at 115 points loss. New Orleans spot, 138 points down. Receipts—Atlantic ports, 2,000 bales; Gulf, 9,000; Pacific, nil. Exports—Great Britain, nil; Continent, 2,000; Japan, nil. THE COTTON CROP.

The following cablegram from Mr. Arnold Pearse, Secretary to the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners, dated Greenville, Miss., 23rd August, was received in Manchester yesterday:—"Chief Government Weevil Station at Tallulah informed me to-day, in the following words:—'Little weevil damage done in Southern section west of Alabama, which, with the exception of South Texas, damage is negligible. Infestation in the Gulf States is increasing rapidly, and may do considerable damage in Georgia and North and South Carolinas. Georgia will certainly not make top crop, except where the fields are poisoned.' Since the 16th of August, to which date the Government report refers, heavy weevil migration towards the North has started. In the other parts of the belt the bottom and most of the middle bolls are made, and the weevil cannot have much effect there. The army worm is suddenly becoming threatening in the North of Texas and Arkansas. This is likely to injure the grade and somewhat the yield."

CHICAGO, Monday.

WHEAT opened firm, 1c. to ⅜c. higher, owing to strength at Winnipeg, firmer Liverpool cables and buying by cash houses, but reacted on advices of favourable weather in the Canadian North-West, larger interior receipts and liquidation. The market rallied again, however, on commission house buying, rumours of export business, covering of shorts, a demand from millers, adverse reports and higher cash markets. The closing was steady at 1⅛c. to 1c. gain on the day. Spot easy. No. 2 hard winter spot, 123½; No. 3 hard winter spot, 123½. Futures—Opening options—Sept., 124; Dec., 128½. Closing options—Sept., 124½; Dec., 128½; May, 134½. Receipts—Western points—To-day, 3,751,000 bushels; last year, 3,112,000; this season, 114,597,000; last season, 90,365,000.

MAIZE opened easy at ⅛c. decline, on more favourable crop news, favourable weather and liquidation; then rallied on commission house purchases, covering of shorts and in sympathy with wheat. Values weakened again, however, on selling by cash houses and realising, and the market closed irregular, 1¼c. down to ⅛c. up. Spot No. 2 mixed, 114. Futures:—Opening options—Sept., 112½; Dec., 105½. Closing options—Sept., 111½; Dec., 105½; May, 107.

OATS steady and unchanged to ⅛c. higher. Futures:—Closing options—Sept., 47½; Dec., 50½; May, 54½.

PROVISIONS opened easy, and prices declined owing to heavy hog receipts in the West, unfavourable European advices, heavy liquidation and stop loss selling. There were partial recoveries later, due to short covering and buying of packers, and the market closed irregular, with lard 2½ points down to 2½ points up, and ribs 5 points higher. Lard—Closing options—Sept., 13.02½; Oct., 13.10; Dec., 13.07½. Ribs—Closing options—Sept., 11.65; Oct., 11.80; Dec., unquoted.

BACON steady at 12½ points rise.

OFFICIALS LYNCHED.

25 DEATH SENTENCES IN RUSSIA.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW.

Twenty-four men, and a woman school teacher named Ivanova, have been sentenced to death by the Soviet Court at Nicola for killing three Communists, as an act of revenge for their violation of the school teacher, Ivanova. Under the new Moscow Order, all school teachers have been examined by a special Board to determine their political views. The special Board entered Ivanova's house and violated her. She organised a band of friends to revenge the outrage, and the band lynched the three Communists, the school teacher herself shooting the chairman of the special Board.

BRITISH CONTROLLED OILFIELDS.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS PENDING.

We learn that developments, which may prove to be of considerable importance, are pending in connection with the British Controlled Oilfields, says the Financial News. The development of the Buchiovacoa Concession in Venezuela has been the main object of the company's activities, and the good results achieved in the El Mene field, which is in the west of the property, and which is being worked by the company itself, have been followed by the granting of options on the central and the eastern areas. The Standard Oil interests have exercised an option on the eastern area, and the Sinclair interests had been granted an option on the central area. Further contracts for the sale of the oil from the El Mene field, which is of the highest quality obtained in Venezuela, have been entered into with the Shell group, and a 4in. pipe line constructed to carry the oil to Altagracia, by means of which regular deliveries are taking place; while the Shell interests have contracted to take the oil pumped through a second 6in. pipe line, which is under construction, and of which about one-third has already been completed.

The company has suffered losses in the past such as were inseparable from an undertaking of this character, owing to the vast area of the various concessions. Of recent years, however, steady progress has been made. We understand that several schemes which have been put forward for the reorganising of the company have been rejected, but that there is now under consideration a plan, of which the directors have a high opinion. Should the scheme be carried through the board will be strengthened, and a considerable sum of working capital be provided. We are informed that no immediate need exists for new capital, and it is only a few months back that a considerable sum was obtained by the sale of the company's interest in the V.O.C. Holding Company. The new money, however, will enable a more rapid development of the Buchiovacoa concession, which has already been proved to be an extremely valuable property.

In view of the negotiations now in progress, no definite statement can yet be obtained as to the terms of the scheme, but it is probable that an official announcement may be made within the next few days.

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

The Bishop of Limerick hopes to attend the Murren Conference, which takes place early in September, consequently the dates of the Diocesan Councils will be somewhat later than usual. The Ardfert Council will meet on September 16th, and Limerick on the 19th.

The Rev. Cyril du Cros has been licensed to the Curacy of St. Mary's Cathedral and Parish, Limerick.

The Rev. R. A. Armstrong hopes to enter on his duties as Rector of Kenmare in the middle of September.

Arrangements are being made for lectures to Sunday School teachers in Belfast from September 23rd to 26th. The following have promised to take part:—The Dean of Belfast, the Archdeacon of Down, the Rev. P. W. N. Shirley, the Rev. M. Williams, the Rev. C. H. P. Lyndon, the Rev. C. J. McLeod, Miss Harrison and Mr. J. Hinde.

The death is announced of the Rev. W. Siers, who was for many years Rector of Newtowngore. Mr. Siers had been in charge of Morvah, a tiny parish in West Cornwall, for the last eighteen months. This parish of Morvah is now being offered to any retired clergyman who can take one Service a Sunday.

SHOT AFTER ENNIS MEETING.

A WAYSIDE SCENE DESCRIBED.

In the Boardroom of Barrington's Hospital, Limerick, yesterday, Dr. T. Foley, Deputy Coroner, Limerick City, resumed the inquest on the body of Michael Hartnett, who was fatally shot while driving from Ennis after the De Valera meeting on the evening of the 15th inst.

Mr. Vincent Rice, K.C. (instructed by Mr. H. O'B. Moran, State Solicitor) appeared for the State; Mr. A. E. Woods, K.C. (instructed by Mr. C. Ebrill) represented the next-of-kin, and Mr. M. Tynan, Solicitor, represented Private McDonell, a member of the military party who "held up" the cars.

Mr. Woods said that he should like to say that the Civic Guard had given every possible assistence in obtaining evidence.

James O'Donnell, Limerick, stated that he left Ennis with a party in a motor car at 7 o'clock on the 15th inst. At the Limerick side of Clarecastle he heard shots, and saw soldiers on the road-side. They gave no signal to halt, and after going a hundred yards past the scene of the shooting, he heard somebody at the back of the car saying that they were hit. He was told to drive to the next house to get aid, and they had just stopped at a cottage when a car came along with the Civic Guards. The witness told them what had happened, and asked them to get a priest, and they did so. Hartnett died immediately afterwards. The remains were then taken to Barrington's Hospital.

To the Deputy Coroner—There was a van in front of him near Clarecastle.

By Mr. Rice—He was travelling at 15 miles an hour, and passed an ordinary Ford van painted green. He did not hear soldiers calling to halt.

Mr. Tynan—Dr. Dundan stated that he was shot from the front. That being so he should have been standing up in the car.

BULLET MARKS ON CAR.

Mr. Rice—Was there anything to prevent any of you hearing the challenge that evening? No, for while at the cottage a lorry of military coming from the direction of Limerick drew up and spoke to some of the witness's party. The motor car was bullet-marked in the back, sides, radiator and front. The deceased man was seated at the back of the car, behind a Mr. Wall, who was beside the witness. Next to Hartnett was Mr. D. Bourke and Mr. Fitzpatrick. The motor car in front of him was not halted by the military.

To Mr. Rice—He heard the sergeant of the Civic Guard say that he would send a man to Limerick with the body.

To a Juror—There were about five or six shots fired. He saw the soldiers in position, and thought it was a joke. He saw one man at the end of the squad fire, but there was other shots fired by members of the squad.

The foreman said that, having seen the motor car, the jury appeared to think that the medical evidence did not "square" with the bullet marks on the car. The doctors stated that the deceased man had an entrance wound in front and two exit wounds.

The Deputy Coroner said for that reason he had four doctors at the post-mortem.

William Wall, William street, Limerick, who was in the motor car, stated that he was seated next to the last witness. When they got over the bridge at Clarecastle they passed the van, and then saw three soldiers and then two more soldiers with guns presented. Next he heard shots from the soldiers. Farther down he saw a soldier, who fired at the car; he fired in all three shots. He next heard the words from the back of the car: "I am hit, and I am done." They then drove to the nearest house, after which the Guards went for the priest.

By the Deputy Coroner—He heard six or eight shots.

To a juror—He saw one soldier fire at least three shots.

To Mr. Woods, he said that he heard no challenge given, and did not know what the soldiers were there for.

To Mr. Tynan—He would say that it was from the front that the man was shot.

Mr. Woods—Did you hear or see any signal to halt? Not the slightest.

Did any of the soldiers come on to the road to stop you? No. They never came off the path.

James O'Donnell, junior, said that he was in the car with the last witness, whose testimony he corroborated in detail.

Replying to Mr. Rice, he said that after the first shots the car put up speed. He heard no challenge to halt. There was no remark passed by those in the car about the firing.

Daniel Bourke, another occupant of the car, described the shooting. He saw a soldier lift his rifle and fire, and the deceased man said to him (witness)—"Dan, I am wounded. I am done; I am done." The witness showed the bullet marks to an officer, who said that he did not understand it. He heard in all about a dozen shots.

To Mr. Rice—The deceased man never turned in the car to look back. He heard a number of shots discharged before Hartnett was wounded. He had no theory to offer how Hartnett was struck in front.

By Mr. Woods—There was no signal or warning given by the military to stop the car; he did not see the soldiers stop any car.

LIMERICK MAN'S STORY.

Edward Punch, of Curry place, Limerick, stated that he was in Ennis on the day in question, and was returning in a green motor van. As he was passing over a bridge he saw two soldiers with rifles at the "easy." When he got over the bridge a car passed out and fire was opened. The witness told the driver to pull up to ascertain the cause of the firing, and as he stepped out of the van he asked the soldiers what the firing was about. One asked him where was Ned Punch, and the witness said that he was gone home by train. (Laughter.) Then there was a sort of melée on the road for a time, and the witness was told to proceed. At that time he did not know that anyone was shot.

The Deputy Coroner—Were you challenged to halt? No.

Were you searched? No; but two other men in the car were. There were six or seven shots fired.

By Mr. Rice—There were seven men in the car, and a kind of melee took place with them and the soldiers. He had no idea that the military were looking out for him, but he thought when they asked for Ned Punch that the safest course was the best. That was the reason that he told them that Ned Punch was gone home by train.

Mr. Rice—Could you identify the soldier who you say was putting a bullet into the breach of his rifle? I could not; I was confused at the time.

James Purcell, High Park, Caherconlish, the driver of the van in which the last witness travelled, deposed to seeing a soldier standing on the footpath near Clarecastle and pointing a loaded rifle at him. The witness asked him what was he going to fire at, and he replied, "Why did you not halt"? The witness answered that he did not see him open his mouth.

The inquest was adjourned until this morning.

AEROPLANES FOR THE AMIR.

BRITISH AIRMEN IN AFGHANISTAN.

SIMLA, Monday.

The two British aeroplanes which were recently despatched to Kabul at the request of the Amir, have been purchased by the Afghan Government, after demonstration flights over Kabul and its vicinity. The British airmen, who were received in audience by the Amir yesterday, have left Kabul for Peshawar.

TRADE UNIONIST'S SUICIDE.

Richard Henry Figg, forty-two, trade union organiser, of Clifford road, Ipswich, posted a despairing letter to his wife, announcing his intention to take his life. Subsequently his body was found in the river at Yarmouth. At the inquest, last night, his son stated that the deceased had been worried by the building trade strike, and said that he feared his brain would give way. A verdict of suicide during temporary insanity was returned.

Jack Bloomfield, the boxer, was married yesterday, at a London Registry Office, to Miss Ray Pauline Frances. She was accompanied by her stepfather, Mr. Reggie Levy. The couple have gone to Ostend for the honeymoon.

THE LISMORE DISASTER.

MORE EVIDENCE ABOUT THE LIST.

NAVAL ARCHITECT'S EXAMINATION.

Mr. George P. Cussen, LL.B., District Justice, assisted by Captain J. H. Webb and Captain Louis Brady, master mariners; Mr. F. G. Miller, marine engineer, and Mr. W. J. Mares, naval architect, resumed the inquiry into the loss of the Lismore, which foundered sixteen miles off the Hook Head, County Wexford, on the 10th July last and became a total wreck.

Mr. A. E. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. Costello (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) appeared for the Department of Industry and Commerce; Mr. E. J. Smyth represented the Department of Transport and Marine, and Mr. Overend, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. D. and T. Fitzgerald), appeared for the owners, the City of Cork Steam Packet Company, Ltd.

William Kingston, C.E., employed at Henry Ford and Sons, Cork, gave evidence of having seen the Lismore passing down the River Lee on the evening of the 10th July. When opposite Monkstown she had a list of about five degrees to port. He could see the vessel a quarter of a mile away, and she was coming "end on" towards him.

William Coleman, Transport Department, Messrs. Ford's, Cork, gave evidence that the Lismore arrived at Messrs. Ford's wharf at about 8 o'clock on the 10th July and started unloading at 12 o'clock.

John Moore, a cattle drover, stated that when the first batch of cattle were put on board the ship took a list to port, and when she left on her voyage she still had the list to the same side.

Michael Griffin, a craneman at the Great Southern and Western Railway Company, Cork, said that when he saw the Lismore going down the river she had a list to port, and he remarked to the man who was working with him that she might settle down when she got out to sea.

SURVIVOR RECALLED.

John Carley, the sole survivor of the Lismore, recalled by Mr. Swayne, stated that he did not think that the Lismore had to be put "hard over" when the vessel left Penrose quay, because she was an easy vessel to handle. He was called to his watch that night by a man named Watson, who told him that he was going down to the after-deck to clean the scuppers.

Did you notice when you got on deck that the vessel had a greater list than she had when you left Cork?—Yes, undoubtedly. Continuing, he said that he did not know when the vessel had left Penrose quay that her course was altered. She did not turn at any time towards the land, and he did not notice any water coming in on the starboard side.

When you were called did you hear anything unusual?—I heard the telegraph bell going and a noise of breaking before she went over.

Replying to Mr. Overend, he contradicted the copy of the ship's log as to the time that the ship came to the quay in Cork.

To Mr. Cussen—I was very much alarmed when I was called that night and saw the list that the ship had.

Did you wonder when you saw the state of the ship that you were not called much earlier?—I certainly did, when I came on deck and saw how the ship was.

Asked his opinion why all hands had not been called on deck at an earlier hour, he replied—"Well, sir, I don't think the captain had been on deck during the watch. If he had, as a man of so many years' experience, he would have naturally called all the men on deck."

Mr. R. W. Sinnott, general manager Cork Steampacket Company, stated that he saw the Lismore at Penrose quay at 11 o'clock on the 10th July.

Mr. J. McIntyre, assistant general manager of the company, gave corroborative evidence. He had no doubt that the Lismore was at Penrose quay between 10 and 11 o'clock on the 10th July.

Michael Murphy, watchman in the employment of the owners, stated that he went on board the vessel at Ford's wharf at 8 o'clock on the morning of the 10th July, and at 10 o'clock they left the wharf and went up Penrose quay, where they arrived at about 10.30.

Mr. Cussen intimated that unless Mr. Swayne had further witnesses to call regarding the time that the Lismore came to Penrose quay on the morning of the 10th July, the Court had heard sufficient evidence to enable them to make up their minds.

EXPERT'S EVIDENCE.

Mr. David Free, Naval Architect, employed by the Ardrossan Shipbuilding Company, gave evidence of having prepared the plans of the Lismore.

Replying to Mr. Swayne, he said that increased draft would not improve her stability.

Asked as to whether there were any special features for a vessel for cattle carrying purposes, he said that it was not advisable to have a vessel "much too stiff" in a seaway. An easier roll was desirable.

Assuming that the vessel had these lists, of which evidence had been given, and that the Court came to that conclusion, what do you say, as an expert, would have accounted for the list—would it be due to the loading?

It might be due to distribution of weight.

Mr. Cussen—Supposing on what was known as the boat deck there were sheep equally distributed to port and starboard, would it have any effect in making the vessel less stable? If you had a vessel loaded in a particular way, completely loaded, and then if sheep were added above on the top deck and evenly distributed, that would effect the stability of the vessel somewhat, and would reduce the margin of stability.

Replying to Mr. Swayne, he said that he never contemplated that cargo would be put on the forecastle and boat decks.

Can you say, as an expert, what, in your opinion, is the probable cause of this disaster, using your best judgment in the matter?——

Mr. Overend objected unless he had an opportunity of asking him a few questions first. In any event, the question was one for the Court.

Mr. Cussen said that the Court would suggest that the witness should give the diagramatic summary of weights, and that today he might give an answer to (1) whether, on account of the distribution of the weights, it brought about the list; (2) would that have accounted for the increasing list, and (3) would it be the cause of the ship's ultimate disaster?

The witness said that he could not reply to these questions thoroughly. They were too much for him, and he could not answer. He would, however, endeavour to work out the matter.

Answering Mr. Overend, he said that it was a common practice to put cargo on the forecastle, poop, and bridge decks.

The inquiry adjourned till 11 o'clock this morning.

WOOL TEXTILE TRADE.

EMPLOYERS' WAGE TERMS ACCEPTED.

Another year of peace is assured to the wool textile trade by the acceptance yesterday by the Executive of the National Association of Unions in the Textile Trade of the employers' offer to continue the present agreement for another year. An application for an advance had been put forward by the unions. This the employers refused, and they offered the continuance of the existing agreement. A ballot of the employés went nearly three to one in favour of accepting the masters' offer. Nearly 200,000 workers were involved.

CROWDED LONDON.

Official reports from the Tower of London, the British Museum, Hampton Court Palace, and the Zoo, show enormously increased numbers of visitors, compared with last August. The Tower had ninety per cent. more for the first twenty days of August than in the corresponding season of last year, while at the Zoo, up to August 17, 288,786 had passed the gates. At Westminster Abbey, which is open every day except during Service hours, visitors pass in by the north door at the rate of 800 an hour.

Thousands of ladies keep a box of Martin's Pills in the house. Those who use them recommend them, hence their enormous sale. Price 5s. Sold by all Chemists and Stores; or post free from Proprietors, Martin, Chemists, Southampton.—(Advt.)

TOURIST TRAFFIC.

BETTER HOTELS AND ROADS NEEDED.

Sir Thomas Robinson presided yesterday at a meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club in Clery's Restaurant, the guests including ex-Judge Cohalan, of New York; Mr. Stephen McFarland, New York; Mr. Stuart Morrow, Oaklands, California; Mr. John Hand, Hamilton, Bermuda.

Mr. George E. Smyth, O.B.E., and Mr. Fred L. Barrett, who were delegates from the Dublin Club to the recent Rotary International Convention at Toronto, each gave an interesting account of their journey by sea and land, and of their experiences in Canada. Mr. Smyth described their reception, and spoke of the spectacle of 10,000 delegates, representing 100,000 rotarians from countries as far apart as Ireland and Japan.

Toronto, he said, was full of Irishmen who had made good by hard work and steady application. It was very significant that during the week over which the Convention lasted representatives of several different branches of thought, religious and political, found a place on the same platform, and pleaded earnestly for the same ideals.

Mr. Barrett said that among the numerous congratulatory telegrams received from different countries that which came from the Irish Free State was given the place of honour, and was the first to be read. What struck him particularly was the large number of Irish-born people who were employed in Toronto.

AN OPPORTUNITY.

Ex-Judge Cohalan, who was called upon by the President, said that it was astounding what a large number of persons of Irish blood were to be found in every city in America and in Canada. It would be more satisfactory to him, and to every Irishman, if places could be found for them in Ireland. The population of Ireland within half a century had been depleted by half through emigration. That was an unhealthy condition of things.

The Irish people now had an opportunity of mending that state of affairs. They ought to stand together and take action for their own interests. Statistics compiled by the United States showed that 518,000,000 dollars were being spent by American tourists in Europe. If the right methods were adopted fifteen or twenty millions of that money might be spent in Ireland. It would not take a great deal to do it, if Ireland's business men stood together, and advertised the country in the way it should be advertised.

One could drive around Dublin at all hours of the day and night with perfect safety, and he could candidly say that there was no more beautiful city in Europe than Dublin. The shops were splendid, and the goods were being sold at a reasonable price. Why did not Irishmen stop the stream of gold that was being carried past their shores by tourists to the Continent? Let the roads be made so that motor cars could travel over them in reasonable safety; let hotels be provided in which travellers could be put up in comfort, and let the transport system be improved. He could travel from one end of America to the other in comfort at a quarter of the price that he had to pay here. That was a matter that ought to be corrected.

STANDARD PRICES.

The business men of Ireland could set about doing what other countries had done. They should treat the tourist or the traveller as they would the native in the matter of travel and hotel prices. They should take their profits by increased sale instead of taking the last cent. There ought to be a standard charge for those things, and the stranger ought not to be charged more than the native. (Hear, hear.) Reports reached America that every tourist was over-charged, and there was much truth in it. One dissatisfied traveller would do more harm to the country than twenty satisfied travellers.

Mr. Stuart Morrow, as a native of Dublin, said that he was proud of the progress of the Dublin Rotary Club, of which he was the founder.

Mr. McConnell, Hon. Secretary, announced that the Council of the Club had appointed a special committee to consider the housing question. It ought to put the business men of Dublin to shame, he said, when they saw that the Rev. David Hall had tackled the question successfully, and that he was, with the aid of the St. Barnabas's Utility Society, going to build 5,000 houses. If the members of the Rotary Club took the matter up and did something on parallel lines it would help to solve the vital problem.

A CORRECTION.

Subsequent to the meeting of the Rotary Club, Mr. Smyth, Traffic Manager, G.S. and W. Railway, referring to Mr. Cohalan's remarks, told our reporter that during his recent visit to Canada he found that the hotel charges were double those of either London or Dublin, and that as regards railway rates ex-Judge Cohalan was probably comparing ordinary travel in America with first-class travel in Ireland. First-class railway accommodation in Ireland, he said, was fairly comparable with Pullman accommodation in America.

MEATH COUNTY COUNCIL

RIVAL TRADE UNIONS.

At the meeting of the Meath County Council yesterday, the question of the recognition of rival trade unions was discussed.

A letter was read from the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, stating that there was considerable friction in this matter Different groups of individuals had set up organisations and labelled them trade unions. They urge the County Council to make its position perfectly clear, by extending its previous resolutions regarding trade unions, so as to indicate a union affiliated with the Irish Trade Union Congress and Labour Party.

Mr. Finn said that any friction in the Transport Union should be settled by themselves, without putting the responsibility on the Council.

The Chairman (Mr. O'Dwyer) said that the Council had ordered that members of any trade union were eligible for employment under the Council.

Mr. Ginnity proposed that both the Workers' Union of Ireland and the Irish Transport Workers' Union should be recognised.

The resolution was passed, and Mr. Ginnity's resolution was amended, so as to include any registered trade union.

FALL FROM A TRAIN.

NEWRY BOY KILLED.

An inquest was held in the County Antrim Infirmary yesterday on the body of Hugh Magee, aged seven, of Canal quay, Newry, who was fatally injured by falling from a train on the Great Northern Railway on Saturday.

From the evidence it appeared that the boy was being taken from Belfast to Newry by his mother. Between Lisburn and Maze Stations the carriage door opened and the boy fell out on the line. A young man in the carriage pulled the communication cord, but the train did not stop until it reached Lurgan. When the boy was taken to the infirmary it was found that he had two compound fractures of the skull, a fracture of the right thigh and contused wounds on the head and right leg. He died on Sunday morning.

Samuel Moore, who was in the carriage, expressed the opinion that the boy was holding on by the door. He did not think that a boy of his age could open the lock.

Evidence was also given that the doors on the train was secured before they left Belfast. The lock on the carriage was found to be in working order after the accident.

The jury found that the boy died from injuries received by falling out of the train, and that there was no evidence to prove that the lock of the carriage was in perfect order.

HULL'S COAL EXPORTING PROSPECTS.

Representatives of Northern European Chambers of Commerce, including Finland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, France, Belgium, and Holland, visited Hull yesterday to inspect the facilities of the port with a view to the promotion of trade. They were guests of the Hull Chamber. At a conference it was stated that Hull would become the largest coal exporting centre in the country when the new coalfields in South Yorkshire were developed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE POSITION OF NORTHERN IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I am sorry to trouble you with another letter on the above subject. My excuse is an earnest desire for peace and unity throughout the whole of Ireland. At present our two States are as far apart as the poles. Only the principles of truth and justice can bring them together. Failure to understand each other's position leads to misrepresentation, misrepresentation causes irritation, and further alienation.

Mr. E. J. Duggan has issued a statement on Article 12 of the Treaty which, on the whole, is fair-minded and reasonable and instructive. But on one point he seriously misrepresents the position of Northern Ireland. Four times he speaks of "the secession of Northern Ireland from the rest of the country." In the view of Northern Ireland it was the rest of the country which seceded from Northern Ireland. Before the Treaty the whole of Ireland formed a part of the political unit known as the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. All that the Ulster colony asked for was to be allowed to continue in this political unit undisturbed. This is its position to-day. Southern Ireland insisted on secession. Immobility, rather than secession, is the characteristic of Northern Ireland.

Having had its territory and Constitution established by the King and the Imperial Parliament, Northern Ireland awoke on the morning of December 7, 1921, to find that, without its consent and without its knowledge, during the previous night its whole State had been swept away, and it was—theoretically, at least—included in a new State, with a new Constitution. If the signatories to the Treaty desired to make the opposition of Northern Ireland as hard as adamant, they could not have adopted more effective means. To call their opposition to such a transference "secession" is only adding insult to injury.

Mr. Duggan states further:—"First. Northern Ireland, as a unit, was to be given the power to 'determine' whether it should remain in or secede from the Free State Second, and as a necessary corollary, those inhabitants of the area included in Northern Ireland who desired to remain in the Free State were to 'determine' their own destiny." A fine example of heads, I win; tails, you lose!" Was ever an election carried out on such a principle? Why was there not an article inserted in the Treaty that those in the Free State area who desired to remain in the Union should be allowed to "determine" their own destiny?—Yours, etc.,

THE BOUNDARY PROBLEM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I knew a case of a dispute between two men over a farm in a parish not far from here. The Protestant farmer had a right to the land, which he had purchased many years ago, but the Roman Catholic farmer wished to have it back, right or wrong, as it had been formerly owned by a member of his family, who had sold it many years ago and gone to America, where he died. The trouble over this farm became very sore, and at length some shrewd men suggested an arbitration on the present value of the farm. The question was, however, who could be found worthy and willing in the parish to act as arbitrators.

At last the Roman Catholic farmer asked the parish priest and the Protestant farmer asked the Protestant rector if they would act as arbitrators. The two clergymen agreed to accept the responsibility on condition that the two contestants would sign a written guarantee to abide by whatever compensation they agreed upon to be given for the surrender of the farm. The result was that a final settlement was made, peace was restored to the parish, and the plain men and women of the neighbourhood were delighted.

Someone will reply: What has this parochial molehill to do with the mountainous boundary line, or what analogy can there be between them? Much every way. The wise Latins have a noted proverb, "Ex uno disce omnes." I know of two distinguished, outstanding Irish Church dignitaries who were once upon a time plain, humble, parish priests in their respective Churches, and now they occupy the highest positions—men of light and leading, who are revered, trusted, and looked up to, not only by the Irish nation, but by Christian men and women throughout the civilised world.

These noted ecclesiastics, I imagine, almost live on the Northern boundary and know the people on both sides of the boundary line, for does it not lie within the precincts of their archdiocese? The intelligent reader does not need to be told that I refer to Cardinal Logue and Primate D'Arcy.

If President Cosgrave and Sir James Craig approached these Archbishops of their respective Churches and asked them of their charity to help to settle this problem, even for a few years, could they have the heart to refuse? Why go to Africa or even to England for arbitrators when we have the "Big Four" at home? Remember the legend of the magpie which went miles for a stick to build her nest, and when she looked down from her perch saw a better stick beneath the tree whereon she was constructing her nest. Ireland never at any time had greater need to take to heart and carry out St. Paul's motto—"Live in peace and the God of Peace shall be with you."

Then He will hear our prayers for fine weather to save the harvest, which stands in great peril at present.—Yours, etc.,

"PAX."

TAX ON FOREIGN PARCELS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The Postmaster-General states in the published notice in your paper regarding the tax of 6d. for delivery of parcels, from the 1st September, posted outside the Free State, that the Post Office does not seek to benefit by the charge, it being merely to benefit the local trader. How will the tax contributed be allocated if the Post Office does not claim it for its own purposes?

Is a Postmaster-General empowered to impose any new post office tax that he fancies; if so, when will that power cease?

Some months ago the Postmaster-General proposed in the Dail that all owners of wireless sets should be compelled to purchase £50 Savings Certificates, which are issued by the Post Office. The President remarked his proposal was "outlandish." Now the former, apparently on his own initiative and responsibility, with no one to question him, imposes this new tax. If the Postmaster-General would wish to attend to public convenience, he might affix clearance labels to the letter receptacles belonging to his department. They were displayed for a short time some weeks ago, but have again been suddenly removed. Why!

—Yours, etc., L. P.

RECENT WILLS.

Mr. Albert George Keen, of Oakfield, Woodbourne road, Edgbaston, a member of the firm of Messrs. Smith, Keen, Barnett and Son, stockbrokers, Colmore row, Birmingham, a director of the New Cransley Iron and Steel Co., Kettering, and of the Scottish Union and National Insurance Co., who died on July 12, aged 49 years, son of the late Mr. Arthur Keen, a former chairman of Messrs. Guest, Keen and Nettlefolds, Ltd., left estate of the value of £102,554, with net personalty £100,250. The testator left £2,000 to the Birmingham and Midland Free Hospital for Sick Children, £1,000 to the Convalescent Hospital for Children, Moseley Hall, and £1,000 to the Convalescent Home for Children, Bromsgrove.

Mr. Frederick William Berk, of Inglewood, Oaklands road, Bromley, Kent, and of Messrs. F. W. Berk and Co., manufacturing chemists, of 1 Fenchurch avenue, E.C., who died on June 23 last, left property of the value of £79,067, with net personalty £75,214. The testator left £25 a year for twelve years to the Mennonite Community, Crefeld.

Mr. John Smalley, of Turntree House, Whittlesey, Cambridge, farmer, who died on February 19 last, has left estate of the value of £114,245, with net personalty £76,007.

Major-General William Alexander Lawrence, late 7th Dragoon Guards and 1st Bengal Cavalry, of 25 Pembroke Gardens, South Kensington, who died on July 8 last in his eighty-first year, left property of the value of £15,666, all of which he leaves on trust for his wife and family.

Sir Robert Townsend Farquhar, sixth Baronet, of 5 Oriental place, Brighton, formerly an active worker for the Conservative cause in Westmorland and Cumberland, and for twenty years a member of the committee which organised the Grasmere sports, who died on June 30, aged eighty-two years, left property of the gross value of £3,375.

ITALIAN AIRMAN RESCUED.

ADRIFT ON DISABLED MACHINE.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

A message from the cruiser Raleigh says:—"Locatelli was sighted by the Raleigh; time, 23.24; latitude, 59.56; longitude, 39.48. He was embarked as passenger. All well."

Engine troubles forced Signor Locatelli to alight on the water last Thursday, and he was unable to get the aeroplane into the air again. They drifted one hundred miles. The Italian flier and his companions were uninjured, though worn out with fatigue. Locatelli's aeroplane will be destroyed in accordance with his wish.

NEW ENGINES FOR AMERICANS.

The American world-fliers announce from Ivigtut, Greenland, that both their machines will be overhauled and the engines changed before their departure for Indian Harbour.

One of the floats of Lieutenant Smith's machine was damaged by the ice before he left Fredericksdal.—(Reuter.)

ITALY'S THANKS.

ROME, Monday.

The Italian Naval Attaché in Washington, having telegraphed to Admiral Thaon de Revel, Minister of Marine, the congratulations of the United States Navy Department on the finding of Lieutenant Locatelli and his party, the Minister has cabled a reply expressing his joy at the news, and begging him to convey to the United States Navy Department, on his own and the Italian Navy's behalf, an expression of keen satisfaction and gratitude at the camaraderie shown by the Americans in their generous and efficient rescue of the Italian aviators.—(Reuter.)

ALPINE ACCIDENTS.

GUIDE AND TOURIST KILLED.

INTERLAKEN, Monday.

There were two mountain accidents in this neighbourhood recently. Peter Gertsch, a Swiss guide, aged 23 years, crossed the Upper Grindelwald glacier alone, carrying wood when as a result, it is believed, of the collapse of a snowbridge, he fell into a deep crevasse His body was found by a search party.

A party of three German climbers, former officers, who set out to climb the Jungfrau peak, without a guide, were overtaken by a snowstorm and turned back. One of them, Dr. Fiege, of Breslau, fell and injured his head. A search party brought them to their hotel, where Dr. Fiege expired last night.—(Reuter)

AUSTRIA'S FINANCES.

DR. REISCH AND LEAGUE COMMISSIONER.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Monday.

Dr. Reisch, President of the Austrian National Bank, has made public a sensational letter, in which he accuses Dr. Zimmerman, High Commissioner of the League of Nations, of undermining international confidence in Austrian credit by his last reports to Geneva. Dr. Zimmerman, in these reports, criticised the policy of the National Bank in granting too large loans to other banks and industries.

Dr. Reisch affirms that Dr. Zimmerman is encouraging speculators to renew their attacks on Austrian currency, which for the last two years has maintained stability. There is a certain amount of pessimism in Vienna regarding Dr. Zimmerman's reports, because of the arrival here of the League Finance Commission to control the Austrian Budget.

The Austrian Foreign Minister, Herr Gruenberger, and Finance Minister, Kienboeck, informed your Correspondent that they desired to make it clear that the Austrian Government, in spite of the present business crisis in Vienna, is hopeful and willing to give the League Commission the fullest facilities to examine the State public finances.

We have nothing to conceal, declared Herr Kienboeck, because of the fact that for the first six months of 1924 our Budget balanced. July only showed a deficit of forty-two billion crowns, which was covered from the reserve fund of the League of Nations loan. There is no reason for pessimism. We are sure the Commission will accept our proposition and augment the Budget expenses to correspond with present necessities.

COYOTE FUR.

NEW SIDELINE FOR PRAIRIE FARMERS.

REGINA, SASKATCHEWAN (By Mail).

Domestication of coyotes for the commercial production of fur has been successfully inaugurated in Saskatchewan. Coyote farming promises to become, among the small farmers of the prairie provinces, as popular a side line as silver fox ranching.

Mr. D. J. Doerksen, of Rush Lake, the pioneer of the new industry, found, five years ago, a den of coyotes pups on his farm. He was attracted by the furry little animals and, out of curiosity decided to keep one, feeding it with milk and gophers. Soon it became so tame that it played with the children, and evinced no desire to return to the wild haunts of its parents. After the domestication of the first puppy, Mr. Doerksen caught several others. These he raised without difficulty, and laid the basis for a successful commercial enterprise. By catching other animals, in addition to increases from breeding, he has since added new stock at the rate of fifty a year.

"Domesticated coyotes," said Mr. Doerksen, "become very tame. They are more playful than dogs. They are fed, in addition to milk and gophers, on oatmeal, rabbits, and scraps from the table, and tamed, grow much larger than in their wild state. Their fur is just as rich, consequently the pelts bring higher prices."

Mr. Doerksen believes there is much money to be made in coyote breeding in Western Canada. Last year he sold 150 pelts at £3 each, and since the Spring this year has received orders for puppies from several hundred farmers in Saskatchewan, Alberta, and Manitoba, where heavy land settlement is developing agriculture at a rapid rate. Coyote litters, he says, are large, ranging from six to ten puppies.

THE LATE SIR FRANCIS STRONGE

The Archdeacon of Clogher, at morning service in Kilbroney Parish Church, Rostrevor, on Sunday last referred to the loss which the parish had suffered in the death of Sir Francis Stronge.

The remains of the late Sir Francis Stronge were taken from Kilbroney yesterday, by motor hearse, for burial in the family vault at Tynan, County Armagh.

The funeral procession was met outside the village by the members of the parish Church, who walked with the chief mourners:—Sir James Stronge, Bart., Tynan Abbey (brother); Mr. William Stronge (cousin), and Mrs. Harvy, Wexford (cousin).

The service in the Kilbroney Parish Church was conducted by the Rev. E. D. Atkinson, LL.B., rector, assisted by the Archdeacon of Clogher. The 39th and the 90th Psalms and the hymns "Gracious Spirit" and "Peace, Perfect Peace" were sung.

The service at the graveside in Tynan churchyard was conducted by the Rev. W. Fitzmaurice, rector of Tynan.

ZEPPELIN'S TRIAL TRIP.

It is announced from Bale that the management of the aeroplane works at Friedrichshafen has decided to carry out, at the end of this month, a trial trip across Swiss territory, of a new Zeppelin built for the service with America.

It is added that the necessary authorisation for crossing over Swiss territory has already been granted by the Federal Council.

The programme of the flight includes Zurich, Lucerne, Berne, and, eventually, the south of the Black Forest via Bale.

The Acting Foreign Minister of Egypt, Ziwar Pasha, gave a banquet last Sunday night at Alexandria, at which Mr. Clark-Kerr, the Acting British High Commissioner, as well as other members of the Residency staff and a number of prominent British residents, were present.

PROMPT ACTION NEEDED.

MR. WICKHAM STEED'S IRISH IMPRESSIONS.

Mr. Wickham Steed, editor of the Review of Reviews, has returned to London from a visit to Ireland.

When editor of The Times, Mr. Steed took an active part in bringing about the change of opinion which led to the signing of the Irish Treaty. In Dublin and Belfast he has had personal interviews with the Free State and Ulster leaders.

The Press Association is informed that these impressed him with the extreme gravity of the situation. He believes that only by prompt action on the part of the British Government can peace be preserved, and a settlement be promoted in Ireland.

BOUNDARY PROBLEM.

SIR MALCOLM McNAGHTEN'S VIEWS.

Addressing the North Derry Unionist Association at Limavady yesterday, Sir Malcolm McNaghten, K.C., M.P., said that Ulster accepted the 1920 Act as a final settlement, and it would be unconstitutional for the Imperial Government to alter her territory without her consent.

Northern Unionists could not consent to more of their fellow-Unionists being taken from the protection of the Union Jack and placed under the domination of what tomorrow might be a Republic. What they had they would hold. Sir Malcolm added, "If any person—be he Secretary for War in London or Minister for Defence in Dublin—tries to turn us out of Derry, and a single life is lost—that man will be guilty of murder, and will be liable to be indicted for murder."

He was confident that if the people stood firmly united the integrity of the six counties would be maintained. Their watchword, as of old, was "No surrender."

TREATY AND 1920 ACT.

REPLY TO ULSTER ASSOCIATION.

The following statement was issued yesterday by the North-Eastern Boundary Bureau in Dublin:—

"The attempt of the Ulster Association, in its statement of Saturday, to discover errors in Mr. E. J. Duggan's statement on the position of Northern Ireland in relation to the Treaty is best answered by a reference to the speech delivered on the same day by an authoritative Ulster Unionist spokesman, Lord Londonderry. The latter stated the real situation created by the Treaty when he said: 'That Treaty—that arrangement between England and the Free State—constituted the whole of Ireland as a Free State, regardless of the solemn enactment of the 1920 Act, and contained provision which gave Ulster power to opt itself out of the jurisdiction granted to the Free State'; and again: 'To take no action, and to disregard the operation of the Treaty, constituted Ulster a portion of the Free State.'

"It is useless in this connection to hark back to the Act of 1920, since the Treaty (ratified in the British Parliament) included the whole of Northern Ireland in the Free State. That it was so included is obvious from the very words of the Address to the King passed by the 'Senators and Commons of the Parliament of Northern Ireland' on December 7th, 1922, in which they 'pray Your Majesty that the powers of the Parliament and the Government of the Irish Free State shall no longer extend to Northern Ireland.'

"Thus Mr. Duggan was entirely correct in speaking of the 'secession' of Northern Ireland from the Free State and of the desire of the Nationalist population of Northern Ireland to 'remain in' the Free State.

"The British Parliament by ratifying the Treaty, in fact, altered the Act of 1920 in several respects. It abolished the Parliament and Government of Southern Ireland altogether, it placed the whole of Ireland in the Free State, it provided for the redrawing of the boundary of Northern Ireland in the event of its secession, and it made a number of minor alterations affecting Northern Ireland which are to be found in the Consequential Provisions Act. These last it did by unilateral legislation, concurrent legislation by Northern Ireland not being required.

"Since the British Parliament, by passing the necessary legislation, demonstrated at the time its competence to alter the Act of 1920, it is too late to challenge that competence now."

REPUBLICAN POLICY.

PREPARING FOR GENERAL ELECTION.

Speaking at a Republican meeting in Roscommon on Sunday, Mr. Gerald Boland, T.D., said that he would never let the Republic down. Mr. De Valera stated that they had no new policy; it was not necessary. They wanted to get back to the old position of 1921. It was possible to do so, and not necessary to get artillery to achieve it. Mr. Thomas said in the British Parliament that they would not get a Republic, but they would tell him frankly they would.

Their powers were not confined to this country alone, but extended quite as far as England's. They would smash the English Empire from within. If England were wise, she would extend to them the hand of friendship, and tell them to manage their own affairs. England's power was not gone from Ireland; it was not Cosgrave or O'Higgins that managed this country, but Thomas, an English Minister. Every army fought for its political rights, and the Republican Army would fight till freedom was won.

Let them start their clubs, and be ready for the election, when it came. Some people thought that there would be an election in six months. Let them get the Free State Government and England out, and make it a prosperous and progressive nation. Let them organise and get ready, and at the next election return, not two, but four, Republican members to represent them.

GOOD NEWS FOR MANCHESTER.

The Federation of Master Cotton Spinners in Manchester will shortly consider the question of increasing the number of working hours in the mills spinning American cotton. At present the mills are working only 26½ hours a week. The probable change is due to better reports about the condition of the American cotton crop.—(Reuter.)

ASSAULTS BY STRIKERS.

TWO MEN SENT TO JAIL.

Sentences of imprisonment, with hard labour, were imposed by Mr. E. Collins, K.C., yesterday in Dublin in cases of assault arising out of the strike at Inchicore Railway Works.

Christopher Walshe and Patrick Duffy, both of Railway avenue, Inchicore, were charged with assaulting John Conway, Leinster Brickfields, Inchicore.

Conway stated that on Tuesday last, when going to a plot near the railway, he was met by a hostile crowd. They turned him back, and he was obliged to take refuge in a friend's house. Six men rushed in and pulled him out. Walshe struck him with his fist in the face. He was knocked down on the road and kicked. Duffy did not touch him. Walshe was the ringleader. The witness said that he was not on strike and had no connection with anyone on strike at Inchicore.

Detective Officer Leonard said that Walshe when arrested admitted having pulled Conway out.

Walshe, in the course of evidence, stated that he did not assault Conway. He had nothing to do with the strike and was not on strike. He helped to pull Conway out through excitement.

Mr. Collins sentenced Walshe to two months' imprisonment, with hard labour. Duffy was bound over on his own bail.

Thomas Keogh, Donoghue street, Inchicore, was remanded until to-day on a charge of using threatening and intimidatory language towards John Conway on Saturday last. Bail was allowed.

A BLACK LIST.

John Joseph Campion, an employé of the Great Southern and Western Railway Company, who is on strike, was charged with intimidating and assaulting John F. Cole, who is working at Inchicore.

The plaintiff stated that on Friday night in James's street Campion struck him in the face and called him a "scab."

Police Sergeant 46 A stated that when arrested the prisoner stated that he had pushed Cole off the footpath in order to get him away from an argument that was going on. In Campion's possession he found a list containing the names of men employed at the Inchicore Works. This included the name of Cole, who was described as a blackleg, with the note: "These men are Englishmen belonging to the N.U.R."

The prisoner, giving evidence, said that he had made a mistake in pushing Cole off the footpath. He did nothing else. He was a shop steward belonging to the Workers' Union of Ireland. The list was one that he would make out in the ordinary course of his duties.

Mr. Collins remarked that the case was not so bad as the other one and imposed a fine of 20s.

"A BAD CASE."

A sentence of six weeks, with hard labour, was imposed on Thomas Lee, who was accused of assaulting James Farrelly while the latter was cycling home on Saturday from the Inchicore Railway Works, where he is employed at the gas works.

The plaintiff stated that Lee and several other men followed him on cycles, knocked him off his machine and hit him in the face.

Lee denied having committed the assault, and stated that the plaintiff [illegible] (prisoner's) job.

Mr. Collins said that the case was a bad one and imposed the sentence mentioned.

BIG PACKING COMPANY'S AFFAIRS.

A RECEIVER APPOINTED.

NEW YORK, Monday.

The Wilson Company, one of the largest firms of packers in the country, has gone into the hands of a receiver at Trenton, New Jersey, to-day. This news, which was the feature of the day in financial circles, affected the whole of the packing shares, which fell 2 to 4 points, and bonds from 5 to 7 points.

The receivership was made on a petition by a company holding a small stockholder. The receivership order was made in court by the Vice-Chancellor, Mr. John Backes. The State Banking Commissioner, Mr. Edward Maxson, has been appointed Receiver, and he has ordered the company to appear in the Chancery Court here on September 2nd to show cause why the receivership should not be made permanent. His order was accompanied by an injunction restraining the plaintiff company from disposing of any assets.—(Reuter.)

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

OPENING DAY AT YORK.

LIKELY WINNERS THIS AFTERNOON.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

YORK, Monday Night.

There is fair promise of an excellent meeting here during the next three days. A good deal of rain has fallen in Yorkshire, and the going may incline towards the heavy side, but except in the event of a deluge it seldom gets very heavy on Knavesmire, for the most elaborate attention is paid to the course. Indeed, great attention is paid to every detail here, and it is one of the few meetings in England of which it can be truthfully said that nothing is spared to provide for the comfort of the public or to render the racing the best that can be seen anywhere in England. Owners and trainers, too, respond splendidly to the efforts of the Executive, and one can be always assured of racing of the very best type under the best circumstances at this meeting.

An important defection from the Ebor Handicap, to be run on Wednesday, is Mr. Adam Scott's Jazz Band, who was struck out on Saturday, the notification being issued this morning by the Registry Office. There is nothing fresh to add to what I wrote last night about this race, and I shall be able to deal with it more fully in a final summing up to-morrow night.

A big batch of nearly fifty horses arrived here this afternoon from Newmarket, but the two-year-old Diomedes is not among them, and this confirms what I suggested last night, that Mr. Beer was more likely to keep him for the Palatine Nursery at Manchester than to run him against the older horses here. Top Gallant has been sent to run for this race, as has Ecila. Top Gallant, except for his effort in the spring has shown little of his old form this year, and anyhow I think he is better over six than over five furlongs. The going may not altogether suit Ecila either. It can be taken that Beresford and Heverswood will not run. Purple Shade will also be absent, so I must fall back on MUMTAZ MAHAL as the likely winner, even though she may not be suited by the conditions.

Sir John Rutherford's Sun Worship colt has not been sent for the Prince of Wales's Plate, but Oojah is here. He may, however, be reserved for the "Gimcrack." I like best the chance of Lord Derby's colt GRANDPRE, who is confidently expected to win.

Mr. Albert Lowry has sent his Phœnix Park Plate winner, Pons Asinorum, to run for the Badminton Plate. I think we may count on the absence of the brilliant Hurst Park winner of Saturday, Loddington. Pons Asinorum has to give 10lb. to Basil Jarvis's colt, Valdore, and I do not think he can do it. Anyhow, I take VALDORE to win.

Straitlace misses the Yorkshire Oaks, in which the Whatcombe filly, CHARLEY'S MOUNT, is so well treated that she is likely to win. The danger to her may be one of the Manton fillies, probably Jura. The Wykeham Three-Year-Old Handicap is a fairly open event, and I select Mr. Hugh Stobart's colt, WYKEHAM, to win.

ASSOCIATION.

ARRIVAL OF SOUTH AFRICAN XI.

The members of the South African Association Football Team, who arrived at Southampton yesterday, and proceeded immediately to London to enter upon intensive training, are all in the best of condition, states Reuter. They benefited greatly by their voyage. Good weather enabled them to carry out their usual training exercises twice daily, and they took a large part in the sports on board. The news that their tour had been re-arranged at the last minute caused them some perturbation. It had been expected by the team that the first match would be at Wimbledon on Saturday week, but they learned that the English authorities had now arranged a match in Dublin next Saturday. The prospect of considerable travelling at the commencement of the tour is not relished by the team, but it is hoped that the continuous training on board ship will have fitted them for all the demands they may have to meet.

SWIMMING.

SANDYCOVE.—100 Yards Berne Memorial this evening, at 6.30 sharp.

MOTOR CYCLING.

LEINSTER "HUNDRED." CORRECTED PLACINGS.

The list of placings and times of the finishers in the 100 miles handicap of the Leinster Motor Cycle and Light Car Club, which were published in our issue of yesterday, was handed to the representative of the Press late on Sunday afternoon as the "final and official" list. It contained two obvious errors. If the times returned for J. C. Cathcart and T. F. Slevin were correct their placings were wrong. These errors have now been officially corrected, and Cathcart goes into third place, displacing C. Gill from that position, and Slevin is placed in front of W. Colgan. J. Healy (A.J.S.), of Cork, who was at first returned as having finished in 9th place, and was subsequently deleted from the list of finishers, has now been replaced in his original position, his handicap time being 2 hrs. 22 mins. 46 secs., and his actual time 1 hr. 53 mins. 16 secs. G. Briggs, 976 c.c. Brough Superior, has also been declared officially to have finished with a handicap time of 2 hrs. 26 mins. 28 secs, and a net time of 1 hr. 49 mins. 58 secs, his position being 18th. The official list of finishers is, therefore, extended to 20, and all of them, after the first three men, receive gold medals.

As Briggs has now been declared to have finished, he becomes entitled to the special award for the fastest machine of unlimited capacity, presuming that the judges interpret the phrase "unlimited capacity" as meaning a machine of over 600 c.c.

The winner of the race, Mr. Gordon Burney, was riding a 2¾ h.p. Enfield, which gave no trouble. The only stop was to fill with petrol and oil. The machine and trophy are now on view at Burney Brothers' Depôt, 67 Great Brunswick street, Dublin.

OPEN HILL-CLIMBING HANDICAP.

The Dublin and District Motor Cycle Club has arranged to hold an open hill-climbing handicap on Saturday next, under the permit for an open event granted to them for that date by the Motor Cycle Union. The event will take place at De Selby Quarries Hill, near Tallaght. The competing machines will be divided into classes according to their cubic capacity as under:—Light-weights up to 250 c.c.; machines up to 350 c.c.; machines up to 600 c.c., and a class for machines of unlimited capacity. There will also be a car class without capacity limit, and an unlimited c.c. sidecar class.

YACHTING.

THE WATER WAGS—LADIES' RACE.

The last ladies' race was sailed yesterday evening, and was won by Tomboy, steered by Mrs. Donnelly, which boat just beat Wendy (Miss S. Rose) by 7 secs. in a good finish. It was quite a nice evening for a race, there being a steady westerly breeze blowing, when five boats—Wendy, Tomboy, Phyllis, Pansy, Barbara, to name them in the order in which they crossed the starting line—were sent away over the starboard course, at 6.40 p.m. They went away on a short turn to windward, and finished each round with a beat, and Wendy held her lead during the first round. On the second, Tomboy caught her and led for the remainder of the race. Pansy carried away her jib halliards and gave up. Finish:—

Helmswoman	H.	M.	S.
Tomboy (winner), Mrs. Donnelly	7	24	45
Wendy (2nd prize), Miss S. Ross	7	24	52
Phyllis, Miss Jacobs	7	25	38
Barbara, Miss Wigham	7	26	12

Mr. H. R. Newland was officer of the day.

BRITANNIA WINS AT TORBAY.

The King's yacht, Britannia, won the chief event at Torbay Royal Regatta yesterday. In a stiff westerly breeze, which held throughout the race, she defeated Sir C. Allom's White Heather over a 40-mile course, and Mr. Weld's Lulworth was a poor third. Britannia led from the start, and outpointed White Heather. Starting at 10.30 a.m., the finish was timed:—

	H.	M.	S.
Britannia	2	42	3
White Heather	2	45	6
Lulworth	2	51	8

International 12-metre Class. Course—30 miles. Start—10.45 a.m. Finishing times:—

KENT V. SOUTH AFRICANS.

INNINGS DEFEAT OF COLONIALS.

Dismissing the South Africans twice for an aggregate of 329 runs after declaring at 418 for six wickets, Kent, at Canterbury yesterday, gained an outstanding victory over the tourists by an innings and 89 runs. Apart from an admirable display by Deane in each innings, the South African batting was deplorably weak. In half an hour Knott and Collins added 33 to their partnership on Saturday of 53 before Kent declared. Though the pitch was still in capital order, the South Africans were dismissed inside two hours and a half for 135. Half the side were out directly after lunch for 71, but Deane obtained 43 of the last 64 runs in an hour, his figures including six 4's. Bowling down slope, Wright, by keeping a capital length and making the ball nip quickly off the pitch, was at times unplayable, and, taking four of the last six wickets at a cost of 35 runs, his full analysis was five for 39. Following on, and requiring 283 to avoid an innings defeat, the tourists fared little better. This time it was the slow bowling of Freeman that proved destructive, and they were all out at half-past six o'clock at 194. Deane and Nupen, however, put on 66 for the second wicket in an hour. Fifth out, Deane again did splendidly on the leg side, and in a faultless display which lasted eighty minutes he got the ball to the boundary seven times. Hitting vigorously, Pegler and Blanckenberg added 67 for the ninth wicket in half an hour, Blanckenberg driving with tremendous power and hitting eight 4's. Score:—

SURREY V. YORKSHIRE.

So far from Yorkshire recovering from the disastrous start made at Kennington Oval on Saturday, when they lost three batsmen for 16 runs, their seven remaining wickets went down yesterday inside two hours for the addition of 84. Something much worse than this threatened the Northern county at first, Sadler bowling with such effect that the visitors' score, with seven men out, was only 40. Yorkshire were saved from utter failure by Macaulay and Wilson, who stayed together forty-five minutes, and added 34, but Fender finished off the innings by taking three wickets for 7 runs. Macaulay, carrying out his bat for 34, played a fine game for his side for ninety-five minutes. Following much rain on Sunday the ground was soft, but in the entire absence of sunshine the pitch, though slow, was not exceptionally difficult, and the conditions in no way excused such a team as Yorkshire being dismissed so quickly. Sadler got two men out in the first over, and altogether took five wickets for 29, hitting the middle stump three times.

Left with the lead of 109, Surrey, after commencing the second innings, set to work in a most determined fashion. Admirable bowling by Macaulay and Kilner, each of whom repeatedly got up in awkward fashion, was backed up by very keen fielding, and, although Hobbs brought off fine strokes at intervals, sixty-five minutes most interesting cricket had produced only 48 runs, when Hobbs, taking his first liberty, was easily stumped. Peach, gave little trouble, but following his departure came some more skilful and watchful batting by Sandham and Knight, who in forty-five minutes added 35 runs before Knight, reaching forward, was smartly stumped. Joined by Jardine, Sandham was hit several times in playing Macaulay, and these knocks seemed to rob him of all vigour. Still Jardine made some fine strokes before being sent back at 122 by Kilner, who kept up his form in marvellous fashion. In fifteen minutes afterwards Sandham and Shepherd put on only 3 runs, and then rain delayed the progress of the game for twenty minutes. On resuming Shepherd was bowled, and Sandham stumped in last over of the day. Sandham played a wonderfully sound and watchful game for nearly three hours and a half. He hit four 4's and three 3's. Surrey left off 267 ahead, with four wickets to fall. Score:—

NOTTS V. WARWICKSHIRE.

Before rain set in yesterday and prevented further play at Trent Bridge after tea, Notts found run-getting against the Warwickshire bowling on a soft wicket such an easy task that after batting four and a half hours they were enabled to declare with a lead of 193, and only five wickets down. G. Gunn and Whysall shared in a splendid first innings stand, producing 218 in three hours and ten minutes. Gunn, who escaped when 17, otherwise played faultlessly. Whysall gave a brilliant display of driving and leg hitting, obtaining his first 50 out of 71 in an hour, requiring a further eighty minutes to complete his 100, and altogether he defied the varied attack for three hours and twenty minutes. After tea, and before a resumption could be made, drizzling rain came on, and Carr promptly declared. The downpour, however, continued, ending play for the day at 6.20. Score:—

GLOUCESTERSHIRE V. MIDDLESEX.

When rain brought play to a close at Bristol on Saturday an innings aside had been completed, and Middlesex led by 43. Yesterday, when the pitch still favoured the bowlers, Gloucestershire lost Seabrook and Dipper with only 12 of the arrears wiped off. From that stage the game steadily veered round in their favour. The turning point came during a splendid partnership between Hammond and Lyon for the third wicket. Both batted with such confidence that 87 were scored in an hour. Following the departure of Lyon at 99 three more wickets fell quickly. This in no way disturbed Hammond, who went on batting so brilliantly that soon after being joined by his captain he completed 100 out of 160 in two hours and a quarter. Before they were parted 71 were added in sixty-five minutes. Hammond received further valuable assistance from Parker and Dennett, with the result that when the innings was declared with a total of 294 for 9 wickets he was not out 174. This is not merely the highest, but the best display he has ever given. His only chance during a stay of nearly four hours was a hard one at 157. He hit one 6, twenty-one 4's—good evidence of accurate timing and skilful placing. Driving and cutting were the outstanding features of his innings. Needing 252 to win, Middlesex had fifty-five minutes' batting, and Dales scored well, and Lee showed such defence that 46 were made for the loss of only one wicket. Score:—

SOMERSETSHIRE V. WORCESTERSHIRE.

Rain curtailed play at Taunton yesterday by fifty minutes, and Worcestershire, who won the toss and batted first on a dead easy wicket, made none too good a start, for they lost four wickets for 41. Pearson alone showed enterprise, and he was bowled by an extraordinary full toss by White the first delivery he sent down. Then the outlook for Worcestershire was changed by M. K. Foster, who, after toiling forty minutes to get ten runs, all singles, hit the Somerset bowlers very hard, and with rare discretion. His most helpful partner was Shakespeare, who stayed with him eighty minutes for the sixth wicket, during which 84 runs were added, Shakespeare getting the ball to the boundary three times. Foster was batting eighty-five minutes for his first 50, and seventy minutes for his second, his innings lasting two hours and three-quarters, during which he gave only one chance, Daniell missing him at cover when 98. He was ninth out, and hit 11 fours and 3 threes. Hunt had the best bowling analysis of 5 for 51, though Foster scored 19 off two overs from him. Somerset had an hour's batting, and MacBryan and Young were none too comfortable at the start, but they sent up 50 in forty-five minutes, and at the close of play Somerset were 131 runs behind with all their wickets in hand. LEICESTERSHIRE V. SUSSEX.

Remarkable fluctuations attended the play at Leicester. On a rain affected wicket, combined with bad light, Sussex have established a lead of 118 with three wickets standing. Leicestershire, continuing their first innings with Dawson and Fowke, experienced a bad time on a damaged wicket, for Dawson and the remainder of the side, with the exception of Fowke, were quickly sent back. The Leicestershire captain offered a stubborn resistance, taking an hour to add 3 runs, and was batting altogether three hours and fifteen minutes, hitting only one 4. He gave one hard chance. The innings lasted three hours, King being unable to resume consequent on a split finger. Sussex had twenty-five minutes' batting before lunch, Bowley and Cornford scoring 14 without loss. Afterwards, at the fall of the second wicket for 19, Tate in partnership with Bowley played splendid forcing cricket under the most trying conditions. In forty-five minutes he put together 53 out of 77 added for the third partnership. Often in difficulties, he hit with great power and resource, his strokes including one 6 and five 4's. A. H. and A. E. Gilligan both failing, half the side were out for 100. Bowley, missed when 1, was batting two hours forty-five minutes, hitting six 4's, on drives; and Grimston and Watson, both forcing the pace, took the total to 231 for seven. Score:—

ESSEX V. NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

On a slow wicket at Leyton the bat always beat the ball, and Northamptonshire, fortunate in obtaining the first innings, stayed in all day to score 314 for the loss of six wickets. Except for a bright innings by Haywood, who, driving powerfully, hit up 63 out of 81 in fifty minutes, including two 6's and seven 4's, most of the batsmen adopted steady methods. A valuable opening partnership between Denton and Woolley realised 104 in one hour and three-quarters, and gave the other batsmen great encouragement. Both men scored chiefly by well timed cuts, while showing skilful defence. Denton stayed to make his highest score this season, making 80 out of 228 in three hours without the least mistake before being caught by Gully just after the tea interval. Douglas then bowled well for half an hour or so, a splendid ball beating Haywood, who had previously lifted Hipkin clean over the pavilion roof. All day the weather remained overcast, and eventually slight rain and bad light stopped the cricket at twenty minutes past six. Score:—

LANCASHIRE V. HAMPSHIRE.

After a blank opening day on Saturday, there was sufficient improvement in the weather at Old Trafford to allow of Lancashire's concluding home fixture, in which Hampshire provide the opposition, to commence yesterday. The joy of the few hundred spectators, however, was of short-lived duration, for the cricket was confined to two periods of forty minutes each, one before and one after lunch. At no time were the conditions ideal, and drizzling rain falling almost throughout, eventually put an end to the proceedings shortly before three o'clock. The light, too, was bad, while the batsmen, bowlers and fieldsmen alike found much difficulty in obtaining a foothold on the wet turf. In the circumstances, Lancashire did as well as could be expected in scoring 79 without loss. Score:—

LAWN TENNIS.

THE AMERICAN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

FOREST HILLS, August 25.

Eighty-two competitors, representing eight nations, have entered for the Men's National Singles Lawn Tennis Championship, which began to-day. The present holder of the title is W. T. Tilden. Details:—Borotra (France), the holder of the Wimbledon Championship, beat Carl Fischer (U.S.)—6-2, 6-4, 6-3; Kelleher (U.S.) beat Norman E. Brooks (Australia)—0-6, 9-7, 6-2, 6-2. P. O'Hara Wood (Australia) beat Throckmorton (U.S.)—6-1, 6-2, 6-2; Gerbault (France) beat Newell (U.S.)—6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

BILLIARDS.

W. P. McLEOD v. W. CUNNINGHAM.

At the A.O.H. Hall, Cork, last night, W. P. McLeod, the British amateur champion, defeated W. Cunningham, Munster champion, in a game of 600 up, in which Cunningham received 200 points. When McLeod reached the points Cunningham was 347. The winner's best breaks were 136, 56 and 37.

BRITISH BACON SUPPLIES.

HOW THE DANES RECAPTURED THE MARKET.

Britain's bacon supply is largely made up of five kinds—domestic, Irish, Danish, Canadian and American. Until recently (says the Daily Telegraph) the Irish bacon has not been figuring in the statistics as "imported."

Previous to the world war there was a fairly constant relation between the quantities imported from the various countries, Denmark, however, getting more and more to the front, and the volume from "other countries," mostly European, also increasing. This condition was entirely upset during the years of war. Due to the blockade, Denmark was cut off from its foreign supplies of foodstuffs, and consequently had to radically reduce her live stock population, with the result that for a couple of years she could not even supply her local demand for pork, and dropped entirely out of the British market.

The United States and Canada thereby got a chance to capture Danish business, and also to enjoy the increased volume of trade caused by the demand for the armies and the decline in home production in England.

The post-war period has been characterised by the recapture of the market by the Danes. During the war, when commercial pig production was practically prostrated in Denmark, her Government intervened to preserve the select breeding herds, allotting to them grain rations from the scant supplies of the human population.

Denmark, therefore, entered her old market with a product of unimpaired quality, and in 1923 had regained the leading position it held previously. The quantities sold by America and Canada have been proportionately reduced, so that the volume of business done by the competing countries is now approximately the same as before the war.

MUSICAL HIGHBROWS.

ATTITUDE WHICH FRIGHTENS THE ORDINARY PERSON.

Addressing teachers attending the holiday course at the Royal College of Music in London, Mr. Walter Yeomans, of "His Master's Voice" Gramophone Company, said that the musician was apt to talk as if he were a cross between a conjurer and the Deity. He gave the impression that he knew all about it and that nobody else did. He frightened people off.

A certain organist, said the lecturer, killed music in his town because he regarded music as a patent medicine of which he alone held the recipe. Then they wondered why choirs so often consisted of a scraggy, anæmic lot of human beings. They were the only people who would put up with the highbrows.

Technical knowledge was not required by everybody. There was no necessity for any ordinary person to know anything about such things as sequential vocabulary.

"Make music a form of relaxation," said Mr. Yeomans. "Remember that most people have to listen to it after a hard day's work."

Mr. Yeomans believed it possible to interest everyone in music.

"In my choir at the Working Men's College, Camden Town," he added, "there are four scavengers, six university men, factory girls, unemployed, clerks and labourers. They are all most enthusiastic."

EGG TRADE SLUMP.

WOLVERHAMPTON DEALER'S FAILURE.

A wholesale egg dealer's failure was investigated at Wolverhampton Bankruptcy Court, when Thomas Green, Byrne road, Wolverhampton, was publicly examined. His gross liabilities were stated to be £1,211, expected to rank at £1,194, and the deficiency £874.

Debtor, who was formerly a provision salesman, stated that he started a wholesale egg business three years ago, and a friend was guarantor to the bank for £750. The wholesale trade became bad because the country people brought their eggs in large quantities to the market at much lower prices than the wholesalers could deal at. Consequently he found himself in difficulties. In reply to the Official Receiver, debtor said that he did not immediately inform his friend, the guarantor, of his position.

The Official Receiver said that if he had done so at that particular moment the friend who was so good to him might have cut his losses.

Debtor said that he ought to have informed him, but he thought trade was going to pick up.

The examination was adjourned to close

INTERNATIONAL POSTAGE RATES

STOCKHOLM.

The Universal Postal Congress (at which the Free State is represented) has fixed the international postal rate at 25 centimes (gold) for letters weighing 20 grams; at 15 centimes for postcards, and 5 centimes for every 50 grams of printed matter. Each country shall have the right to make this rate up to a 60 per cent. increase or a 20 per cent. decrease.—(Reuter.)

TOUR THROUGH CENTRAL AUSTRALIA.

In a picturesque account of her trip by motor car through Central Australia, Lady Stradbroke says that many women and children are living in the vast region between Alice Springs and Oodnadatta thoroughly happy and enjoying the best of health. Lady Stradbroke adds that the party are delighted with their trip through the land of eternal sunshine.—(Reuter.)

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

GUINNESS VERY FIRM. MARCONIS HIGHER. PARENT TYRE DEFERRED LOWER. BURKES DULL. CITY STEAM PREFERENCE WEAKER.

There was, generally speaking, a greater market in the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday owing to the approach of the settlement on 28th inst. Guinness Ord. shares quieted down on adjustment transactions for the settlement, and closed unaltered after being a trifle higher. The Funds were well held. Government National Loan did not alter, but British Funds were higher on balance after a quiet day's business. Banks were idle and a trifle irregular. Royals closed wanted. Guinness issues closed without alteration at the earlier market, and were the only shares to quote. The market was very firm at the afternoon session, and for new account rose to 46⅞, ½ buyers. Marconi Ord. improved and were even higher from the other side. Home Railway Ord. closed steady, but Pre-Ord. issues were lower on balance. Dunlop and Parent Tyre issues show unimportant changes on the day, though Deferred gave way smartly compared with last marking here. Switzer shares were in increasing favour in a nominal market. Textiles and Tobaccos were higher on balance. Odd lots of Burke issues were sold under last price.

Government 5 p.c. National Loan repeated 93¾.

In British funds, Conversion 3½ p.c. rose 1/16 to 78½. War Loan 5 p.c. fell ⅛ to 101⅞, 15/16, but the Deed stock rose ⅛ to 101⅞. Irish Land 3 p.c. rose ⅛ to 64⅝, but Consols fell ⅛ to 57½.

In Banks, National rose ⅛ to 19⅞, and Royals ⅛ to 13⅞, but an odd lot of Provincial old shares fell ⅛ to 21½.

Dealing in Breweries was confined to Guinness issues. The Ord. opened ⅛ higher at 46½, but 1/16 later, slightly eased to 46 7/16, ⅛ on sales to secure profits. The Pref. repeated 12. John Power and Son Pref. fell 1s. to 19s. 9d.

City Steam Pref. realised 107.

Marconi Ord. rose 1s. 3d. to 36s. 6d., 36s. 3d., and Canadians repeated 6s. 7½d.

Among Home Railways Great Northern rose ⅛ to 58⅛, but the Debs. fell to 68. Great Southern was steady at 45¼, but the Pref. fell 3¼ to 53 for an odd lot, and the Debs. ¼ to 69¾. Dublin and South Eastern 4 p.c. (City of Dublin Junction) Guaranteed rose 1 to 57. Midland Great Western Ord. repeated 30⅞, and the Guaranteed Rent Charge 4 p.c. 57. South and West Clare Baronial shares were both on offer at 45s. for the £5 shares.

Dunlop Rubber Ord. realised 8s. 7½d. for a few shares. Parent Tyre Deferred fell 2s. 6d. to 40s. 6d. from last price quoted here. The Pref. at 14s. were buyers.

Alliance Gas shares rose 1/16 to 6 15/16.

In Bakery shares Johnston Pref. repeated 68s. 9d.

Among Drapery shares Switzer Ord. closed 1/16 higher at 4⅛, ½ nominally, Arnott Pref. realised again 73s. 6d.

As regards Manufacturing shares, British-American Tobacco repeated 109s., but Imperials rose 4½d. to 79s., 79s. 1½d. Calico Printers rose 6d. to 33s., and Cotton Ord. 1½d. to 56s. 9d., 56s. 6d. x.d. Bleachers at 54s. were unchanged. Goulding Ord. repeated 64s. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. rose 1½d. to 20s. 3d., and the 8 p.c. repeated 20s. Courtaulds fell 9d. to 52s. 7½d. The New Pref. repeated 18s. 3d.

In Trading, etc., H. Williams Ord. were firm and realised 57s. x.d. A broken lot of E. and J. Burke Ord. was sold at 70s., and the Debs. at 8⅝, or declines of 5s. and ⅛, respectively, on last prices. Dublin Artisans' Dwellings were steady at 5⅞, and Hibernian Fire at 4s. 9d. Irish Times Pref. fell 6d. to 66s.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Anglo-South American Bank's cabled reports from its branches contain the following from Argenetina:—"Buenos Aires, 20th August, 1924.—No rain has yet fallen, but crops remain in good condition. It is reported from some quarters that rain has fallen, considerably benefiting the crops, but that in the North the linseed crop has suffered from frost. The Agricultural Department of the Argentine Government has issued its second forecast of the 1923-24 maize crop, which is estimated at 7,030,000 tons as compared with the first estimate, made in April last, of 6,860,000 tons. In making this forecast, the Department adds that the condition of the crop is estimated at 96, the figure of 100 representing the condition of a good harvest."

The Federal Reserve Bank at San Francisco has reduced its discount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent.

In the announcement of the payment of a full year's interest on the Grand Trunk Pacific 4 p.c. Debenture Stock, it was stated that the payment was to be made to holders on the register at December 31 last. The inconvenience and confusion attendant on such a procedure was obvious, and we believe representations were made to the authorities. As a result of these representations, it has now been decided that the payment shall not be attempted on this basis, but will be made to holders on the register at a date to be announced later.

MINING REPORT.

Randfontein Estates.—Cable from the head office at Johannesburg, dated August 25, says:—"Fire occurred old north shaft, now extinguished; output for month not affected."

LONDON STOCKS IDLE.

QUOTATIONS MAINTAINED.

The Stock Markets opened the week very quietly, the commencement of the settlement tending to restrict business. Gilt-edged securities were fairly steady on the confirmation of the London pact by the French Chamber of Deputies. Guinness were freely dealt in, but no further rise was recorded at the finish, and they closed firm at 460, after touching 465. In Colonial Government Stocks, South African 4 p.c., Victoria 4 p.c. 1940-60, and West Australian 5½ p.c. 1930-40 were all a point higher. British Funds were quiet, and at the close week-end quotations were generally returned. Consols repeated 57½, while Funding Loan and Victory Bonds were both without alteration. 3½ p.c. Conversion Loan repeated 78⅞, while the 4½ p.c. were also without change. Indias were firm, but unchanged. In War Loans, the 3½ p.c. were firm at 96, while the 4 p.c. remained at 97½. The Fives, however, dropped back slightly, closing ⅛ lower at 101⅞. The Fours, on the other hand, moved up and finished ¼ higher at 102¼. Local Loans were steady at the week-end quotation.

FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES were extremely quiet, and, with two exceptions, prices were unaltered. Argentines were steady at previous prices, while Brazilians, with the exception of the 5 p.c. Funding 1914, which gained a point to 72, were also without change. French Loans were inclined to droop, but a slightly harder tendency set in later, and at the close the Fives repeated 25 x.d., while the Fours were also without change at 19. A better tone was evident in German Bonds, but at the close week-end prices were returned. Peruvian Corporations were firm at their higher level. Japanese were fairly steady, but the 6 p.c. 1924 finished ½ lower at 90½, while other issues were unchanged.

HOME RAILS were slightly lower. Great Westerns gave way and finished ½ down at 107½ x.d., while Metropolitans at 79 x.d. were also ½ lower. Districts were also lower, finishing at 52, a fall of ½ on the day. North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord. repeated 81½ x.d., while the Def.-Ord. were better, the final price being 30, or ½ higher on the day. Midlands were all unchanged, as were Undergrounds. Southerns also remained at previous quotations.

In COLONIAL and FOREIGN RAILS "Canpacs" dropped a point to 167, but Buenos Ayres Great Southern put on ½ to 88, while the Pacific were also ½ higher at 76. Grand Trunks were maintained, while Mexicans were steadier.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

AN UNEVENTFUL DAY.

The Oil Share market yesterday presented an irregular appearance, with general business still on a small scale, and the attention of professional operators centred on a few specialities. Price movements resulting from the day's transactions were of an unimportant character. Preliminaries in connection with the carry over were in progress, and showed the open position little changed from the previous occasion. Phœnix were again strong "givers," a stiff rate ruling, and as much as 9½ per cent. being charged. There was a complete reversal of the position in V.O.C. Holdings, the shares being "givers," whereas on the previous occasion they had been "takers." "Takers-in" predominated in the case of Shells. Transactions in the recognised leaders were of little importance, and had only a slight influence upon quotations. Shells were a sticky market throughout the day, the price being unchanged on balance, while Royal Dutch gave way slightly in the absence of buyers. Mexican Eagles opened easier, and remained so all day, the latest production figures causing disappointment. Burmahs and Anglo-Persians lacked support, and closed lower. With most shares on the idle side, British controlled stood out prominently, some large lines of the shares changing hands. An early advance was not fully maintained, however, the price of both the Common and Preference slipping back at the end. The easier tendency towards the close was due to the fact that the number of shares called was rather less than had been anticipated. V.O.C. Holdings were unaffected by the news of the bringing in on August 20 of another well—R 9—in the La Rosa field, with an estimated production of 450 tons per day through a ⅞-inch plug. In the Rumanian group Phœnix were bid for at an advance during the early hours, the demand being attributable to unofficial reports of the bringing in of two new wells in the Moreni field, but they failed to hold the whole of the improvement. Trinidad issues remained uninteresting, Apex finishing unchanged after having been better, and a loss being recorded in Centrals. In other directions the volume of transactions was generally too small to influence prices. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANABLE CREDITS DEARER.

EXCHANGES IRREGULAR.

In the absence of any Treasury bill maturities, supplies of floating credits were not so plentiful yesterday, and were further curtailed by the usual window-dressing operations. Consequently there was a good demand for loans, which commanded up to 3½ p.c., and even higher rates were occasionally paid. In the afternoon, however, night money was offering down to 2½ p.c., old loans going on at 3 p.c. There was not much demand for bills, and the tendency of discounts was rather harder, although there was no quotable change in rates. Fine three months' paper was 3⅝ p.c., and the new Treasuries offered at 3⅝ p.c. to "over." The banks were small buyers of September bills at 3 5/16 p.c.

Gold rose 5d. per oz. to 92s. 1d. Silver declined 1/16d. per oz. for spot to 34⅛d., but was unchanged for forward delivery at 34 3/16d.

The foreign exchange market opened quietly yesterday, and French francs appreciated to 82.80-82.90 on the favourable vote in the French Chamber, Belgian francs being also better at 89½-89¾. Sterling, however, following Saturday's fall in New York, reacted at one time to 4.48½, but rallied to 4.49⅛-4.49¼, while Dutch florins appreciated to 11.58⅞-11.59½. Italian lire were a little firmer at 101⅛-101⅜, and Swiss francs improved to 23.93-23.97. Scandinavian currencies were steady, but Spain was a little weaker at 33.72-33.76 pesetas, Austria being steady at 317,000 to 323,000 crowns. Poland further appreciated to 23.30-23.50 zloty. Argentine dollars were not so good at 41 1/16-41 3/16, and Rio weakened to 5 11/16-5 13/16 per milreis. In the Eastern market rupees were steady at 1s. 5 13/16d.-1s. 5 15/16d., and Japanese yen 1s. 10 7/32d.-1s. 10 9/32d. China rates were again higher. The following are closing quotations:—

RUBBER SHARES WEAK.

FALL IN RAW MATERIAL.

Business in the Rubber share market yesterday was on a slightly larger scale than has been the case recently. Price changes were frequent, but, with few exceptions, in the downward direction. Batu Tiga at 27s. 6d., and B.N.B.R. Trust at 8s. 1½d. x.d. were both 2s. 6d. lower, while Bukit Rajah dropped 1s. 10½d. to 16s. 7½d. Anglo-Malay lost 10½d. to 17s. 6d., while Tali Ayer were 9d. lower at 18s. 7½d. Highlands at 27s. 6d., Linggi at 26s. 6d., and Malacca at 31s. 3d. were all 6d. lower. Pataling lost 7½d. on the day to 14s. 10½d., while Rubber Trust and Sungei Buaya were both 6d. down at 26s. 0¾d. and 28s. 3d. respectively. Telegoredjo closed 4½d. lower at 34s., while Anglo-Dutch showed a fall of 3d. to 37s. 6d. x.d. Grand Central at 18s., and Kamuning at 2s. were both 1½d. down. On the other hand, Cicely at 4s. 4½d., and Labu at 23s. 9d. were both 6d. higher, while Kasintoe showed a rise of 4½d. to 16s. 10½d. United Temiang closed 3d. higher at 2s. 1½d. Kepitagalla and Rim Malacca both 1½d. up at 1s. and 2s. 4½d. respectively. The price of rubber fell to 13¼d. per lb. Closing prices:—

INDUSTRIALS UNCHANGED.

BUSINESS RESTRICTED.

Business in the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets was very restricted yesterday, dealers being mainly occupied with the arrangements for to-day's carry-over; consequently movements were mostly of an extent revealing no decided tendency. Following the declaration of the interim dividend, William Whiteleys rose to 71s., at which they finished 1s. higher on the day. Except for Courtaulds and the Prefs., which eased to 52s. 9d. and 18s. 4½d. respectively, Textiles maintained a firm appearance. Amalgamated Cottons improved to 8s. 9d., Slubbers to 8s. 6d., and Bradford Dyers to 70s. 6d. Wardle and Davenports were wanted and rose to 3. In Caterers, A. B. C.'s shed 3d. to 27s., and in the Refreshment group Apollinaris receded to 9s. 7½d. Foodstuffs kept up, Maypoles hardening to 5s. 4½d., while J. Travers moved up to 2¼. Among Breweries, Meux's Prefs. were wanted, putting on ⅛ to 6, while St. Louis Pref. rose ⅛ to the same level, and Bass-Ratcliff Pref. 2 to 88½. Distilleries, however, weakened to 2¼. W. H. Chaplins were a firm market at 21s., rather buyers, following the issue of the report.

Renewed support for Amalgamated Anthracites raised the price to 20s., or 6d. up on balance. Other Colliery Shares showed no changes, and Gas Stocks were featureless. In the Iron and Steel group, Mond Nickels continued in demand and closed 6d. up at 38s. 3d., while Tata Debs. rose 1 to 80. On the other hand, Platt Bros. fell 6d. to 33s. 6d., similar declines occurring in Babcocks to 48s., in Baldwins to 12s. 9d., and in Palmers Shipbuilding to 5s. 6d., while several others were a few pence easier. In the Shipping department, P. and O. Def. came on offer and lost 3 at 302, though Elder-Dempster 6 p.c. Prefs. hardened to 19s. 6d. Movements among Insurances indicated irregularity. Prudential "B" recovered part of their set-back at 34s., or 1s. better, while General Accidents put on ⅛ to 11¼, and London and Lancs. ¼ to 19¼. Apart from falls of 1/16 in Anglo-South Americans to 7 3/16, and in National of South Africas to 6 9/16. Bank shares remained steady at previous levels. Firmness characterised the Marconi group. The Ord. came into request, and gained 1/16 at 1 11/16, while the Prefs. also rose that much to 1 11/16. Little of interest transpired in the Electrical section. Among Motors Austin Debs. recovered to 72. Napiers came into request, and finished 9d. better at 22s. 6d. Vauxhalls strengthened to 5s. 9d., and Singers responded to the announcement of the dividend and bonus by rising to 38s. Dennis Bros., however, relapsed to 34s. 6d.

The demand for Carreras continued, with the result that they finished ⅛ higher at 8⅞. Elsewhere among Tobaccos R. and J. Hills hardened to 28s. 1½d., though Imperials lost the turn at 78s. 10½d. In the Miscellaneous Trading section Dunlops stiffened to 8s. 9d., and the "A" Prefs. to 21s. 9d., while Parent Tyre Def. recovered to 2 1/16, or 1/16 up. African and Easterns shed 3d. to 32s., as did also Oil Cakes to 20s., Brunner Monds to 38s., Nobels to 23s., and the Prefs. to 21s. 3d. News shares developed a harder tendency. Associated Def. put on 1/16 to 5 9/16, while Amalgamated Press rose 6d. to 44s. 6d. Apart from Home and Colonials, which came into request and rose to 11s. prem., recent issues scarcely moved.

LONDON MINING MARKET QUIET.

PRICES REMAIN FIRM.

With the beginning of the settlement the House yesterday had a listless appearance, and when the week-end orders had been transacted business became very quiet. The carry-over in Mining shares passed off without any outstanding event, the rate charged for accommodation being 5½ to 6½ p.c., the same as the last account. West Springs were an exception, being done at evens to 5½ p.c. Although there was very little doing in the Mining market, the tone was very firm, and changes at the close were few. In Kaffirs the Cape was doing very little, but Paris was inclined to nibble at certain of the leaders. Central Mining and Rand Mines were unchanged, but Union Corporation contiued in request and again hardened. Brakpans, Government Areas and West Springs were higher among the Far Eastern issues. City Deep were also fractionally better, while Robinson Deep "B," East Rand Props. and Sub-Nigel also sought higher levels. On the other hand, Witwatersrand Deep and Randfonteins were easier, the latter on the official report of a fire in the old north shaft. The output for the month, however, is unaffected. The Rhodesian department again showed more activity. Demand for Tanganyika was again in evidence, and the price hardened, while Zambesia Exploring went ahead also. Gaikas came in buyers, and a good advance was scored, while Selukwe were bid for and improved on a development cable from the B.C. Silver Property. Chartered, however, weakened the turn. In Diamond descriptions Paris was a seller of De Beers, both the Ord. and Pref. shares receding. The Cape, however, was in demand of Consolidated Diamonds, and a small recovery was recorded. The price of tin fell £3 5s. to £254 7s. 6d. per ton, without having much effect on the share market, where prices were harder on balance. Closing prices:—

THE PENNANT SHIPPING COMPANY.

A Cardiff telegram says:—The shareholders in the Pennant Shipping Company, Ltd., have received notice of an extraordinary general meeting to be held on Monday next for the purpose of considering, and, if thought fit, of passing a resolution to the effect that the company cannot, by reason of its liabilities, continue its business, and that it is advisable to wind up the same. As the result of the sale by order of the mortgagees of the steamship Glassford, owned by the company, there was a capital loss of over £114,000.

BORDER FARM FIRE.

Damage to the extent of £1,000, which is not covered by insurance, was caused by a fire at the farmhouse of Mr. Harrison Boyd, Brackley, near Keady, Co. Armagh, last Saturday night. The property lies partly in Northern Ireland and partly in the Free State. Virtually nothing could be done to save the building and contents, as the house is situated in an isolated district and a mile from a road. The outbreak was discovered in an upper room and is believed to be of accidental origin.
